Questions from Shareholders

1. Comment on the A$3,307 cost per ounce (excluding royalties and stock adjustment)

The reported A$3,307 per ounce cost (excluding royalties and stock adjustment) in the September quarter are high (but lower than the June quarter) and are a reflection of the gold produced. To reduce this cost Beacon needs to increase production to reduce the reported cash/sustaining cost per oz.

2. Will cost per ounce decrease now that pre-stripping at MacPhersons is complete?

Cash cost per ounce will be lower but AISC will reflect pre-strip write-offs.

3. Beacon's share price strategy

Beacon has numerous announcements coming up, including the Lady Ida Project MRE, Reserves Statement and PFS. The Company will also be completing an exploration/resource drilling campaign which we expect will also create newsflow.

4. Capital Management

Beacon's focus is on

- Increasing gold production
- Building a "bank" of mined ore and crushed ore at the Jaurdi mill

5. Lady Ida

Beacon owns the Jaurdi mill, the costs of mining and milling of the 72,500 ozs ore will be borne by both parties as per the JV agreement.

As per our ASX releases, the Company will manage the JV as it would manage a JV with unrelated parties. The Company has implemented initiatives to preserve independence of parties involved.

Subject to the independent directors being satisfied that proceeding with the joint venture is in the best interest of BCN mining may commence in Q4 CY25

The mine plan (to be released in Q1 CY25) following a positive decision by the independent directors to proceed with the joint venture will illustrate the production profile for BCN
