Mozambique: Management Update

As reported recently in African and International press, Mozambique has seen a tangible increase in business activities aligned with the imminent restart of the giant Rovuma LNG project in northern Mozambique. The Company's Futuro Skills and Projectos Dinamicos operating entities have reported a significant increase in both logistics and large construction tender requests amongst contractors and clients.

Mozambique based COO, Patrick Danaux has left Futuro Skills and RBR has moved to both streamline and strengthen its management structure in Mozambique with the appointment of RBR director, Athol Emerton, to the executive management of the African businesses to oversee management transition to the new team.

Futuro Skills has also relocated its Maputo Head Office into the large, centrally located, Torres Rani office and hotel complex where many of the LNG and other capital project companies are located. The move provides Futuro Group with greater visible presence and profile with the decision makers in the project and development fields.
