

News Release

For release: 10 February 2023

Issue of A$1,000 million of 6.736 per cent. Fixed to Floating Rate Subordinated Notes

Notice under section 708A(12H)(e) of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cwlth)

Today Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited (ABN 11 005 357 522) ("Issuer") will issue A$1,000 million of subordinated notes due February 2038 pursuant to its Australian dollar debt issuance programme (the "Subordinated Notes").

The Subordinated Notes convert into fully paid ordinary shares of ANZ Group Holdings Limited (ACN 659 510 791) ("ANZ NOHC") ("Ordinary Shares") where the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority ("APRA") determines this to be necessary on the grounds that the Issuer would otherwise become non-viable.

This notice is given jointly by the Issuer and ANZ NOHC. It is a cleansing notice prepared for the purposes of section 708A(12H)(e) of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cwlth) ("Corporations Act") (as inserted by ASIC Corporations (Regulatory Capital Securities) Instrument 2016/71) to enable Ordinary Shares or Approved NOHC Ordinary Shares¹ issued on conversion of the Subordinated Notes to be freely tradeable without further disclosure and includes:

1. the description of the rights and liabilities attaching to the Subordinated Notes that is contained in the "Conditions of the Securities" section of the Information Memorandum dated 7 December 2022 that was lodged with the Australian Securities Exchange ("ASX") on that day ("Information Memorandum");
2. in Schedule 1, commercial particulars of the Subordinated Notes, extracted from the Pricing Supplement for the Subordinated Notes dated 10 February 2023; and
3. in Schedule 2, a description of the rights and liabilities attaching to Ordinary Shares.

Words and expressions defined in the Information Memorandum have the same meanings in the remainder of this cleansing notice unless the contrary intention appears.

The issue of Subordinated Notes by the Issuer will not have a material impact on the Issuer's or ANZ NOHC's financial position. If a Non-Viability Trigger Event occurs and ANZ NOHC issues

¹ Refer to the Information Memorandum for the meaning of "Approved NOHC Ordinary Shares" in the context of the Subordinated Notes.

Ordinary Shares, the impact of Conversion on the ANZ NOHC would be to increase ANZ NOHC's shareholders' equity. The number of Ordinary Shares issued on Conversion is limited to the Maximum Conversion Number. The Maximum Conversion Number is 199.362 Ordinary Shares per Subordinated Note (with a Principal Amount of A$1,000), based on the Issue Date VWAP² of A$25.08.

As a disclosing entity, ANZ NOHC is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations under the Corporations Act and ASX Listing Rules. Broadly, these obligations require ANZ NOHC to prepare and lodge with the Australian Securities and Investments Commission ("ASIC") both yearly and half yearly financial statements and to report on its operations during the relevant accounting period, and to obtain an audit or review report from its auditor.

Copies of documents lodged with ASIC may be obtained from or inspected at an ASIC office.

ANZ NOHC must ensure that the ASX is continuously notified of information about specific events and matters as they arise for the purposes of the ASX making the information available to the Australian securities market. In this regard, ANZ NOHC has an obligation under the ASX Listing Rules (subject to certain exceptions) to notify the ASX immediately of any information concerning it of which it becomes aware, which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of its quoted securities.

ANZ NOHC will provide a copy of any of the following documents free of charge to any person who requests a copy before the Subordinated Notes are issued:

- the Information Memorandum;
- any continuous disclosure notices given by ANZ NOHC in the period after its listing on the ASX and before the date of this notice; and
- ANZ NOHC's constitution.

All written requests for copies of the above documents should be addressed to:

833 Collins Street
Docklands Vic 3008

Approved for distribution by ANZ's Continuous Disclosure Committee.

NOT FOR RELEASE, PUBLICATION OR DISTRIBUTION IN WHOLE OR IN PART IN OR INTO THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

This notice is not a prospectus or other disclosure document in relation to the Subordinated Notes, and does not constitute an offer or invitation for the Subordinated Notes or any Ordinary Shares for issue or sale in Australia. Subordinated Notes are only available for sale to persons in Australia in circumstances where disclosure is not required in accordance with Part 6D.2 and the sale is not to a retail client for the purposes of Chapter 7 of the Corporations Act. The securities have not been, and will not be, registered under the U.S. Securities Act of

ANNEXURE A ANZ NOHC UPDATES

The Approved NOHC Substitution Date (as defined in the Conditions) occurred on 3 January 2023.

