The granting of this application makes it clear that the exploration work programme for the First Renewal Period has been met.

Under the MPRDA an application for the renewal of an exploration right must be granted if (a) it has been made in the manner prescribed the MPRDA; (b) the holder of the exploration right has complied with the terms and conditions of the exploration right and is not in contravention of any relevant provision of the MPRDA or any other law; and (c) the holder of the exploration right has complied with the applicable exploration work programme and conditions and has complied with the applicable environmental authorisation.

Independent Technical Assessment Report

The following matters (none of which the Directors believe are materially adverse from the point of view of investors) are noted in relation to the Independent Technical Assessment Report of Sproule Incorporated in Section 10 of the Prospectus (ITAR):

- (a) Appendix A – Petroleum Resource Management System of the ITAR contains a table (on page 35) that incorrectly identifies that “Petroleum Initially-in-Place” and “Reserves” were included in the ITAR. The ITAR does not include “Petroleum Initially-in-Place” and “Reserves” as is clear from the Report.
- (b) Sproule Incorporated has confirmed that all Resource estimates in the ITAR are reported net of contractual royalties. In this regard, page 13 of ITAR identifies the 5% Government Tax as described in the Mineral and Petroleum Resource Development Act of 2002 and each of the following tables in the ITAR clearly refer to “Net” Methane and Helium Contingent Resources: Table 1 on page 4, Table 2 of page 5, Table 6 on page 27 and Table 7 on page 27.
- (c) The cautionary statements under Table 2 on page 5 of the ITAR and Table 7 on page 27 of the ITAR refers to potentially recoverable helium but does not include specific references to potentially recoverable gas or methane. Whilst the Directors believe that the applicable caution in relation to potentially recoverable gas or methane is sufficiently covered by a combination of the exiting cautionary statements and the “Statement of Risk” on page 5 of the ITAR, it is noted that the cautionary statements under Table 2 on page 5 of the ITAR and Table 7 on page 27 of the ITAR should be read as including references to potentially recoverable gas or methane.
- (d) It is noted that Sproule Incorporated has confirmed that in their opinion the Company's proposed work programme as set out in the ITAR will serve the dual purpose of defining the structural uncertainties of the Company's Motuoane prospect which will help to mitigate the contingencies and of assisting the Company to endeavour to move Prospective Resources into the Discovered category so as to then be classified possibly as Contingent Resources or possibly as Reserves.
