Strategic Relationship

Department 13 International Ltd (ASX: D13): announced today it has established a strategic relationship with Booz Allen Hamilton (NYSE:BAH). Booz Allen is a global provider of management and technology consulting and engineering services to Fortune 500 corporations, governments, and not-for-profits. Through the relationship, D13 will tap into Booz Allen's credibility and knowledge of emerging defense requirements and systems integration. Booz Allen will use D13 counter-drone technology such as its counter-drone technology, Mesmer™.

Jonathan Hunter, D13 CEO said "We have already built a great working relationship with Booz Allen Hamilton, and this partner's strategic significance reinforces the fact that our innovative technology is important, and that our solutions are credible and genuine. Booz Allen has key relationships with significant parts of the defense community and by working with its leadership we can access new markets and opportunities otherwise out of reach of a small company. Booz Allen's focus on systems integration means we can focus on the innovative aspects of our technology and therefore be more cost effective."

Dorothy C Simeona, Vice President at Booz Allen said "We see D13's technology as being extremely innovative and of great interest potentially to our US Navy, Marine Corps and other clients with the ability to meet significant emerging requirements. Establishing this strategic relationship will provide our clients with the innovation behind D13's technology, with the assurance that Booz Allen's systems integration can provide."
