Medication adherence: Understanding the global problem

One of the easiest ways to improve the health of people is to improve medication adherence

Adherence is taking medication as you have been prescribed and in most global markets, patients are non-adherent to some degree

Average adherence tracks in the 50-60%⁶ range for key chronic medications, meaning patients are not getting the health benefits their prescribers are intending

Today medication non-adherence costs health systems USD $630B⁵ every year

Medication adherence represents opportunities for pharmaceutical companies to enhance return on investment (ROI) from R&D in new drug development

Adheris: Data analytics capability powers programs

Proven ROI and campaign effectiveness

Average program ROI (2016 – 2019) of 7.1x (inPharmacy and inHome) and 22.5x (inOffice)¹

ROIs significantly higher than that of a typical marketing campaign which usually consist of general consumer advertising and television commercial

ROI underpins stickiness of pharmacy relationships (average duration of ~15 years)

Patient and prescriber data

Large granular data asset covering 5 broad areas (patient, prescription, disease, prescriber and payer)

Enables targeted and timely interventions based on statistically significant insights.

Creating the right message, delivered to the right patient at the right time, using multiple channels

Data product opportunity

Competitively priced and bespoke standalone data products leverage a subset of the Adheris network (~30%) to provide actionable insights for pharmaceutical companies and pharmacies ²

Revenues in this segment were previously >USD $3.0M, currently USD $0.5M believed by MedAdvisor to be a result of de-prioritisation by legacy management. This presents an opportunity to create more value for the combined group and uplift MedAdvisor's global data capability

Data and analytics team

Acquisition of well-credentialed team affords MedAdvisor the opportunity to leverage this capability post-acquisition.

1. Over the period of 2016 – 2019. Patients prospectively randomized into program and control groups (receive no program communication), similar to FDA clinical trial design. n = 200 programs.
2. Data analysis performed on sample of pharmacy chain partners in the Adheris Health network

MedAdvisor acquisition rationale for Adheris Health

US pharmaceutical market: Two stakeholders - pharmaceutical companies and insurers

Value of branded medication spend

- Significant budget is allocated by pharmaceutical companies to invest in sales and marketing. The cost of non-adherence is most important to them - this is Adheris' core market.

Volume of generic 'low cost' medication

- Generic pharmaceutical companies typically don't invest in adherence. Many of the most common chronic medicines are generic.
- Health insurers and payers are most incentivised to ensure patients remain adherent. STAR Ratings help drive this.

