ASX RELEASE

Board and Management Changes, AGM resolutions to be withdrawn

5 November 2024 Brisbane, Australia: The Calmer Co. International Limited (ASX:CCO), a health and wellness company whose mission is to be the most dominant kava company in the world, informs shareholders that it has made changes to the board and management and withdrawn a number of resolutions from the upcoming AGM to be held on 29th November 2024.

Highlights

- Mr John Homewood, the largest individual shareholder in the Calmer Co, will join the Board as Non-Executive Chairman from 6 November, replacing James Dack who has resigned.
- The company will withdraw resolution 2, resolutions 8-13 and resolution 17, regarding Mr Dack's re-election, shortfall uptake and various remuneration matters from the upcoming AGM.
- Managing Director, Anthony Noble will transition into a non-executive Director role from 1st March 2025, following the release of half-year financial results and company founder, Zane Yoshida will take over as CEO from that date, in line with a new more sales-focussed company re-structure.

Managing Director, Anthony Noble said, "These changes reflect a stronger focus from the company on ensuring we deliver value for all shareholders. We continue to evolve our Board and management team to ensure the best fit of skillset to execute our strategy. We will be seeking to focus more on the USA market from Q4FY24 and expand our retail footprint in Australia, we will move to a structure with an Australian country manager and a USA country manager, both reporting to the CEO. This will allow the company to focus on driving sales in the USA eCommerce and functional beverage segments and on expanding our retail distribution and sales in Australia. We recently appointed Mr Ui Tavo as Managing Director in Fiji as a first step in that new structure." "Our founder, Zane Yoshida, is executing on our regional sourcing strategy and on completing our factory upgrade project over the next four months, after which he will return to the role of CEO. Over the past 3 years since rejoining the company management team, his work as Chief Operating Officer has significantly de-risked our company's supply chain and built the infrastructure and relationships in the Pacific that will underpin our next horizon of growth. Zane has led our Australian retail strategy to-date, and we will now seek to recruit an Australian country manager with the requisite skills and experience to take this much further and fully capture the potential of the Australian retail and eCommerce market for kava. We believe the US market will rapidly become our biggest over the next few quarters, and so we will be recruiting a country manager in the USA with eCommerce and beverage industry experienced who can drive sales there, locally."

"I am personally committed to ensure a smooth transition over the next four months during which time, I will be completing our Quality Assurance Laboratory installation and commissioning and implementing ISO9001, ISO17025 and ISO22000 quality systems in our business, making the company future proof for entry to new markets where kava regulations may soon be relaxed."

"As Zane transitions back to CEO, I will move to a non-executive director role. The new Chairman and I will both fully remunerated in shares at the same rate as other non-executive directors have historically. This will deliver a meaningful cashflow savings to the business; helping to fund new roles to drive continued revenue growth. Taken together this makes us a leaner and more sales-focussed as we drive towards breakeven. We are committed to deliver value to all shareholders."

Founder Zane Yoshida said: "I am pleased to welcome John as Chairman of the Calmer Co. The Board had the opportunity to meet with John in person and we unanimously agree that his extensive business and investment experience, combined with his integrity and leadership will be invaluable as we move into our next phase of growth. We are confident that his guidance will be instrumental in achieving our upcoming milestones and advancing our vision."

Incoming Chairman, Mr John Homewood said "After 50 years in establishing and operating businesses, I look forward to working with Zane, Anthony and the Board to add value to The Calmer Co International Ltd."
