We believe the combination of Kate's clear leadership qualities and her broad range of relevant experience made her the standout choice in a field of high quality candidates.

"We look forward to Kate leading Chorus' people to build on the excellent platform left for her by Mark Ratcliffe, and the successful roll out of Ultra-fast Broadband," he said.

Kate McKenzie said "As a provider of strategically critical infrastructure, Chorus has a pivotal role to play in New Zealand's future and I am looking forward to contributing to the next stage of its development, with a strong focus on delivering great experiences for customers.

"I have admired Chorus' roll out of very high quality broadband infrastructure and I look forward to playing my part in working with the rest of the telecommunications sector to make it as easy as possible for our customers to enjoy the benefits of this nation-wide upgrade and all of the social and economic benefits that will deliver."

Patrick Strange and the Board thanked Mark Ratcliffe for his service as CEO.

“Following a handover period in February, Mark will step down from Chorus with the thanks and best wishes of the Board for a job well done.

“Having skillfully navigated through the establishment of Chorus and some tumultuous years, Mark can step down knowing the fibre rollout is going well, the company is in a strong position and it has been recognised as one of the best employers in Australasia for five consecutive years,” he said.
