Enverro Launches a Crew and Roster Product

New offering doubles the potential revenue from all Enverro contracts.

20, January 2015

Enverro, (ASX: ERR) a leading provider of workforce management software for the Construction, Resources and Energy sectors today announced the launch of a Crew & Roster product offering. The new product simplifies the process of assigning workers to crews, managing roster patterns and filling vacancies. Crew and Roster is an extension of Enverro's current Mobilisation and Travel & Accommodation offering.

Enverro CEO Leigh Kelson said: "This is critical functionality for any company responsible for providing labour on construction, resource and energy projects. Not only does it meet an immediate customer need, it also doubles the revenue potential for many future Enverro implementations."

Managing multiple crews with varying roster patterns on large construction, resource and energy projects is a logistically intensive process not suited to email and static spreadsheets. Enverro's cloud-based platform centralises worker data for organisation-wide transparency while eliminating redundancies and reducing manual errors common on projects of this size.

"This launch is an important step in our broader vision of connecting the industry through an end-to-end workforce management platform. With several prospects in the pipeline, we are looking forward to adding functionality that will allow supervisors to search their labour pool for matches to fill unexpected crew vacancies helping to minimise downtime and maintain compliance."

The company's initial Crew and Roster customer is a large global engineering and construction company who will roll out the product in support of their efforts on the $29 billion Chevron-operated Wheatstone LNG project in Western Australia. For contractual confidentiality reasons Enverro is unable to disclose the identity of the customer.
