

31 May 2016SHARE PURCHASE PLAN

Deep Yellow Limited (ASX: DYL, Deep Yellow or the Company) is pleased to announce a Share Purchase Plan (SPP), providing shareholders an opportunity to increase their holding in the Company as it continues to advance a number of exciting opportunities.

Under the SPP, eligible shareholders will be able to purchase additional shares in Deep Yellow at a historically low price of 0.4 cents per share. This represents a 20% discount to the market price at close on the record date of 30 May 2016 and a 20% discount to the volume weighted average price of the past five trading days prior to announcement.

Shareholders are entitled to purchase up to $15,000 worth of additional shares without incurring brokerage or other transaction costs. Eligible shareholders include those registered as at 5pm WST on 30 May 2016 with a registered address in Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, Ireland, Namibia or the United Kingdom.

It is the intention of Directors to raise up to a maximum of $1,000,000 through the issue of 250,000,000 shares.

BACKGROUND TO THE OFFER

The SPP funds will principally be directed towards further testwork for the Company's Tumas Project with a view to advancing it to the next step, defining development parameters and for general working capital.

Tumas Project

DYL has recently announced promising interim results from metallurgical testwork being conducted on bulk samples sourced from the Tumas deposit. The results have provided a level of confidence that the proposed metallurgical flowsheet, developed by Marenica Energy Ltd (Marenica, ASX:MEY) is likely to work effectively in upgrading the Tumas mineralisation.

The Company has been working with Marenica since late 2013 when the first tests were reported to shareholders (December Quarter Activities Report - 2 February 2014). Subsequently, a small infill drilling program and a sophisticated geophysical modelling exercise completed in 2015 provided confidence that the Tumas – Tubas Palaeochannel was sufficiently prospective to warrant further work.

In December 2015 and January 2016, samples were excavated from the infill drilling area within the Tumas Zone 1 resource and shipped to Perth to the Nagrom laboratory. Under the supervision of Marenica and the Company's independent Consulting Metallurgist Mr Martin Errington a testwork program commenced which is designed to assess the amenability of the beneficiation process to the Tumas calccrete ore.

The process in its simplest form involves the physical beneficiation of the sample through two key stages before moving to concentrate the remaining uranium minerals.

Interim results have appeared to show that the crucial de-sliming and carbonate (calcite) removal step works effectively on the samples provided which is very encouraging. If the testwork program is successful, the process will enable a significant reduction in the mass being handled with a minor loss of the primary mineral (Refer Figure 1).

The Tumas Palaeochannel hosts calcrete ore, a secondary uranium mineralisation primarily in the form of carnotite.

Calcrete ores such as Tumas are characterised by carbonate minerals and fine particulate material. The presence of carbonate minerals excludes the use of acid leaching due to the high acid consumption and thus the conventional approach is to leach these ore types with alkali, a high temperature, slow kinetics and relatively high cost process. The inclusion of fine particulate material in the ores produces materials handling issues, which result in higher operating costs and reduced uranium recovery.

Removal of carbonate minerals produces a concentrate with minimal acid consumers, a suitable feed for the faster kinetics, lower operating and capital cost acid leach process. Removal of the fine particulate material greatly improves the materials handling characteristics, which is a significant advantage for a beneficiation process and subsequent leach and solid/liquid separation stages.

The interim results determined that >95% of the carbonate minerals could be removed with a loss of <5% of the uranium. The de-sliming step rejected ~27% of the mass as fine particulate material with <7% of the uranium feeding the de-slime stage. These interim results have demonstrated that the critical carbonate and desliming steps of the process do work on the Tumas samples provided, which is very encouraging. The process will enable a significant reduction in the mass being handled with a minor loss of the primary mineral.

Testwork is continuing on further upgrading of the uranium into a low mass concentrate. As recently announced, results of interim testwork to date indicate that a concentrate containing <3% of the ore feed mass, grading >13,000 ppm U₃O₈ and containing >82% of the uranium can be generated from the Tumas samples.

The final concentrate will be suitable for processing using conventional acid leaching and refining technology to produce yellowcake. Alternatively, the concentrate produced may be safely and cost-effectively transported to third parties for final processing.

The Company has consistently sought opportunities to become a producer via a fast track, relatively low capex development strategy. The objective to develop an operation capable of cost effectively producing a high grade intermediate product for satellite supply to any one of the existing Namibian uranium mines appears to be a step closer and if the current testwork program is successful then the Company will be in a strong position to deliver on its strategy.

SHARE PURCHASE PLAN (SPP) DETAILS AND TIMETABLE

New shares under the SPP will be offered at 0.4 cents which is a discount to the volume weighted average price of shares traded over the previous 5 days prior to this announcement of 20% and to the market price at close on the record date of 20%.

The issue will be limited to 250,000,000 shares to raise a total of $1,000,000. However, should demand exceed this amount, the directors reserve the right to accept over subscriptions or to scale back applications in their absolute discretion.
