Group Rebranding & Product Launch

February 27, 2020: Smart Marine Systems Limited (ASX:SM8) (Company) is pleased to announce that as of today, recently acquired subsidiary company Advanced Offshore Streaming Pty Ltd (AOS), will be renamed Harvest Infinity Pty Ltd.

As part of a group-wide rebranding strategy, Smart Marine Systems also intends to change its name to Harvest Technology Group. This name change is part of our strategy to emphasise the strength of our collective capabilities as a group, and target a more diverse client base across global market sectors.

Harvest Infinity are thrilled to launch the next generation of Infinity suite of products. The suite includes the AVR2, Nodestream, Wearwolf™ and Clever Buoy™.

Our new product range elevates the performance of our existing product range as well as lending itself to increased performance, control and management of remote operations, data transfer, and audio and visual streaming, via satellites in ultra-low bandwidth applications.

We are excited to release these products, and we continue to actively research and pursue products that allow Data. Anywhere.™ in real time applications.

“The rebrand and rename for the group represents a significant milestone in the Company’s evolution. We are redefining who we are with a collaborative and consistent approach to the market, and shaping the future of the business globally,” said Paul Guilfoyle, Group Managing Director. “Since the acquisition of AOS we have aligned and strengthened our processes across the group. By taking this step we will strengthen our presence and delivery within the marketplace.”

A Notice of Meeting to seek shareholder approval regarding the group name change will follow on Tuesday March 3, 2020.
