LIFX to be Stocked at U.S. Retailer Lowe's; Investor Webinar

SUMMARY

- LIFX has executed a vendor agreement with Lowe's (NYSE:LOW), the world's second largest hardware store chain, to stock LIFX products
- Lowe's does not stock LIFX's largest competitor, opening up a significant positioning opportunity for LIFX in the U.S. market
- The Company has scheduled an investor webinar for members of the Buddy management team to discuss the recent Q4FY20 Appendix 4C and Quarterly Commentary.

4 August 2020 - Adelaide, South Australia

Buddy Technologies Limited ("Company") (BUD.ASX), a leader in IoT and cloud-based solutions for making spaces smarter, is pleased to announce that today it has executed a vendor agreement procuring the sale of LIFX smart lights in Lowe's Companies, Inc. ("Lowe's") stores across the United States.

Lowe's is the world's second largest chain of hardware stores, and an important new partner for LIFX, as Lowe's stocks a much larger range of lighting fixtures than their larger competitor and also does not stock LIFX's largest competitor. This provides an opportunity for LIFX to become the premium smart light offering across Lowe's more than 2,000 locations U.S.-wide.

The vendor agreement governs the relationship between LIFX and Lowe's and provides for standard terms (including those governing returns, payment terms, various allowances and rebates, and tax certifications) applicable to purchase orders submitted on a demand driven basis by Lowe's for LIFX products. As is standard with such agreements, there is a 12 month term with provision for subsequent renewal.

Under the vendor agreement just executed, the first LIFX product is anticipated to reach stores in time for the holiday period. Further details will be made available via ASX announcements.
