

ASX Announcement

15 January 2018

Clarification

Elsight Limited (ASX: ELS, “Elsight” or the “Company”) a leading Israeli secure communications technology company advises that further to the announcement on 11 January 2018, the Company is pleased to provide this further clarification on the nature and impact of the announced order.

As announced, the Company has received a purchase order for the provision of its Multichannel from one of the leading suppliers in the global car industry. The purchase order is for the purpose of rigorous field testing of the Company’s products for use in the growing autonomous car sector.

The financial impact of this initial purchase order is not expected to be material. However, the interest in the Company’s products for use in this growing sector and the interest of one of the leading suppliers of testing services to the industry is seen as a positive development for the Company. The Company wishes to clarify that while it is targeting its technology for the ultimate application to autonomous cars, which may be on the roads in the future, the purchase order relates to the use of the product in “test vehicles” in use today. Any material impact on the Company’s revenues, however, will be dependent upon future orders. The Company continues to promote its products in various markets and will provide further updates to the market as and when appropriate.
