FOCUS ON RENTAL INCOME AND WATER MANAGEMENT SOLUTIONS

Rental assets continue to deliver higher margins for BPP with consistent high levels of rental asset utilisation by major resource sector clients – strategic equipment purchases will expand specialist fleet

EXPANDING THE RENTAL BUSINESS

- ▶ Specialist nature of rental assets presents opportunity to capitalise on favourable industry dynamics through greater internal resourcing and selective strategic acquisitions.
- ▶ Specific growth initiatives include:
 - expand specialist rental fleet of water management and power generation assets servicing resource sectors
 - increase capabilities in groundwater management
 - expand environmental and industrial services business (via wholly-owned subsidiary Ausblast)
 - repurpose lower-value asset maintenance capacity towards rental operations

EXPANDING INTO ADJACENT SECTORS

- ▶ Rental expansion will assist Babylon expand future industry focus by moving up the value chain with potential to introduce:
 - environmentally sustainable solutions to support client ESG and NZE targets
 - explore water services adjacencies in natural resources sector (e.g. hydrogen production requires H₂O)

SPECIALTY RENTAL FLEET AND WATER MANAGEMENT DRIVERS

- ▶ Virtually all mines experience water issues – too little or too much
 - ▶ Estimated that > 70% of mines in Australia have water ingress issues (rain or subterranean)
 - ▶ Water management/dewatering is “Mission Critical” for mines and must be dealt with
 - ▶ Requirement is further driven by increasingly stringent environmental regulations and ESG considerations
 - increasing obligation on miners to contain and manage water (ground & rain)
 - restrictions on ability to discharge water off site (restrictions on timing and amount) – therefore water must be captured and managed on site
- ▶ Other key factors:
 - Australia hosts some of the world’s oldest and deepest mines. As mines deepen, issues typically become more complex (eg more water, changing flow rates, increased discharge pressure requirements, changing water qualities)
 - this requires larger and more sophisticated systems and considerable expertise in selection, design and set up
 - while new and expanding mines form the target market re-established mines are also a key customer
 - if dewatering has not occurred during care & maintenance significant work is required to remove water and restart mining
