Navitas to open sixth US pathway program – signs agreement with Florida Atlantic University

Global education services provider Navitas Limited (ASX: NVT) has today announced the execution of a ten year agreement with Florida Atlantic University (FAU), to establish a University Programs pathway program for international students on the University's Boca Raton campus.

The pathway program, to be called Navitas at Florida Atlantic University, is scheduled to open in January 2015 and will offer undergraduate pathway and pre masters programs across a range of disciplines including accounting, arts and humanities, engineering, marketing and international business and trade. Students who successfully complete the Navitas pathway will be eligible to continue their studies in undergraduate and postgraduate courses at FAU.

FAU was opened by President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964 and is part of Florida's State University System. FAU is a comprehensive public university that currently serves approximately 30,000 students at sites throughout its six-county service region in southeast Florida.

The University has a strong reputation as a teaching university and growing strengths in science related research fields, especially biomedicine, biotechnology, ocean engineering and coastline security. The university currently has approximately 600 international students.

"Florida Atlantic University is a vibrant and dynamic institution that is committed to pursuing excellence in scholarship and teaching across its multiple sites," said Rod Jones, Group CEO of Navitas.

"We are very pleased to be partnering with FAU to offer such an opportunity to international students, especially in the very welcoming state of Florida."

"Through this partnership and by increasing our geographic diversity, Florida Atlantic University will build on its status as the most diverse public university in the state of Florida," said Gary Perry, FAU provost and vice president for academic affairs. "We look forward to continuing to promote an exchange of ideas between cultures with the support of Navitas' robust international student recruiting operations."

About Florida Atlantic University

Florida Atlantic University, established in 1961, officially opened its doors in 1964 as the fifth public university in Florida. Today, the University, with an annual economic impact of $6.3 billion, serves more than 30,000 undergraduate and graduate students at sites throughout its six-county service region in southeast Florida. FAU's world-class teaching and research faculty serves students through 10 colleges: the Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts and Letters, the College of Business, the College for Design and Social Inquiry, the College of Education, the College of Engineering and Computer Science, the Graduate College, the Harriet L. Wilkes Honors College, the Charles E. Schmidt College of Medicine, the Christine E. Lynn College of Nursing and the Charles E. Schmidt College of Science. FAU is ranked as a High Research Activity institution by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. The University is placing special focus on the rapid development of three signature themes – marine and coastal issues, biotechnology and contemporary societal challenges – which provide opportunities for faculty and students to build upon FAU's existing strengths in research and scholarship.