Highlights

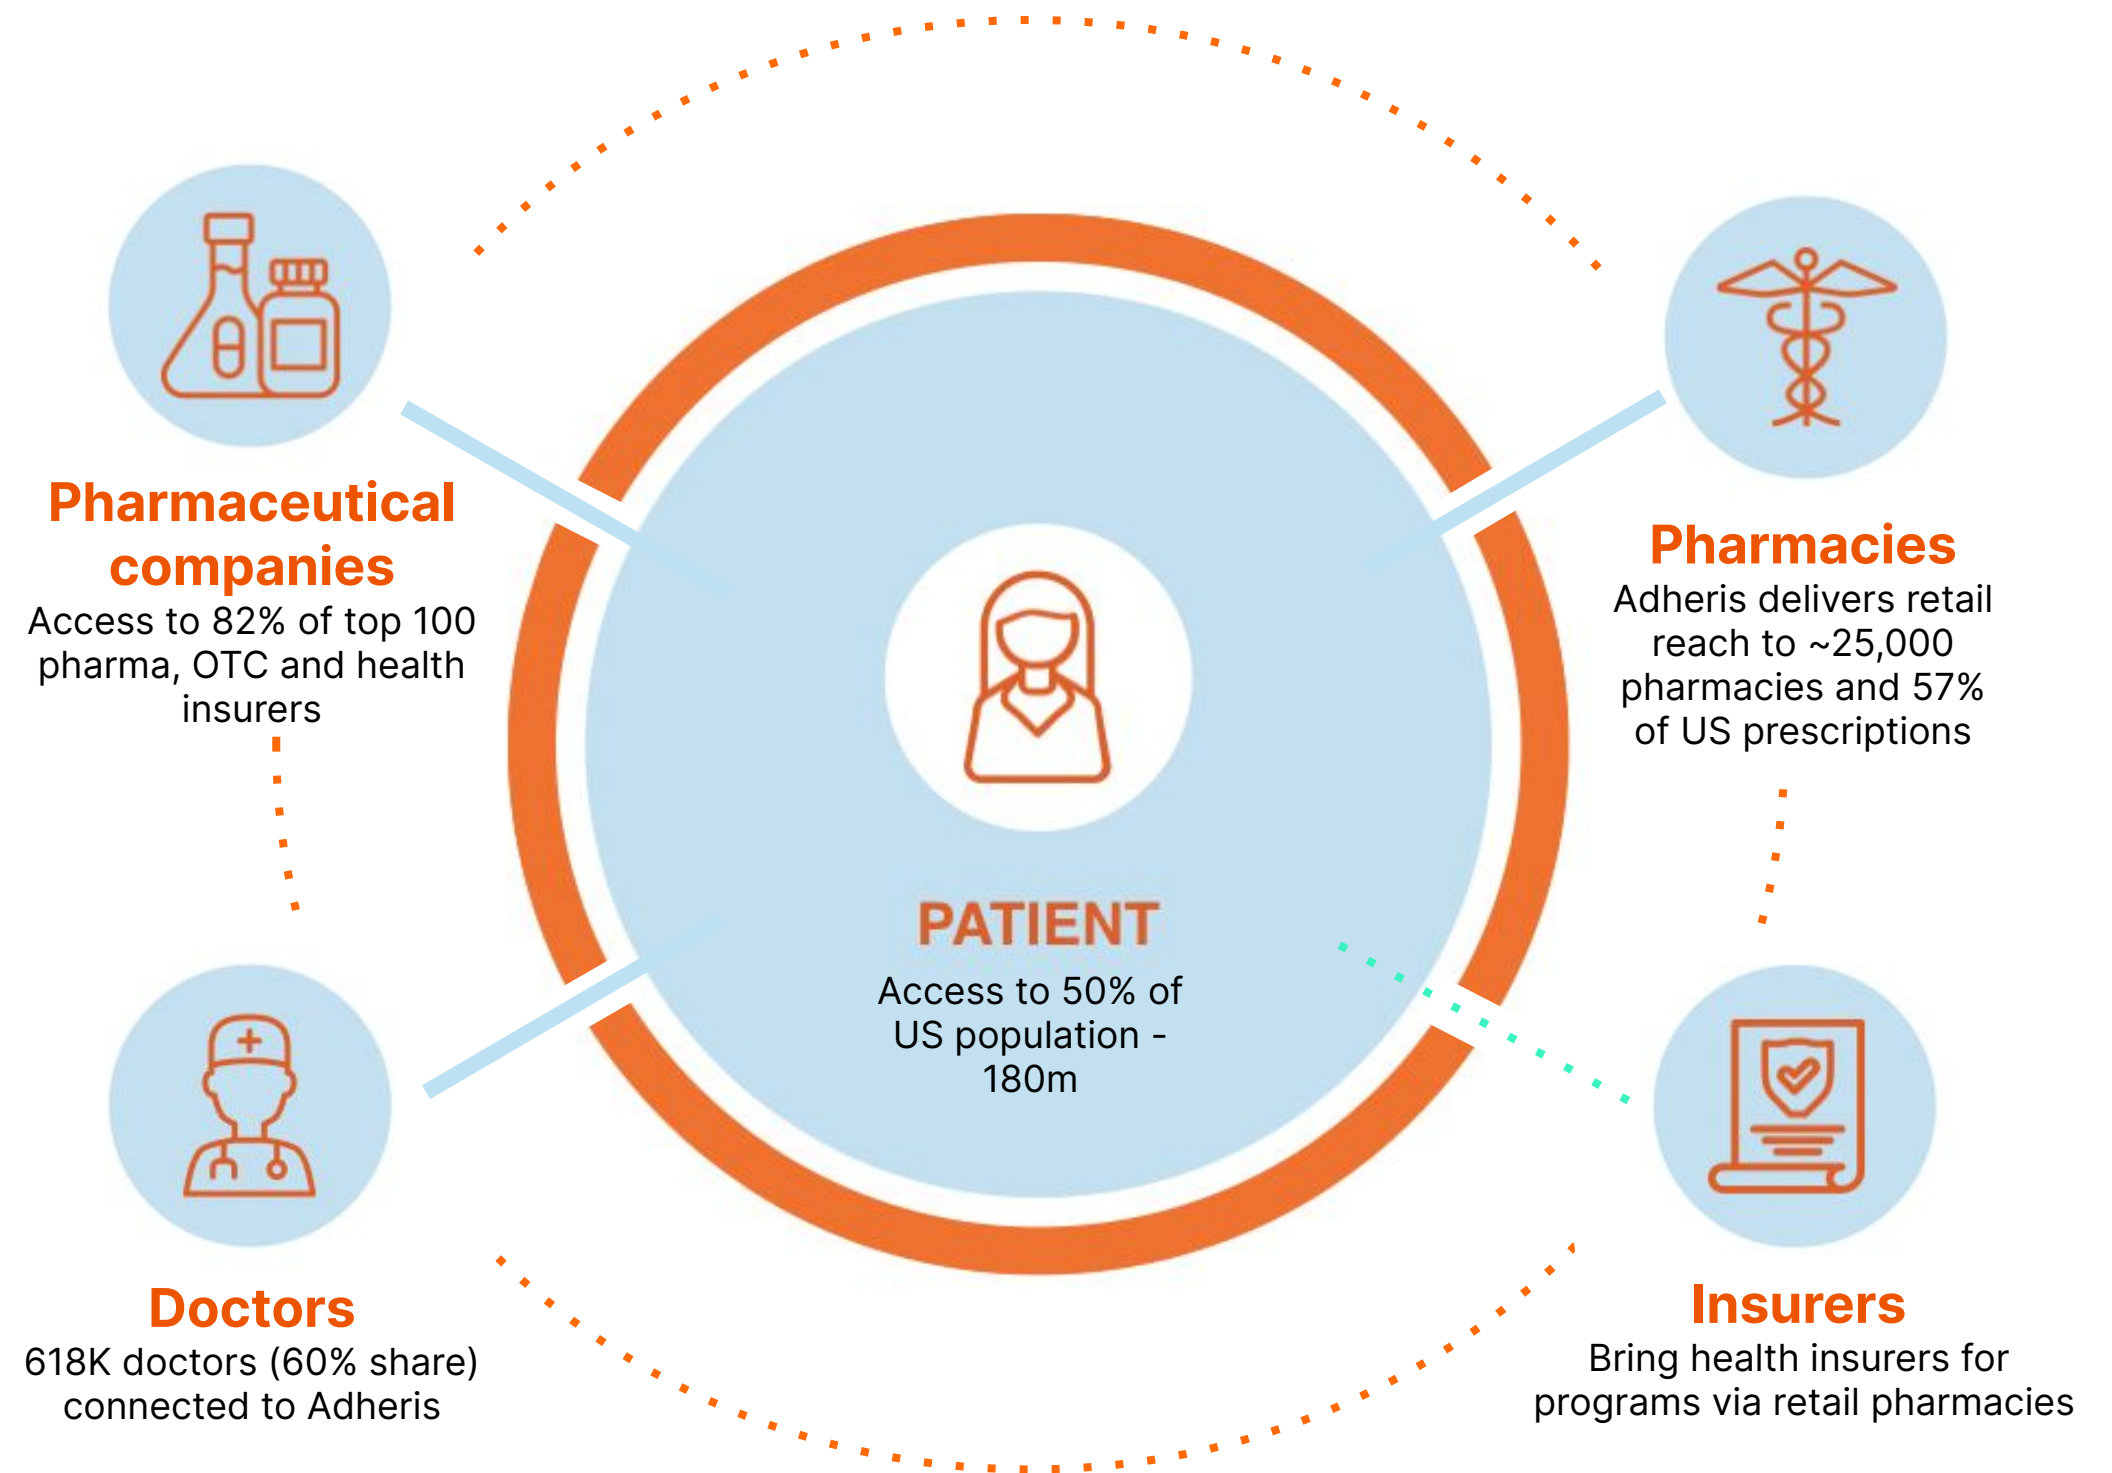

Reach of ~1:2 Americans attracts sponsors wanting to reach the patient network. Adheris primarily works with pharmaceutical companies

Sponsors of programs help grow revenue for retail pharmacy, thereby strengthening network

Increasing reach via digital and partnerships will attract new sponsors

MedAdvisor to bring SaaS offering and accelerate adoption via Adheris pharmacy network

MedAdvisor: Digital solutions and increased distribution enhances network effect

Growth initiatives

Adheris has significant latent potential, which has not been realised to date

MedAdvisor brings digital capability that we believe is the missing piece in the Adheris product suite, along with the HMS partnership to unlock payer-sponsored programs

Approximately 33% of the Adheris pharmacy network use only one tactic, either inHome or inPharmacy, creating a cross sell opportunity.

Acquisition rationale: Unlocking latent potential

	Current state	Future state
 People	Changes in leadership Headcount freeze Under-investment in BD	Combined strong global leadership Incremental and targeted headcount investments in marketing and sales
 Digital transformation	Leveraging data-driven programs via pharmacy POS print and direct mail	Introduction of digital channels to augment omni-channel strategy " Dynamic Engagement ". Opportunity to sell MDR SaaS to Adheris network
