5 September 2017

Update on timing of results from drill holes MO17DD001 and MO17DD007

AVZ Minerals Limited (ASX: AVZ, AVZO) provides the following update on the reporting of samples from the remaining two diamond drill holes.

After a delay by the transporter in South Africa, the Company has been advised that all drill hole MO17DD001 samples have finally been received by the laboratory in Perth. They are being processed as matter of urgency and the Company is looking forward to releasing the results to the market early next week.

Drill hole MO17DD007 has now also been received by the laboratory in Perth and is expected to be processed approximately five days after drill hole MO17DD001 results.
