Role rotation for two Transpower executives

Transpower announces the rotation of two General Manager roles within its existing executive team.

Effective 1 June 2020, John Clarke and Dr Stephen Jay will swap roles and responsibilities. John Clarke will take the role of General Manager Grid Development while Dr Jay will take the role of General Manager Operations.

Both General Managers have been in their current roles for around six years.

Chief Executive Alison Andrew says Transpower employs rotation to build capability across its executive team, enabling new insights and approaches to be brought to key roles while retaining critical institutional knowledge.
