Kabuni Releases Version 1.5 of its Mobile Application

HIGHLIGHTS

- Version 1.5 of the Kabuni iOS app released for download
- Brand new functionalities revolve around Kabuni's growing catalogue of home products
- First release of iOS app in Australia
- Kabuni anticipates release of "revenue ready" version of app by the end of this month

Kabuni Ltd (ASX: KBU) ("Kabuni," or "the Company") is pleased to announce that the newest update for the Company's iOS application is now available for download in Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, and – for the first time - Australia.

The Kabuni app provides designers with an innovative mobile platform for showcasing their work, connecting with new and existing clients, and growing their business. The latest update to the app introduces several new and exciting features focused around Kabuni's constantly expanding selection of more than 60,000 product SKUs.

BROWSE & SEARCH PRODUCTS

Version 1.5 introduces a 'Search Tool,' allowing designers to quickly and efficiently search through all of Kabuni's available product selection for recommendation to their clients. Products can be searched by not only their individual names, but also their respective categories and styles.

PRODUCTS ALLOW FOR FURTHER CURATION OF INSPIRATION BOARDS

In addition to the powerful 'Search Tool,' designers can now add individual products to their Inspiration Boards, allowing their clients to shop for a particular style and further enhancing the application's collaboration potential.

Kabuni anticipates submitting version 1.6 of its mobile application for approval by Apple prior to the conclusion of this month. This version will have Kabuni "revenue ready," as it will serve to debut the app's on-line checkout function.

"Everything about our platform revolves around the products we offer," stated Neil Patel, Kabuni's founder and CEO. "Inspiration Boards are composed of individual products, and the sale of these products will compose the significant majority of our future revenues. As a result, we are very pleased to debut these new tools, all of which serve to improve how our users both browse through and interact with our constantly growing selection of fine home products. We now turn our attention towards a major milestone, the introduction of our product purchasing capabilities later this month. I look forward to providing further updates on our progress."
