The mission continues

On May 1, 1975, Vanguard began operations, a fledgling company based on the simple but revolutionary idea that a mutual fund company should be managed solely in the interest of its investors.

Four decades later, that revolutionary spirit continues to animate the enterprise. Vanguard remains on a mission to give investors the best chance of investment success.

As we mark our 40th anniversary, we thank you for entrusting your assets to Vanguard and giving us the opportunity to help you reach your financial goals in the decades to come.

Chairman's Letter

Dear Shareholder,

International stocks modestly outpaced U.S. stocks during the six months ended April 30, 2015. Aggressive monetary policies by a number of central banks helped stimulate ailing economies and bolstered investor confidence in international stock markets.

In this environment, small-capitalization international stocks, which are often more sensitive to economic growth prospects, proved resilient. Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund returned 6.18% for the six months. Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund, which invests in mid- and large-capitalization international companies, returned 4.92%. (All returns cited in this letter are for Investor Shares.)

The funds' returns diverged from those of their benchmarks, largely because of fair-value pricing adjustments. (See the box on page 5.) These adjustments, which are required by the Securities and Exchange Commission, address pricing discrepancies that may arise because of time-zone differences among global stock markets. Both funds also trailed the average return of their respective peer groups.

U.S. stocks closed higher despite fluctuating returns

U.S. stocks returned almost 5% for the six months, despite stretches of shakiness. In two of those months, stocks declined.

In two others, they were virtually unchanged or gained less than 1%. February's surge of almost 6%, the largest monthly gain since October 2011, lifted stocks over the period.

The Federal Reserve's careful approach to potentially raising short-term interest rates helped stocks along, as did monetary stimulus efforts by other nations' central banks. These factors offset concerns such as Greece's debt crisis and the negative effect of the strong U.S. dollar on the profits of U.S.-based multinational companies.

Stimulus policies and demand have driven up bond prices

Like equities, bonds have benefited from accommodative monetary policies from the world's central banks. Investor demand for the perceived safety of fixed income assets has also boosted bond returns.

The broad U.S. taxable bond market returned 2.06% for the period, and the yield of the 10-year U.S. Treasury note ended April at 2.04%, down from 2.31% six months earlier. (Bond prices and yields move in opposite directions.)

International bond markets (as measured by the Barclays Global Aggregate Index ex USD) returned -4.83% as foreign currencies' weakness relative to the dollar affected results. For international bonds hedged to eliminate the effect of changes in currency exchange rates, returns were positive.

Returns of money market funds and savings accounts remained checked by the Fed's target of 0% – 0.25% for short-term interest rates.

Small-cap stocks stood out in Europe and emerging markets

The FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund and the FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund provide investors with broad exposure to emerging and developed markets outside the United States.

For the six-month period, developed markets as a whole outperformed emerging ones. Still, most markets faced some challenges. Concern over lower crude oil prices and tepid global economic growth weighed on results. In addition,

The fund expense ratios shown are from the prospectus dated February 26, 2015, and represent estimated costs for the current fiscal year. For the six months ended April 30, 2015, the funds' annualized expense ratios were: for the FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund, 0.26% for Investor Shares, 0.13% for ETF Shares, 0.13% for Admiral Shares, 0.11% for Institutional Shares, and 0.09% for Institutional Plus Shares; and for the FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund, 0.33% for Investor Shares, 0.17% for ETF Shares, and 0.15% for Institutional Shares. The peer-group expense ratios are derived from data provided by Lipper, a Thomson Reuters Company, and capture information through year-end 2014.

returns for U.S.-based investors were restrained by the strength of the U.S. dollar against many foreign currencies.

Developed markets in Europe returned about 11% for the small-cap fund and about 6% for the mid- and large-cap fund. Small-cap stocks in particular benefited from an optimistic outlook for the Eurozone following the European Central Bank's efforts to stimulate the region's economies. The central bank's monetary policy contributed to a weaker euro, which has reduced the price of exports. Lower energy prices have helped reignite consumer demand. And bank lending to the private sector has expanded—a potentially major benefit for small companies, which tend to have more difficulty accessing loans than established firms.