1. The section entitled “Non-Operating Holding Company” in the Information Memorandum shall be updated as follows:

The Issuer has established a non-operating holding company, ANZ Group Holdings Limited ACN 659 510 791 (“ANZ NOHC”), as the new listed parent holding company of the Group by a scheme of arrangement and has separated the Issuer’s banking and certain non-banking businesses into the ANZ Bank Group and ANZ Non-Bank Group. The ANZ Bank Group comprises the Issuer and the majority of its subsidiaries. The ANZ Non-Bank Group houses banking-adjacent businesses developed or to be acquired by the Group, as the Issuer continues to seek ways to bring the best new technology and banking-adjacent services to its customers.

The following definitions apply:

- “ANZ Bank HoldCo” means ANZ BH Pty Ltd (ACN 658 939 952), a non-operating intermediate holding company owned by ANZ NOHC and which owns the ANZ Bank Group subsidiaries (including the Issuer).
- “ANZ Bank Group” means all businesses and entities owned by ANZ Bank HoldCo, including the Issuer and ANZ New Zealand.
- “ANZBGL Group” means the Issuer and each of its subsidiaries.
- “ANZ NOHC” means ANZ Group Holdings Limited (ACN 659 510 791).
- “ANZ NOHC Group” means all businesses owned or controlled by the ANZ NOHC (including ANZ Bank HoldCo, the Issuer, and ANZ Non-Bank HoldCo).
- “ANZ Non-Bank Group” means ANZ Group Services Pty Ltd (ACN 658 940 900) and all businesses and entities owned by ANZ Non-Bank HoldCo, including ANZ’s beneficial interests in the 1835i trusts, non-controlling interest in the Worldline merchant acquiring joint venture, and equity interests in Lygon, TIN and Pollination.
- “ANZ Non-Bank HoldCo” means ANZ NBH Pty Ltd (ACN 658 941 096), a non-operating intermediate holding company owned by ANZ NOHC and which owns certain nonbanking subsidiaries.
- “Group” means the ANZBGL Group or the ANZ NOHC Group as a whole (including all businesses), as the context requires.
- “Issuer” means Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited (ACN 005 357 522).
- “Restructure” means the restructure of the ANZBGL Group implemented by the: 1. Scheme; and 2. business restructure.
- “Scheme” means the scheme of arrangement under Part 5.1 of the Corporations Act implemented on 3 January 2023.

As a result of the Restructure, the Issuer’s pre-Restructure operating groups and financial statements do not reflect the ANZBGL Group’s operating groups and businesses, taken as a whole, primarily because certain assets and businesses were transferred and additional assets and businesses may in the future be transferred to the ANZ Non-Bank Group, which are not owned, directly or indirectly, by the Issuer. Any assets transferred to, or acquired by, the ANZ Non-Bank Group are not available to service the indebtedness represented by the Notes. While those assets are not material relative to the total assets of the ANZBGL Group as at 30 September 2022, those assets, as well as any other assets outside the ANZBGL Group, may in the future represent a greater proportion of the post-Restructure Group’s total assets.

2. The section entitled “Description of Ordinary Shares of the Issuer and the ANZ NOHC” shall be updated as follows:

The rights and liabilities attaching to the ordinary shares of the ANZ NOHC are set out in the constitution of the ANZ NOHC (“Constitution”) and are also regulated by the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules and the general law. A summary of the key rights attaching to the ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares is as follows. Investors who wish to inspect the Constitution may do so at the registered office of the ANZ NOHC during normal office hours.

Voting rights

Subject to any rights or restrictions attached to any shares or class of shares, a registered holder of an ANZ NOHC Ordinary Share (“Shareholder”) is entitled to attend and vote at a general meeting of the ANZ NOHC. Any resolution being considered at a general meeting is decided on a show of hands unless a poll is held. On a show of hands, each Shareholder present has one vote. On a poll, each Shareholder has one vote for each ANZ NOHC Ordinary Share. Partly paid ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares confer that fraction of a vote which is equal to the proportion which the amount paid bears to the total issue price of the ANZ NOHC Ordinary Share.

General meetings

Notice of a general meeting must be given to each Shareholder in accordance with the Corporations Act. Each Shareholder is entitled to receive notices, financial statements and other documents required to be provided to Shareholders under the Constitution, Corporations Act and ASX Listing Rules.

Dividend entitlement

Subject to the Corporations Act, the Constitution and the terms of issue of ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares, the board of directors of the ANZ NOHC (“Board”) may resolve to pay dividends on ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares which are considered by the Board to be appropriate, in proportion to the capital paid up on the ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares held by each Shareholder (subject to the rights of holders of shares carrying preferred rights).

