Press Release

Zeta Energy Pte Ltd (“Zeta Energy”)

Zeta Energy’s offer for New Zealand Oil & Gas Limited now closed

Zeta Energy’s offer for New Zealand Oil & Gas Limited (“NZO”) closed yesterday. The minimum acceptance condition was not met, and accordingly the offer has now lapsed.

Any acceptances for Zeta Energy’s offer no longer have any effect, and shareholders who have lodged acceptances for Zeta Energy’s offer can now, if they wish, accept the O.G. Oil & Gas Limited (“OGOG”) offer in respect of the shares tendered to Zeta Resources, along with any shares not tendered.

Zeta Energy has been a significant shareholder in NZO for a number of years. Duncan Saville, Chairman of Zeta Energy, commented “In recent times the NZO board of directors have focussed on reducing exploration commitments in Indonesia, removing potential rehabilitation liabilities in New Zealand, downsizing corporate overhead, and maximising exploration optionality. We have largely been successful in these goals, which is reflected in the steady NZO share price appreciation since January 2016 (when the share price was 39 cents) to OGOG’s current offer of 78 cents. During the same period, NZO shareholders have benefited from significant capital returns as part of a $100m share cancellation.”
