ASX ANNOUNCEMENT

18 September 2014

Strong oil and gas flows from Red Bud 1H

- Oil and gas flowing strongly to the surface under natural pressures
- Well producing with very high formation pressure

The Board of Austin Exploration ("Austin" or "the Company") (ASX:AKK) today announced the Red Bud 1H well in the Eagle Ford is flowing large quantities of oil and gas under natural pressure from the formation, and has produced more than 20,000 barrels of oil equivalent (80% oil) under natural pressure during flow back operations which are currently underway.

This is the Company's fourth consecutive successful Eagle Ford well and further validates that Austin's Birch property has been de-risked and is in a prolific oil and gas producing region of Texas.