 Customer mix	Mostly pharmaceutical retail brands Limited BD to attract OTC brands	Health insurer sponsored programs, including targeting STAR ratings Attract more OTC brands Increased exposure to specialty brands
 Network reach	~57% US Retail Rx 60% of all active US prescribers	Access to specialty patients and additional retailers
 Financial profile	USD$26.4M ² revenue FY20E (Adheris only) Monetise based on patient messaging model	Target USD $50M+ revenue (MDR US + Adheris) ¹ Margin expansion via dynamic engagement model

1. Estimated target timing is three-to-four years
 2. Revenue 2020E represents MedAdvisor estimates of 12 months ended 31 December 2020

Acquisition rationale: Existing partnership lays foundations, execution already underway

MedAdvisor Before transaction	US health programs product build	18 months	HIPAA and ISO 27001 compliant global health programs product	Complete
	Technical integration	6-9 months	Digital, secure messaging via opt-in pharmacy chains	Complete

Adheris financial performance

FY18 saw revenue of USD $49.5m and ~USD $5m EBITDA - MDR has set targets to reinvigorate the US business back to these levels within 3-4 years.

FY20 1H saw performance stabilise as the business recovered from the loss of revenue due in a large part to patent expiry of medications and clients shifting investment to digital options. Expected patent expiry for existing FY20 programs is -2% CY21 and -3% CY22.

FY20 1H saw an impact of program delay due to COVID-19 which has subsequently resumed.

2H20 has seen the business recover lost ground, with 2H20E expected to deliver growth of ~33% on 2H19.

Key risks

Key Risks

This is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which MedAdvisor is exposed.

Acquisition and offer risks

Completion risk

MedAdvisor or Syneos Health may terminate the Acquisition if the institutional placement and institutional entitlement offer fail to raise at least AUD $35.0M. If such termination rights are exercised, completion of the Acquisition will not occur and Syneos Health will be entitled to retain the deposit of USD $1.375M (AUD $2.0M). If the Acquisition does not complete, MedAdvisor will need to consider alternative uses for the proceeds from the Offer, including applying them towards working capital, reviewing alternative investment opportunities and/or considering ways to return the proceeds from the Offer to shareholders. Any failure to consummate the Acquisition could materially and adversely affect MedAdvisor and the price of its shares.