In the Pacific region, the mid- and large-cap fund returned about 9%, more than a percentage point higher than the small-cap fund. Japan, the region's largest market, led the way for the mid- and large-cap fund. The Bank of Japan's aggressive stimulus efforts helped boost the country's stock market, and a weaker yen relative to the U.S. dollar has made Japanese products more attractive to consumers abroad. Smaller Japanese companies with less exposure to overseas markets did not benefit as much from the weaker yen. (You can read about Vanguard's assessment of Japan's economy in Japan: The Long Road Back to Inflation, available at vanguard.com/research. This is part of the Global Macro Matters series produced by our economists.)

A note on fair-value pricing

The reported return of a fund that tracks an index sometimes diverges from the index's return a bit more than would be expected. This may be the result of a fair-value pricing adjustment.

These adjustments, which are required by the Securities and Exchange Commission, address pricing discrepancies that may arise because of time-zone differences among global stock markets. Foreign stocks may trade on exchanges that close many hours before a fund's closing share price is calculated in the United States, generally at 4 p.m., Eastern time. In the hours between the foreign close and the U.S. close, the value of these foreign securities may change—because of company-specific announcements or market-wide developments, for example. Such price changes are not immediately reflected in international index values.

Fair-value pricing takes such changes into account in calculating the fund's daily net asset value, thus ensuring that the NAV doesn't include "stale" prices. The result can be a temporary divergence between the return of the fund and that of its benchmark index—a difference that usually corrects itself when the foreign markets reopen.

Elsewhere in the Pacific region, smaller companies performed notably well. In Hong Kong, most sectors turned in double-digit returns, led by financial and technology stocks. Australia, one of the largest economies in the region, produced a negative return as companies of all sizes suffered, particularly those in the oil and gas and industrial sectors.

Emerging markets stocks returned nearly 7% for the small-cap fund and about 6% for the mid- and large-cap fund. Despite

International stocks—an opportunity for further diversification

International stocks led global stock markets out of the Great Recession in 2009. Since then, they've trailed the broad U.S. stock market in every year but one.

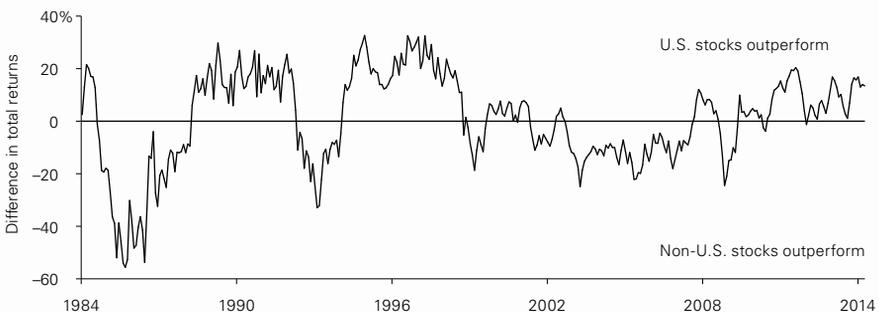

Despite the underperformance of the last several years, international stocks—which represent about half of the world's market capitalization—can still help U.S.-based investors diversify their portfolios.

As the chart below shows, U.S. and international stocks have periodically swapped market leadership positions as differing market and economic forces caused their returns to vary.

Of course, the timing of these changes is impossible to predict.

Global diversification can help U.S. investors reduce their portfolio's volatility over time by mitigating losses when domestic stocks do poorly and adding to returns when foreign stocks shine. (For more insight, see Global Equities: Balancing Home Bias and Diversification, available at vanguard.com/research.)

Trailing 12-month return differential between U.S. and non-U.S. stocks

Notes: U.S. equities are represented by MSCI USA Index; international equities are represented by MSCI World Index ex USA from 1970 through 1987 and MSCI All Country World Index ex USA thereafter. Data are from December 31, 1984, through December 31, 2014.

