COMPLETION OF ALUSA ACQUISITION

Amcor (ASX: AMC) announces today the completion of the Alusa acquisition, which was first announced on 18 April 2016.

Alusa is the largest flexible packaging business in South America. The business has four plants – one in each of Chile, Peru, Colombia and Argentina – and generates sales of approximately US$375 million.

Amcor now has a unique platform in an important growth region. Along with leadership positions in Europe and Asia, a strong presence in South America significantly improves Amcor's customer value proposition in the flexible packaging marketplace, positioning us as a partner of choice for customers.