Adheris performance, execution and integration risks

There is an inherent risk that the underlying assets of Adheris do not ultimately produce the financial returns anticipated due to:

- the potential disruption and diversion of management's attention from day-to-day operations;
- the inability to effectively integrate the operations, products, systems and technologies;
- the inability to effectively execute on strategies for the combined group;
- the inability to maintain uniform standards, controls, procedures and policies;
- the loss of key personnel; and
- the potential impairment of relationships with customers and suppliers, resulting in loss of contracts.

In addition, there is a risk that Adheris may suffer loss or damage flowing from unforeseen events in relation to the underlying assets and liabilities of Adheris, which may not be able to be recovered from the vendor or insurance.

Network risk

There is risk of the loss of key customers and clients of Adheris, whether due to increased competition, customer or client choice or potential impairment of relationships with customers and clients arising from the acquisition.

HIPAA compliance and regulatory risk

Adheris is required to comply with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) in the United States where it retains, handles or shares protected health information of individuals.

Adheris is required to maintain:

- physical, technical and administrative safeguards;
- auditing and tracking of certain activity involving Protective Health Information (PHI);
- policies covering the integrity of the controls and measures in place;
- disaster recovery plans; and
- network security, to protect against unauthorised public access to the data.

A breach of the security of data held or transmitted by Adheris could result in significant financial penalties, as well as the loss of contracts and reputational damage impacting the ability to secure new contracts. A breach of other US federal and state legislation with respect to privacy, data security and other matters could also result in such consequences.

Risk of dilution

If you do not take up all of your entitlement under the Entitlement Offer, your percentage security holding in MedAdvisor will be diluted (in addition to any dilution as a result of the Placement).

Key Risks

This is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which MedAdvisor is exposed.

MedAdvisor risks

Loss making and future capital requirements

MedAdvisor reported a loss (before income tax) from continuing operations of $9.8m for the FY20 financial year. Adheris reported an operating loss of USD $2.4m for CY2019. The ability to return the MedAdvisor group to profitability can be affected by all the risk factors stated in this document. MedAdvisor's continued ability to effectively implement its business plan over time may depend in part on its ability to raise additional funds for future growth opportunities.

MedAdvisor may require further financing to fund the earn out components of the Adheris purchase price, if these earn out payments exceed the cash available at such time. MedAdvisor may also require further financing in the future to progress its other projects and existing operations of the group. Any additional equity financing will likely be dilutive to shareholders, may be undertaken at lower prices than the current market price or may involve restrictive covenants which limit MedAdvisor's operations and business strategy.

Although the Directors believe that additional capital can be obtained if it becomes required, no assurances can be made that appropriate capital or funding, if and when needed, will be available on terms favourable to MedAdvisor or at all. If MedAdvisor is unable to obtain additional financing as needed, it may be required to reduce the scope of its operations and this could have a material adverse effect on MedAdvisor's activities and could affect MedAdvisor's ability to continue as a going concern.

MedAdvisor may undertake additional offerings of shares and of securities convertible into shares in the future. The increase in the number of shares issued and outstanding and the possibility of sales of such shares may have a depressive effect on the price of shares. In addition, as a result of such additional shares, the voting power of MedAdvisor's existing shareholders will be diluted.

Access to patient prescription data

The successful continuation of the MedAdvisor platform will depend on continued access to patient prescription data. Access to the data is dependent on permissions given by both the pharmacy and the patient. At present there are no legal impediments to accessing the data as long as MedAdvisor has the necessary consents from both the pharmacy and the patient and MedAdvisor continues to comply with requirements of privacy, data security and other laws in the jurisdictions in which it operates.

