

Home Matters Introducer Agreement

Sydney, 19th July 2018:

The Company is pleased to announce that it has entered into a 12 month, auto-renewing introducers agreement with Home Matters, a leading independent consultancy service in the GCC (Gulf Co-operation Countries), which helps facilitate frictionless property investing through mortgage and conveyancing arrangement.

The partnership will enable Property Connect customers on the Live Offer platform to purchase property in the GCC and automatically arrange financing and conveyancing as part of the purchase, either prior to bidding or during the process of arranging the purchase.

The company will integrate the Live Offer platform with Home Matters API, subject to the parties obtaining any necessary licenses. This will provide mortgage calculators for investors / purchasers so that they can gain pre-approval / qualification for their borrowing requirements, and thus access market leading mortgage offers independent of any major GCC bank.

This compliments upon the recently announced agreement with Damac Properties.

CEO of Property Connect, Darren Patterson said: "This is just the beginning of our financial services and property transaction solutions. We plan to offer all our Live Offer customers and investors a diverse and seamless suite of services to meet their investment and property purchasing needs. Property Connect aims to be at the forefront of direct and indirect property investing, providing a range of ancillary services to all our customers, whether they be local or overseas, enabling an international investment platform for property located anywhere."

Managing Director of Home Matters, Sawan Karia said: "We are delighted to be working with Property Connect and their innovative Live Offer platform. The GCC is alive with inbound and outbound investment, and we see Live Offer and the partnership with Home Matters as furthering the investment opportunity in the region and making property investing frictionless."