China's economic slowdown, its stock market delivered strong double-digit gains for both funds as its government made an aggressive effort to stabilize growth through its monetary policy.

Other emerging-market countries didn't perform as well. Several countries posted negative returns. Brazil detracted most as softer demand for its exports and plunging commodity prices hurt its largest companies.

A relatively small proportion of both funds is invested in Canada. Here stocks of all sizes fell, including energy stocks, a main driver of the Canadian economy.

Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers five classes of shares: Investor Shares, Admiral Shares, Institutional Shares, Institutional Plus Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Admiral Shares, Institutional Shares, and Institutional Plus Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on NYSE Arca; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. investment companies. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value. Temporary cash investments acquired over 60 days to maturity are valued using the latest bid prices or using valuations based on a matrix system (which considers such factors as security prices, yields, maturities, and ratings), both as furnished by independent pricing services. Other temporary cash investments are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.

2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).

3. Futures and Forward Currency Contracts: The fund uses index futures contracts to a limited extent, with the objectives of maintaining full exposure to the stock market, enhancing returns, maintaining liquidity, and minimizing transaction costs. The fund may purchase futures contracts to immediately invest incoming cash in the market, or sell futures in response to cash outflows, thereby simulating a fully invested position in the underlying index while maintaining a cash balance for liquidity. The fund may seek to enhance returns by using futures contracts instead of the underlying securities when futures are believed to be priced more attractively than the underlying securities. The primary risks associated with the use of futures contracts are imperfect correlation between changes in market values of stocks held by the fund and the prices of futures contracts, and the possibility of an illiquid market. Counterparty risk involving futures is mitigated because a regulated clearinghouse is the counterparty instead of the clearing broker. To further mitigate counterparty risk, the fund trades futures contracts on an exchange, monitors the financial strength of its clearing brokers and clearinghouse, and has entered into clearing agreements with its clearing brokers. The clearinghouse imposes initial margin requirements to secure the fund's performance and requires daily settlement of variation margin representing changes in the market value of each contract.

The fund also enters into forward currency contracts to provide the appropriate currency exposure related to any open futures contracts. The fund's risks in using these contracts include movement in the values of the foreign currencies relative to the U.S. dollar and the ability of the counterparties to fulfill their obligations under the contracts. The fund mitigates its counterparty risk by entering into forward currency contracts only with a diverse group of prequalified counterparties, monitoring their financial strength, entering into master netting arrangements with its counterparties, and requiring its counterparties to transfer collateral as security for their performance. The master netting arrangements provide that, in the event of a counterparty's default (including bankruptcy), the fund may terminate the forward currency contracts, determine the net amount owed by either party in accordance with its master netting arrangements, and sell or retain any collateral held up to the net amount owed to the fund under the master netting arrangements. The forward currency contracts contain provisions whereby a counterparty may terminate open contracts if the fund's net assets decline below a certain level, triggering a payment by the fund if the fund is in a net liability position at the time of the termination. The payment amount would be reduced by any collateral the fund has pledged. Any assets pledged as collateral for open contracts are noted in the Statement of Net Assets. The value of collateral received or pledged is compared daily to the value of the forward currency contracts exposure with each counterparty, and any difference, if in excess of a specified minimum transfer amount, is adjusted and settled within two business days.

Futures contracts are valued at their quoted daily settlement prices. Forward currency contracts are valued at their quoted daily prices obtained from an independent third party, adjusted for currency risk based on the expiration date of each contract. The aggregate settlement values and notional amounts of the contracts are not recorded in the Statement of Net Assets. Fluctuations in the value of the contracts are recorded in the Statement of Net Assets as an asset (liability) and in the Statement of Operations as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) until the contracts are closed, when they are recorded as realized gains (losses) on futures or forward currency contracts.

During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund's average investments in long and short futures contracts represented less than 1% and 0% of net assets, respectively, based on the average of aggregate settlement values at each quarter-end during the period. The fund's average investment in forward currency contracts represented less than 1% of net assets, based on the average of notional amounts at each quarter-end during the period.

4. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2011–2014), and for the period ended April 30, 2015, and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.

5. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

6. Securities Lending: To earn additional income, the fund lends its securities to qualified institutional borrowers. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral in an amount at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. Daily market fluctuations could cause the value of loaned securities to be more or less than the value of the collateral received. When this occurs, the collateral is adjusted and settled on the next business day. The fund further mitigates its counterparty risk by entering into securities lending transactions only with a diverse group of prequalified counterparties, monitoring their financial strength, and entering into master securities lending agreements with its counterparties. The master securities lending agreements provide that, in the event of a counterparty's default (including bankruptcy), the fund may terminate any loans with that borrower, determine the net amount owed, and sell or retain the collateral up to the net amount owed to the fund; however, such actions may be subject to legal proceedings. While collateral mitigates counterparty risk, in the absence of a default the fund may experience delays and costs in recovering the securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, and records a liability in the Statement of Net Assets for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Securities lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on invested cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.

7. Credit Facility: The fund and certain other funds managed by The Vanguard Group participate in a $3 billion committed credit facility provided by a syndicate of lenders pursuant to a credit agreement that may be renewed annually; each fund is individually liable for its borrowings, if any, under the credit facility. Borrowings may be utilized for temporary and emergency purposes, and are subject to the fund's regulatory and contractual borrowing restrictions. The participating funds are charged administrative fees and an annual commitment fee of 0.06% of the undrawn amount of the facility; these fees are allocated to the funds based on a method approved by the fund's board of trustees and included in Management and Administrative expenses on the fund's Statement of Operations. Any borrowings under this facility bear interest at a rate equal to the higher of the federal funds rate or LIBOR reference rate plus an agreed-upon spread.

The fund had no borrowings outstanding at April 30, 2015, or at any time during the period then ended.

8. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Premiums and discounts on debt securities purchased are amortized and accreted, respectively, to interest income over the lives of the respective securities. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund based on methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to invest up to 0.40% of its net assets in Vanguard. At April 30, 2015, the fund had contributed capital of $2,123,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.01% of the fund's net assets and 0.85% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the market value of the fund's investments as of April 30, 2015, based on the inputs used to value them:

At April 30, 2015, the counterparty had deposited in segregated accounts securities with a value of $4,336,000 in connection with amounts due to the fund for open forward currency contracts. After April 30, 2015, the counterparty posted additional collateral of $1,095,000 in connection with open forward currency contracts as of April 30, 2015.

E. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes. These differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund realized net foreign currency losses of $7,544,000, which decreased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income.

During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund realized $66,653,000 of net capital gains resulting from in-kind redemptions—in which shareholders exchanged fund shares for securities held by the fund rather than for cash. Because such gains are not taxable to the fund, and are not distributed to shareholders, they have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

The fund's tax-basis capital gains and losses are determined only at the end of each fiscal year. For tax purposes, at October 31, 2014, the fund had available capital losses totaling $868,376,000 to offset future net capital gains. Of this amount, $281,206,000 is subject to expiration dates; $1,431,000 may be used to offset future net capital gains through October 31, 2015, $29,919,000 through October 31, 2016, $138,066,000 through October 31, 2017, $32,560,000 through October 31, 2018, and $79,230,000 through October 31, 2019. Capital losses of $587,170,000 realized beginning in fiscal 2012 may be carried forward indefinitely under the Regulated Investment Company Modernization Act of 2010, but must be used before any expiring loss carryforwards. The fund will use these capital losses to offset net taxable capital gains, if any, realized during the year ending October 31, 2015; should the fund realize net capital losses for the year, the losses will be added to the loss carryforward balance above.

At April 30, 2015, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $22,730,518,000. Net unrealized appreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $3,438,559,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $5,289,265,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $1,850,706,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

F. During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund purchased $2,539,211,000 of investment securities and sold $395,758,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments. Purchases and sales include $1,141,129,000 and $144,977,000, respectively, in connection with in-kind purchases and redemptions of the fund's capital shares.

