Turners launches new investor website

Turners has launched a new investor website at www.turnersautogroup.co.nz today. This continues a range of initiatives to increase investor engagement and improve transparency on the information that we provide to our shareholders.

The website has been redesigned and upgraded to make the site easier to navigate, the information is easier to access and is a better reflection of the modern company that we are.

All relevant company content such as NZX/ASX releases, presentations, and video content will be accessible on the site.
