ASX Announcement

Vonex Now Listed on ASX

Vonex Limited (“Vonex” or the “Company”) (ASX:VN8) is pleased to announce the Company has commenced trading on the ASX today, under the code VN8 and option ticker code VN8O.

Publicly listing the Company represents the culmination of hard work and support from various stakeholders and management firmly believes will be transformational for the business.

Vonex is well funded having completed a $6 million IPO and can focus on investing into the expansion of the Company’s business units, as well as the development of new cutting-edge products.

Vonex will initially be concentrating in three main areas:

1. The retail division, Vonex Telecom, will kick start its rapid expansion plans. Marketing and investment in our channel partners will focus on the opportunities that will exist over the next 36 months with the continued rollout of the NBN. The NBN is in now targeting the highly populated city areas of Australia. This delivers an upgraded internet network right past the doors of our initial target customers, the small to medium businesses, and a compulsory change from the old copper network. The channel partner program will be expanded further to increase our presence and drive additional sales in these new areas. Vonex will also commence an aggressive marketing campaign, designed to position Vonex as a smart business customer choice during the transition to the NBN.
2. The much anticipated Oper8tor App will enter the Beta trial stage shortly. This amazing product has huge potential, as the only mobile app in the world that the Company is aware of which allows multiple social media voice apps to operate seamlessly together.
3. Vonex will commence a thorough evaluation of the Vonex wholesale business, with a view to expanding the products and services offered via this business unit. The Company will continue to attract new white-label carrier businesses to the group, both here in Australia and overseas.

Managing Director, Mr. Matthew Fahey said: “I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their support over the last couple of years and extend special thank you to Alan Hill and State One Equities for their efforts in supporting the IPO. Today is a truly momentous day for Vonex and we look forward to providing further updates in due course.”
