Dear Sirs

Nanopac Innovation Limited ( NSX:NNO) – Frankfurt Stock Exchange

Nanopac Innovation Limited (NSX:NNO) advises that its securities are no longer listed on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange. (FSE). The last day that the shares were tradeable on FSE was 19 September 2018.

The Company has received no formal advise from FSE. Upon the Company being advised of this occurring it contracted its listing agent in Germany who confirmed the situation. The Company has been advised by its listing agent that the reason for the delisting of its securities relates not to the Company but to the FSE no longer accepting dual listings of companies listed on the National Stock Exchange of Australia Ltd (NSX).

The Company is currently seeking alternative dual listing opportunities to assist investors to trade the Company's securities.

Currently investors who hold interests in securities through Clearstream will no longer be able to trade those securities on the FSE. If investors wish to trade those securities on an exchange, they will have to do so on NSX at this time. In order to do so the securities will need to be transferred via off market transfers from Clearstream into the Chess system. Please contact the Company Secretary, Andrew Bristow on (+61) (0) 403 192230 or at highgatecorporateadvisors@gmail.com.au if you require assistance in this regard.

Yours faithfully
