Update on Resumption of Trading

The Company is pleased to advise that the detailed information on the acquisitions as requested by the ASX is now being completed and is in the process of being forwarded today to the ASX.

The ASX have indicated that they will require to further review and approve the documentation with the relevant departments within the ASX next week.

The Company is expecting to be able to resume trading on the ASX once the ASX approves the release of the announcement.

The Company will keep the market informed as soon as we have heard back from the ASX.