There is a risk that either a pharmacy or a patient withdraws consent to access the prescription data. In the case of a pharmacy withdrawing consent this would be in the form of the pharmacy discontinuing their subscription of MedAdvisor, in which case their patients would have the opportunity to switch their favourite pharmacy to a pharmacy that continues to support MedAdvisor.

There is also a risk that the governments in the jurisdictions in which MedAdvisor operates may legislate to prohibit the access of prescription data by commercial organisations such as MedAdvisor.

Loss or theft of data and failure of data security systems

Our products involve the storage of our customers' confidential and proprietary information including health information. Our business could be materially impacted by security breaches of our customers' data by unauthorised access, theft, destruction, loss or misappropriation.

There is a risk that any measures taken may not be sufficient to prevent or detect unauthorised access to, or disclosure of, such confidential or proprietary information. Any of these events may cause significant disruption to our business and operations and trigger mandatory data breach notification obligations under applicable privacy and data protection laws. This may also expose us to reputational damage, customer claims, regulatory scrutiny and fines, any of which could materially impact our operating and financial performance.

Key Risks

This is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which MedAdvisor is exposed.

Disruption or failure of technology and software systems

MedAdvisor and our customers are dependent on the performance, reliability and availability of our platform, data centres and communications systems (including servers, the internet, hosting services and the cloud environment in which we provide our solutions). There is a risk that these systems may be adversely affected by disruption, failure, service outages, improper configuration, maintenance error, data corruption (as a result of computer viruses, “bugs” or “worms”, malware, internal or external misuse by websites, cyber-attacks) or other disruptions including natural disasters and power outages.

In part, some of these disruptions may be caused by events outside of our control and may lead to prolonged disruption to the MedAdvisor platform, or operational or business delays and damage to our reputation. This could potentially lead to a loss of customers, legal claims by customers, and an inability to attract new customers, any of which could adversely impact our operating and financial performance.

Reliance on third party service providers

The MedAdvisor platform is a cloud-based, SaaS platform, and we rely on a number of third-party technology service providers to facilitate the use of our platform and deliver services to our customers. In particular:

- the core application is hosted in data centres that are owned and operated by third parties;
- we use third party service providers to manage system documentation and software layers; and
- we engage third parties to provide security monitoring and auditing of our IT infrastructure and network.

Our reliance on third parties means that some important aspects of our service delivery model are outside of our direct control. There is a risk that our service delivery capability and operational performance may be impacted by issues that originate from our third-party service providers, such as application errors, improper configuration, failure of communications service, improper configuration and traffic overloading.

There is also a risk that our critical technology supply arrangements may be disrupted by commercial factors that are outside of our control, such as a technology supplier's decision to unilaterally modify or discontinue a particular service that we use. Some of our contracts with critical technology suppliers also allow the supplier to terminate on short notice, which may not allow sufficient time for us to procure a replacement provider in a timely manner and at an equivalent cost.

Any failure of, or disruption to, the technology services provided by these third-party service providers could negatively impact our operating and financial performance. It could also expose us to claims for loss and damage from our customers that may exceed the amounts that we are entitled to recover from the third-party service providers.

Loss of key personnel or skilled workers

MedAdvisor's ability to remain productive, profitable and competitive and to implement planned growth initiatives depends on the continued employment and performance of senior executives and other key members of management. MedAdvisor's performance also depends on its ability to attract and retain skilled workers with the relevant industry and technical experience.

If any one of these individuals resigns or becomes unable to continue in his or her present role and is not adequately replaced in a timely manner, business operations and the ability to implement MedAdvisor's strategies could be materially disrupted. The loss of a number of key personnel or the inability to attract additional personnel may have an adverse impact on MedAdvisor's financial and operating performance.

There can be no assurance that MedAdvisor will be able to attract and retain skilled and experienced employees and, should it lose any of its key management personnel or fail to attract qualified personnel, its business may be harmed and its operational and financial performance could be adversely affected.

