Flinders heritage clearance update

Taruga Minerals Limited (ASX: TAR, Taruga or the Company) provides the following update on the exploration activities and forward work program at the Flinders IOCG project in South Australia.

In late December 2020, representatives of a local Aboriginal group participated in a 2-day field visit and survey with representatives from Strikeline Resources Pty Ltd (Strikeline) to observe the completed drilling locations and the proposed drilling sites, none of which fall within Native Title land or Native Title claim. Following this site visit, Strikeline received a follow up heritage report which is inconsistent with the observations made by Strikeline's independently engaged archaeologist.

Strikeline, as owner of the Flinders project, has written to the group noting the inconsistencies and is currently assessing and considering the pathway forward to recommence drilling at Flinders as a priority.

This announcement was approved by the Board of Taruga Minerals Limited.
