

Launch of InvestorHub to Manage Shareholder Engagement

Provaris Energy Ltd (ASX.PV1, Provaris, the Company) has launched a new InvestorHub for dedicated investor engagement and information, which is also available from our website.

The InvestorHub assists shareholders, stakeholders, and prospective investors in learning more about the Company's activities and key projects in what is shaping as a year of growth for Provaris Energy.

As Provaris continues to accelerate its strategic roadmap of critical maritime solutions to the Hydrogen and CO2 sectors, the InvestorHub will deliver timely announcements, Provaris news items, industry insights, and offer direct access to the Company's management to respond to your queries. The Company will regularly upload new content to the hub, including videos, key project news and updates.

Provaris Energy invites shareholders and interested parties to join the InvestorHub as follows:

1. Create an account on our InvestorHub via the sign-up link <https://investors.provaris.energy/auth/signup>
2. Follow the prompts to create your investor hub account.

Provaris Energy encourages shareholders to post questions/feedback through the Q&A function accompanying each piece of content to engage with the leadership team and gain a better understanding of the company's updates.

Provaris Managing Director and CEO, Martin Carolan commented: "As we continue on to accelerate our technical programs in parallel with commercialisation milestones with industrial partners for both hydrogen and CO2, we encourage you to register with the hub to access live Australian share market analysis, videos accompanying select announcements, interviews and corporate research. We look forward to connecting directly with shareholders through the hub."
