G MEDICAL LAUNCHES GLOBAL ONLINE STORE, OPENS UP A DIRECT CONSUMER SALE OF PRIZMA MEDICAL SMARTPHONE CASE

The Prizma is now available for direct order by consumers online

Mobile and e-Health company G Medical Innovations (ASX: GMV) has today announced the launch of the Prizma online store at <https://store.gmedinnovations.com/>.

The launch marks the first time that the Prizma will be made available to consumers for direct purchase*, thereby enabling users to monitor and receive immediate and real-time medical measurements, view their medical trends and share test results with any third party.

The Prizma can transform any compatible smartphone into a medical monitoring device. The Prizma has received approvals from regulatory authorities such as the FDA and TGA, and has also been approved for CE marking.

The Prizma is able to monitor a range of biometric measurements with the ability to provide and transmit real-time results and present medical data to detect trends over time. The device currently measures 1-lead ECG, heart rate, temperature and oxygen saturation. Users can create an individual patient profile via a dedicated user portal, and can share their tests results with caregivers, medical professionals, and anyone else nominated by the patient.

The Prizma uses a friendly app available for download from the Apple App Store or Google Play, through which the user can then track and monitor their vital signs.

G Medical CEO Dr. Yacov Geva said, "Launching our online store and making Prizma accessible to individuals provides consumers with the opportunity to transform personal healthcare and self-monitoring, giving Prizma users more control over their health and enabling caregivers to have direct communication with their patients".

* The Prizma medical smartphone case is available in countries where it has been approved by the regulatory authorities.

 The Prizma medical smartphone case is available in the USA under physician prescription only.
