A NOTE FROM THE CEO

Yesterday we capped off an exciting 2017 fiscal year with the release of our Preliminary Yearly Report, and we are now two months into a strong first quarter of fiscal year 2018. Because of the timing of the recent 4E, this will be a very brief newsletter highlighting just a couple of key upcoming points.

Upcoming Roadshows

The next two weeks will be busy on an investor relations front. Next week, Alexium CFO, Aaron Krech, and I will be in Australia to continue to promote Alexium to Australian institutional investors and discuss the results detailed in the yearly report. In the following week, I will also be traveling to Boston and NYC detailing the successful 2017FY by the company to American institutional investors.

Next Webcast

Due to a successful first webcast and the benefit it brought to the shareholders, I am pleased to announce the date of our second webcast which will be held Tuesday, September 19th at 8:30 am Sydney Time. This webcast will feature improved audio and a more polished feel. This time, we will start accepting questions via the website starting now, so we can give more concise, clearer answers with the goal of hopefully getting to more of your questions.

Military Progress

The first topic we will devote some time to at the beginning of the webcast is giving a more detailed update on our military progress. Our efforts in military are extremely important to Alexium, and we have made such tremendous progress, I feel the few minutes we were able to devote to it on the first webcast were insufficient. With recent increases in world tensions, increasing attention will be paid to improving funding and capability of our men and women in uniform, and Alexium is poised to be a key part of that.
