Amcom signs $6.5m contract with Northern Territory Government

Amcom Telecommunications Ltd ("Amcom")(ASX: AMM), a leading fibre network and ICT provider, today announces the signing of an agreement with the Northern Territory Government (NTG) to supply additional data network services throughout the Northern Territory, including many remote locations.

The contract value is approximately $6.5m over four years and will complement the existing data network services agreement. Amcom will supply data network services to an additional 141 sites across the Territory, using a combination of Amcom's existing fibre infrastructure and third party networks.

In addition, Amcom has been selected as a preferred supplier on the Fixed Voice Services panel for NTG that will enable NTG agencies to directly connect to Amcom's IP voice platforms.

Clive Stein, Amcom CEO said "We are delighted to further extend our commercial relationship with the NTG as Amcom continues to bring competitive telecommunications offerings including data networks, telephony and unified communications into the NT market. The ability to offer services to even the most remote areas of Australia demonstrates our flexibility and capability to provide services for our customers anywhere in Australia."

The data network services are staged to rollout from Q2 FY 2015 onwards.