G. Capital share transactions for each class of shares were:

Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers three classes of shares: Investor Shares, Institutional Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Institutional Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on NYSE Arca; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. investment companies. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value. Temporary cash investments acquired over 60 days to maturity are valued using the latest bid prices or using valuations based on a matrix system (which considers such factors as security prices, yields, maturities, and ratings), both as furnished by independent pricing services. Other temporary cash investments are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.

2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).

3. Futures Contracts: The fund uses index futures contracts to a limited extent, with the objectives of maintaining full exposure to the stock market, enhancing returns, maintaining liquidity, and minimizing transaction costs. The fund may purchase futures contracts to immediately invest incoming cash in the market, or sell futures in response to cash outflows, thereby simulating a fully invested position in the underlying index while maintaining a cash balance for liquidity. The fund may seek to enhance returns by using futures contracts instead of the underlying securities when futures are believed to be priced more attractively than the underlying securities. The primary risks associated with the use of futures contracts are imperfect correlation between changes in market values of stocks held by the fund and the prices of futures contracts, and the possibility of an illiquid market. Counterparty risk involving futures is mitigated because a regulated clearinghouse is the counterparty instead of the clearing broker. To further mitigate counterparty risk, the fund trades futures contracts on an exchange, monitors the financial strength of its clearing brokers and clearinghouse, and has entered into clearing agreements with its clearing brokers. The clearinghouse imposes initial margin requirements to secure the fund's performance and requires daily settlement of variation margin representing changes in the market value of each contract.

Futures contracts are valued at their quoted daily settlement prices. The aggregate settlement values of the contracts are not recorded in the Statement of Net Assets. Fluctuations in the value of the contracts are recorded in the Statement of Net Assets as an asset (liability) and in the Statement of Operations as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) until the contracts are closed, when they are recorded as realized futures gains (losses).

During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund's average investments in long and short futures contracts represented less than 1% and 0% of net assets, respectively, based on the average of aggregate settlement values at each quarter-end during the period

4. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2011–2014), and for the period ended April 30, 2015, and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.

5. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

6. Securities Lending: To earn additional income, the fund lends its securities to qualified institutional borrowers. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral in an amount at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. Daily market fluctuations could cause the value of loaned securities to be more or less than the value of the collateral received. When this occurs, the collateral is adjusted and settled on the next business day. The fund further mitigates its counterparty risk by entering into securities lending transactions only with a diverse group of prequalified counterparties, monitoring their financial strength, and entering into master securities lending agreements with its counterparties. The master securities lending agreements provide that, in the event of a counterparty's default (including bankruptcy), the fund may terminate any loans with that borrower, determine the net amount owed, and sell or retain the collateral up to the net amount owed to the fund; however, such actions may be subject to legal proceedings. While collateral mitigates counterparty risk, in the absence of a default the fund may experience delays and costs in recovering the securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, and records a liability in the Statement of Net Assets for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Securities lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on invested cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.

7. Credit Facility: The fund and certain other funds managed by The Vanguard Group participate in a $3 billion committed credit facility provided by a syndicate of lenders pursuant to a credit agreement that may be renewed annually; each fund is individually liable for its borrowings, if any, under the credit facility. Borrowings may be utilized for temporary and emergency purposes, and are subject to the fund's regulatory and contractual borrowing restrictions. The participating funds are charged administrative fees and an annual commitment fee of 0.06% of the undrawn amount of the facility; these fees are allocated to the funds based on a method approved by the fund's board of trustees and included in Management and Administrative expenses on the fund's Statement of Operations. Any borrowings under this facility bear interest at a rate equal to the higher of the federal funds rate or LIBOR reference rate plus an agreed-upon spread.

The fund had no borrowings outstanding at April 30, 2015, or at any time during the period then ended.

8. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Premiums and discounts on debt securities purchased are amortized and accreted, respectively, to interest income over the lives of the respective securities. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold. Fees assessed on capital share transactions are credited to paid-in capital.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund based on methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to invest up to 0.40% of its net assets in Vanguard. At April 30, 2015, the fund had contributed capital of $244,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.01% of the fund's net assets and 0.10% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the market value of the fund's investments as of April 30, 2015, based on the inputs used to value them:

| Investments | Level 1 ($000) | Level 2 ($000) | Level 3 ($000) |
|--|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|
| Common Stocks—North and South America | 448,237 | 11,954 | 77 |
| Common Stocks—Other | — | 2,574,415 | 14,679 |
| Temporary Cash Investments | 264,792 | 2,200 | — |
| Futures Contracts—Liabilities ¹ | (70) | — | — |
| Total | 712,959 | 2,588,569 | 14,756 |

¹ Represents variation margin on the last day of the reporting period.

D. At April 30, 2015, the aggregate settlement value of open futures contracts and the related unrealized appreciation (depreciation) were:

| Futures Contracts | Expiration | Number of Long (Short) Contracts | ($000) | |
|-----------------------------|------------|--|--|--|
| | | | Aggregate Settlement Value Long (Short) | Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation) |
| MSCI Emerging Markets Index | June 2015 | 40 | 2,077 | 7 |
| E-mini Russell 2000 Index | June 2015 | 15 | 1,825 | (66) |
| | | | | (59) |

Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on open futures contracts is required to be treated as realized gain (loss) for tax purposes.

E. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes, such differences are primarily attributed to the tax treatment of unrealized appreciation on passive foreign investment companies. These differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund realized net foreign currency losses of $1,451,000, which decreased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to overdistributed net investment income. Certain of the fund's investments are in securities considered to be passive foreign investment companies, for which any unrealized appreciation and/or realized gains are required to be included in distributable net investment income for tax purposes. During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund realized gains on the sale of passive foreign investment companies of $1,813,000, which have been included in current and prior periods' taxable income; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to overdistributed net investment income. Passive foreign investment companies had unrealized appreciation of $15,953,000 at April 30, 2015.

During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund realized $40,795,000 of net capital gains resulting from in-kind redemptions—in which shareholders exchanged fund shares for securities held by the fund rather than for cash. Because such gains are not taxable to the fund, and are not distributed to shareholders, they have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

The fund's tax-basis capital gains and losses are determined only at the end of each fiscal year. For tax purposes, at October 31, 2014, the fund had available capital losses totaling $28,101,000 to offset future net capital gains. Of this amount, $8,715,000 is subject to expiration on October 31, 2019. Capital losses of $19,386,000 realized beginning in fiscal 2012 may be carried forward indefinitely under the Regulated Investment Company Modernization Act of 2010, but must be used before any expiring loss carryforwards. The fund will use these capital losses to offset net taxable capital gains, if any, realized during the year ending October 31, 2015; should the fund realize net capital losses for the year, the losses will be added to the loss carryforward balance above.

At April 30, 2015, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $3,129,215,000. Net unrealized appreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $187,139,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $500,284,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $313,145,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

F. During the six months ended April 30, 2015, the fund purchased $720,998,000 of investment securities and sold $198,085,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments. Purchases and sales include $350,759,000 and $106,517,000, respectively, in connection with in-kind purchases and redemptions of the fund's capital shares.

About Your Fund's Expenses

As a shareholder of the fund, you incur ongoing costs, which include costs for portfolio management, administrative services, and shareholder reports (like this one), among others. Operating expenses, which are deducted from a fund's gross income, directly reduce the investment return of the fund.

A fund's expenses are expressed as a percentage of its average net assets. This figure is known as the expense ratio. The following examples are intended to help you understand the ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in your fund and to compare these costs with those of other mutual funds. The examples are based on an investment of $1,000 made at the beginning of the period shown and held for the entire period.

The accompanying table illustrates your fund's costs in two ways:

- Based on actual fund return. This section helps you to estimate the actual expenses that you paid over the period. The "Ending Account Value" shown is derived from the fund's actual return, and the third column shows the dollar amount that would have been paid by an investor who started with $1,000 in the fund. You may use the information here, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period.

