Scout to present its home security range at ISC West 2018

Home security provider Scout Security Limited ((ASX: SCT), "Scout" or "the Company") is pleased to announce that the Company's co-founders, CEO Dan Roberts and CTO Dave Shapiro, will represent Scout at the 2018 ISC West security industry trade fair and conference.

Running in Las Vegas, Nevada from Tuesday 10 April to Friday April 13, ISC West is the largest security industry trade show in the US, bringing together providers, customers, and stakeholders in the physical IT and Internet of Things (IoT) security industries. The show attracted more than 30,000 industry professionals in 2017 who met over 1,000 exhibiting companies and brands.

ISC West is the only event that brings the entire security channel together in one place and is the major international security event of the year. The trade show provides a global stage where next-generation security innovations are showcased and introduced to the marketplace.

As such, ISC West represents the ideal platform for Scout to introduce new potential partners to its DIY connected home security value proposition.

At ISC West, Scout has secured a full slate of meetings for the duration of the show to present and discuss its range of connected home security products.

Scout will also lead a conference session hosted by its alarm dealer channel partner COPS, the leading provider of security monitoring services to independent alarm dealers across North America. This presents a strong opportunity for the Company to promote its white-labelled DIY home security solution with the top dealers in the region.
