Arrow has completed a review of the extensive data acquired over the Strickland Gold Project. As a result of the review, several areas are currently being sampled in an effort to confirm gold anomalism encountered where the previous sampling may have been ineffective. This sampling programme, including soil sampling and shallow auger drilling (Figure 1), will enable follow-up field work over prospective areas during 2020. The ongoing sampling programme will conclude in January 2020 and any further work will take place in Q2 2020.

Announcement authorised for release by the Chief Executive Officer of Arrow.