To do so, simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number given for your fund under the heading "Expenses Paid During Period."

- Based on hypothetical 5% yearly return. This section is intended to help you compare your fund's costs with those of other mutual funds. It assumes that the fund had a yearly return of 5% before expenses, but that the expense ratio is unchanged. In this case—because the return used is not the fund's actual return—the results do not apply to your investment. The example is useful in making comparisons because the Securities and Exchange Commission requires all mutual funds to calculate expenses based on a 5% return. You can assess your fund's costs by comparing this hypothetical example with the hypothetical examples that appear in shareholder reports of other funds.

Note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight and help you compare ongoing costs only and do not reflect transaction costs incurred by the fund for buying and selling securities. Further, the expenses do not include any purchase, redemption, or account service fees described in the fund prospectus. If such fees were applied to your account, your costs would be higher. Your fund does not carry a "sales load."

The calculations assume no shares were bought or sold during the period. Your actual costs may have been higher or lower, depending on the amount of your investment and the timing of any purchases or redemptions.

You can find more information about the fund's expenses, including annual expense ratios, in the Financial Statements section of this report. For additional information on operating expenses and other shareholder costs, please refer to your fund's current prospectus.

| Institutional Shares | 1,000.00 | 1,024.05 | 0.75 |

The calculations are based on expenses incurred in the most recent six-month period. The funds' annualized six-month expense ratios for that period are: for the FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund, 0.26% for Investor Shares, 0.13% for ETF Shares, 0.13% for Admiral Shares, 0.11% for Institutional Shares, and 0.09% for Institutional Plus Shares; and for the FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund, 0.33% for Investor Shares, 0.17% for ETF Shares, and 0.15% for Institutional Shares. The dollar amounts shown as "Expenses Paid" are equal to the annualized expense ratio multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by the number of days in the most recent six-month period, then divided by the number of days in the most recent 12-month period.

Trustees Approve Advisory Arrangements

The board of trustees of Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US and FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Funds has renewed the funds' investment advisory arrangements with The Vanguard Group, Inc. (Vanguard). Vanguard's Equity Investment Group—through its Equity Index Group—serves as the investment advisor for each of the funds. The board determined that continuing the funds' internalized management structure was in the best interests of the funds and their shareholders.

The board based its decision upon an evaluation of the advisor's investment staff, portfolio management process, and performance. The trustees considered the factors discussed below, among others. However, no single factor determined whether the board approved the arrangements. Rather, it was the totality of the circumstances that drove the board's decision.

Nature, extent, and quality of services

The board reviewed the quality of the investment management services provided to the FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund since its inception in 2007 and to the FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund since its inception in 2009, and took into account the organizational depth and stability of the advisor. The board considered that Vanguard has been managing investments for more than three decades. The Equity Index Group adheres to a sound, disciplined investment management process; the team has considerable experience, stability, and depth.

The board concluded that Vanguard's experience, stability, depth, and performance, among other factors, warranted continuation of the advisory arrangements.

Investment performance

The board considered each fund's performance since its inception, including any periods of outperformance or underperformance relative to a target index and peer group. The board concluded that the performance was such that the advisory arrangements should continue. Information about the funds' most recent performance can be found in the Performance Summary sections of this report.

Cost

The board concluded that each fund's expense ratio was well below the average expense ratio charged by funds in its peer group and that each fund's advisory fee rate was also well below its peer-group average. Information about the funds' expenses appears in the About Your Fund's Expenses section of this report as well as in the Financial Statements sections.

The board does not conduct a profitability analysis of Vanguard because of Vanguard's unique "at-cost" structure. Unlike most other mutual fund management companies, Vanguard is owned by the funds it oversees, and produces "profits" only in the form of reduced expenses for fund shareholders.

The benefit of economies of scale

The board concluded that the funds' at-cost arrangements with Vanguard ensure that the funds will realize economies of scale as they grow, with the cost to shareholders declining as fund assets increase.

