Collaboration with the Future Industries Institute at the University of South Australia

ZKP Group Limited (ZKP) is pleased to announce a collaboration with the Future Industries Institute at the University of South Australia.

The collaboration initially involves a three-month scoping study where a member of the Group's research and development (R&D) team will work within the Future Industries laboratories in Adelaide to scope out a joint research project to be undertaken by ZKP and the Future Industries Institute (Project).

The Project will aim to improve manufacturing processes and assist with new product development consistent with the Group's planned R&D program. The Company anticipates the Project will receive the support of the South Australian Government and has submitted an application to the South Australian Government for joint funding of the Project.