Competition risk

Increased competition in the areas in which MedAdvisor operates could result in price reductions, under-utilisation of personnel, assets or infrastructure, reduced operating margins and/or loss of market share, which may have a material adverse effect on MedAdvisor's future financial performance and position.

Key Risks

This is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which MedAdvisor is exposed.

Attracting customers to the platform

MedAdvisor's revenue is affected by its ability to attract customers to the MedAdvisor platform. Various factors can affect the level of customers using the MedAdvisor platform, including:

- Marketing and promotions: if MedAdvisor's marketing and promotion efforts are not effective this may result in fewer customers using the MedAdvisor platform.
- Brand damage: if MedAdvisor suffers from reputational damage, customer numbers could be affected.
- Pharmacies and GP: MedAdvisor's continued ability to attract pharmacies and GPs to the platform.

Customer service

MedAdvisor's ability to maintain relationships with major customers is integral to its financial performance. This in turn depends on its ability to offer competitive service standards and pricing. Poor performance in either area may lead to a loss of major customers which may have a material impact on MedAdvisor's financial performance.

Intellectual property

There can be no assurances that the validity, ownership or authorised use of intellectual property (including technology, know-how, trademarks, designs and patents (both owned and licensed) relevant to MedAdvisor's business (including those relating to Adheris) will not be challenged, which could adversely affect MedAdvisor's financial and operating performance.

Key Risks

This is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which MedAdvisor is exposed.

General risks

General market and share price risks

General economic factors such as interest rates, exchange rates, inflation, business and consumer confidence and general market factors may have an adverse impact on MedAdvisor's performance, prospects or the value of its assets. The market price of MedAdvisor shares will fluctuate due to various factors, many of which are non-specific to MedAdvisor, including recommendations by brokers and analysts, Australian and international general economic conditions, inflation rates, interest rates, exchange rates, changes in government, fiscal and monetary and regulatory policies, changes to laws, global investment markets, global geo-political events and hostilities, investor perceptions and other factors that may affect MedAdvisor's financial performance and position. In the future, these factors may cause MedAdvisor shares to trade at or below their current price.

COVID-19

The coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic may make it more difficult to execute the integration of Adheris into the MedAdvisor group. The impact of the pandemic is ongoing and it is not practicable to estimate the potential impact, positive or negative, this may have on the performance of MedAdvisor or Adheris. The situation is rapidly developing and is dependent on measures imposed by the Australian and US Governments and other countries, such as maintaining social distancing requirements, quarantine, travel restrictions and economic stimulus that may be provided.

Force majeure

MedAdvisor's projects now or in the future may be adversely affected by risks outside the control of MedAdvisor, including labour unrest, civil disorder, war, subversive activities or sabotage, fires, floods, pandemics, explosions or other catastrophes, epidemics or quarantine restrictions.

Liquidity risk

The market for MedAdvisor's shares may be illiquid. As a consequence, investors may be unable to readily exit or realise their investment.

Economic risk

Changes in Australian, US and world economic conditions may adversely affect the financial performance of MedAdvisor. Factors such as inflation, currency fluctuations, interest rates, industrial disruption and economic growth may impact on future operations and earnings.

Offer jurisdictions

New Shares will be offered and sold in the U.S., if at all, only to Accredited Investors, as that term is defined in Rule 501 of Regulation D promulgated under the Securities Act.

STAR ratings: The star ratings are part of a push to increase the quality of care provided by private plans that contract with Medicare in the US. The ratings are based on 36 measures, ranging from rates of hospital readmissions to the volume of consumer complaints a plan gets. Medication adherence is integral to an organisation's Medicare Advantage Star Rating. Analysis conducted illustrates that 50% of the weighting for the aggregate rating is tied to a health plan's support of consumers in taking their prescription medications. Medication adherence has become critical to a health plan's ability to improve health outcomes as well as lower total costs. Medication adherence has more influence on a plans performance than preventative screenings, member appeals and other aspects of quality measured in the Star ratings.