The board will consider whether to renew the advisory arrangements after a one-year period.

Glossary

Beta. A measure of the magnitude of a fund's past share-price fluctuations in relation to the ups and downs of a given market index. The index is assigned a beta of 1.00. Compared with a given index, a fund with a beta of 1.20 typically would have seen its share price rise or fall by 12% when the index rose or fell by 10%. For this report, beta is based on returns over the past 36 months for both the fund and the index. Note that a fund's beta should be reviewed in conjunction with its R-squared (see definition). The lower the R-squared, the less correlation there is between the fund and the index, and the less reliable beta is as an indicator of volatility.

Dividend Yield. Dividend income earned by stocks, expressed as a percentage of the aggregate market value (or of net asset value, for a fund). The yield is determined by dividing the amount of the annual dividends by the aggregate value (or net asset value) at the end of the period. For a fund, the dividend yield is based solely on stock holdings and does not include any income produced by other investments.

Earnings Growth Rate. The average annual rate of growth in earnings over the past five years for the stocks now in a fund.

Equity Exposure. A measure that reflects a fund's investments in stocks and stock futures. Any holdings in short-term reserves are excluded.

Expense Ratio. A fund's total annual operating expenses expressed as a percentage of the fund's average net assets. The expense ratio includes management and administrative expenses, but does not include the transaction costs of buying and selling portfolio securities.

Inception Date. The date on which the assets of a fund (or one of its share classes) are first invested in accordance with the fund's investment objective. For funds with a subscription period, the inception date is the day after that period ends. Investment performance is measured from the inception date.

Median Market Cap. An indicator of the size of companies in which a fund invests; the midpoint of market capitalization (market price x shares outstanding) of a fund's stocks, weighted by the proportion of the fund's assets invested in each stock. Stocks representing half of the fund's assets have market capitalizations above the median, and the rest are below it.

Price/Book Ratio. The share price of a stock divided by its net worth, or book value, per share. For a fund, the weighted average price/book ratio of the stocks it holds.

Price/Earnings Ratio. The ratio of a stock's current price to its per-share earnings over the past year. For a fund, the weighted average P/E of the stocks it holds. P/E is an indicator of market expectations about corporate prospects; the higher the P/E, the greater the expectations for a company's future growth.

R-Squared. A measure of how much of a fund's past returns can be explained by the returns from the market in general, as measured by a given index. If a fund's total returns were precisely synchronized with an index's returns, its R-squared would be 1.00. If the fund's returns bore no relationship to the index's returns, its R-squared would be 0. For this report, R-squared is based on returns over the past 36 months for both the fund and the index.

Return on Equity. The annual average rate of return generated by a company during the past five years for each dollar of shareholder's equity (net income divided by shareholder's equity). For a fund, the weighted average return on equity for the companies whose stocks it holds.

Short-Term Reserves. The percentage of a fund invested in highly liquid, short-term securities that can be readily converted to cash.

Turnover Rate. An indication of the fund's trading activity. Funds with high turnover rates incur higher transaction costs and may be more likely to distribute capital gains (which may be taxable to investors). The turnover rate excludes in-kind transactions, which have minimal impact on costs.

The People Who Govern Your Fund

The trustees of your mutual fund are there to see that the fund is operated and managed in your best interests since, as a shareholder, you are a part owner of the fund. Your fund's trustees also serve on the board of directors of The Vanguard Group, Inc., which is owned by the Vanguard funds and provides services to them on an at-cost basis.

A majority of Vanguard's board members are independent, meaning that they have no affiliation with Vanguard or the funds they oversee, apart from the sizable personal investments they have made as private individuals. The independent board members have distinguished backgrounds in business, academia, and public service. Each of the trustees and executive officers oversees 178 Vanguard funds.

The following table provides information for each trustee and executive officer of the fund. More information about the trustees is in the Statement of Additional Information, which can be obtained, without charge, by contacting Vanguard at 800-662-7447, or online at vanguard.com.
