

NVOI LTD

ASX Announcement

7th March 2017

Resignation of Director

Nvoi Ltd (ASX: NVO) today announces the resignation of Mr. Mark Rowlands as Senior Vice President Growth, and Executive Director, effective immediately.

Chairman, Andrew Dutton said “On behalf of the Board, I want to acknowledge Mark’s role as a Founder and thank him for his vision and determination in leading the Company through its embryonic development phase, a highly successful ASX listing in June last year, and the deployment of the Platform. His contribution has helped position the Company well with strong momentum to achieve its growth objectives.”

Mr Rowlands said he is pleased to be passing Nvoi to the new management team for the next critical stage of the Company’s development; and will continue to be available to the Board during his 6-month Notice Period.

About Nvoi:

Nvoi is a full stack technology Platform, for both businesses and professionals, the stakeholders of the contingent workforce economy. The Nvoi marketplace facilitates the direct engagement between businesses and professionals to engage in on-site work assignment. Nvoi is the employer-of-record managing billing, payroll and workplace compliance, on-hiring professionals to businesses at scale.

For Businesses: The Platform allows Hiring Manager to search for Candidates for assignments, assess validated Candidate profiles, conduct video interviews, and manage the offer and acceptance process with the candidate directly. Nvoi manages the contracts, billing, and payroll as employer-of-record in the transaction. Nvoi provides enterprises a complete contingent workforce platform. As enterprises continue to see their workforce composition change, Nvoi provides a workforce-as-a-service solution to allow them to manage their changing contingent workforce needs.

For Professionals: Nvoi delivers the first global contingent worker management platform, removing the middleman from the process, by directly connecting professionals with hiring managers, at scale. Professional create a profile, validate identity, working rights, skills and experience, and market themselves directly to businesses seeking those skills. As the employer-of-record in each assignment transaction, professionals have one central point to manage active assignments, assignment workflow, payroll, pay slips, and taxation reporting. This delivers professionals with complete control and transparency over their professional working life.

Website: <http://meetnvoi.com/>