

EBOS subsidiary Onelink signs services agreement with Health Benefits Limited

News Release

Date: 1 July 2014

EBOS is pleased to advise that its Onelink subsidiary has signed a services agreement with Crown-owned company, Health Benefits Ltd (HBL) to provide the warehousing and distribution of medical and non-medical consumables across the national public hospital network and similarly pharmaceutical distribution to certain public hospitals.

EBOS managing director Mark Waller says the agreement is recognition by the Crown of the expertise and further efficiencies Onelink can deliver for the benefit of the health system and taxpayers.

“Onelink will be incentivised to introduce further efficiencies throughout the term of the contract which will deliver further benefits for taxpayers.”

Onelink will work in partnership with healthAlliance FPSC Limited, a Crown shared service agency, which will assume ownership and procurement of the product stream to be distributed through the Onelink logistics network to all 20 DHBs.

Onelink currently supplies healthcare consumables to a number of DHBs nationally. It has been successfully servicing this market for 20 years. Further synergies are expected to be realised in Onelink’s business once the HBL contract is fully operative.
