Expansion of global service network in APAC region

Global marine safety equipment provider Mobilarm Limited (ASX: MBO) today reported that its Man Overboard Business, Marine Rescue Technologies (MRT), has expanded its global service network with its recent agreement with RFD Australia to establish service centers in Perth, Sydney and New Zealand. This was completed last week and is now in operation for MRT customers.

Mobilarm Chief Executive Officer Ken Gaunt commented: "This adds to the partner network we have established globally over the last twelve months, bringing the total to 13, with plans in place to grow this further. This is critical to retain the high customer satisfaction and loyalty we enjoy. Our customers operate in many regions and require that all life saving equipment is fit for purpose year round. Our global service network provides both efficiency and simplicity to achieve this while ensuring all service is undertaken with authorised MRT service equipment. We are evaluating additional locations and partnerships for future deployment as we seek to expand our unique and critical service platform for our customers."

Mobilarm Chief Financial Officer Jorge Nigaglioni commented: "This is a key step to deliver best of breed service to our customers in the APAC region, as well as our global customers who expect high quality service anywhere in the world. Our service revenues are a key part of our business and remain a high growth area since our service strategic focus started a couple of years ago."
