Management Comment

Nexus Minerals Managing Director, Andy Tudor, said: “We are pleased with the support this very targeted capital raising has received. To have two specialist North American long only institutional investors both emerging as substantial shareholders following completion of the placement is a strong validation of the Company’s exploration results to date, and its planned exploration activities.

Nexus will be well positioned post the current raise, with approximately A$12 million in cash on hand, allowing the Company to accelerate its exploration efforts at the Company’s Wallbrook Gold Project.”