Dividend reinvestment plan and bonus option plan

Shareholders who are eligible may participate in the ANZ NOHC's dividend reinvestment plan or bonus option plan, as in force from time to time, in accordance with (and subject to) the rules of those plans. Shareholders who are subject to the laws of a country or place other than Australia may not be eligible to participate, because of legal requirements that apply in that country or place or in Australia. Until the Board otherwise determines, participation in the ANZ NOHC's dividend reinvestment plan and bonus option plan is not available directly or indirectly to any entity or person (including any legal or beneficial owner of ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares) who is (or who is acting on behalf of or for the account or benefit of an entity or person who is) in or resident in the United States (including its territories or possessions) or Canada.

Rights of shareholders on a winding-up of the ANZ NOHC

If the ANZ NOHC is wound up and its property is more than sufficient to pay all debts, share capital of the ANZ NOHC and expenses of the winding-up, the excess must be divided among Shareholders in proportion to the capital paid up on the ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares at the commencement of the winding-up (subject to the rights of holders of shares carrying preferred rights on winding-up). A partly paid ANZ NOHC Ordinary Share is counted as a fraction of a fully paid ANZ NOHC Ordinary Share equal to the proportion which the amount paid on it bears to the total issue price of the ANZ NOHC Ordinary Share.

However, with the sanction of a special resolution, the liquidator may divide among Shareholders the assets of the ANZ NOHC in kind and decide how the division is to be carried out or vest assets in trustees of any trusts for the benefit of Shareholders as the liquidator thinks appropriate.

Transfer of ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares

ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares may be transferred by any means permitted by the Corporations Act or by law. The Board may decline to register a transfer where permitted to do so under the ASX Listing Rules or the settlement operating rules of the ASX ("ASX Settlement Operating Rules"), or where registration of the transfer is forbidden by the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules or ASX Settlement Operating Rules. In addition, subject to the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules and ASX Settlement Operating Rules, the Board may decline to register a transfer if registration would create a new holding of less than a marketable parcel under the ASX Listing Rules.

Issues of further shares

Subject to the Constitution, Corporations Act and ASX Listing Rules, the Board may issue or grant options in respect of ANZ NOHC Ordinary Shares on such terms as the Board decides. The Board may also issue preference shares, including redeemable preference shares, or convertible notes with preferred, deferred or special rights or restrictions in relation to dividends, voting, return of capital and participation in surplus on a winding-up of the ANZ NOHC.

Variation of the Constitution

The Constitution can only be modified by a special resolution in accordance with the Corporations Act. Under the Corporations Act, for a resolution to be passed as a special resolution it must be passed by at least 75 per cent. of the votes cast by members entitled to vote on the resolution.

Variation of rights

The ANZ NOHC may only modify or vary the rights attaching to any class of shares with the prior approval, by a special resolution, of the holders of shares in that class at a meeting of those holders, or with the written consent of the holders of at least 75 per. cent of the issued shares of that class. Subject to the terms of issue, the rights attached to a class of shares are not treated as varied by the issue of further shares which rank equally with that existing class for participation in profits and assets of the ANZ NOHC.

SCHEDULE 2 – Description of rights and liabilities attaching to Ordinary Shares

The rights and liabilities attaching to Ordinary Shares are set out in the constitution of ANZ NOHC ("Constitution") and are also regulated by the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules and the general law. A summary of the key rights attaching to the Ordinary Shares is set out below. Investors who wish to inspect the Constitution may do so at the registered office of the ANZ NOHC during normal office hours.

Voting rights

Subject to any rights or restrictions attached to any shares or class of shares, a registered holder of an Ordinary Share ("Shareholder") is entitled to attend and vote at a general meeting of ANZ NOHC. Any resolution being considered at a general meeting is decided on a show of hands unless a poll is held. On a show of hands, each Shareholder present has one vote.

On a poll, each Shareholder has one vote for each Ordinary Share. Partly paid Ordinary Shares confer that fraction of a vote which is equal to the proportion which the amount paid bears to the total issue price of the Ordinary Share.

General meetings

Notice of a general meeting must be given to each Shareholder in accordance with the Corporations Act. Each Shareholder is entitled to receive notices, financial statements and other documents required to be provided to Shareholders under the Constitution, Corporations Act and ASX Listing Rules.

Dividend entitlement

Subject to the Corporations Act, the Constitution and the terms of issue of Ordinary Shares, the board of directors of ANZ NOHC ("Board") may resolve to pay dividends on Ordinary Shares which are considered by the Board to be appropriate, in proportion to the capital paid up on the Ordinary Shares held by each Shareholder (subject to the rights of holders of shares carrying preferred rights).

Dividend reinvestment plan and bonus option plan

Shareholders who are eligible may participate in ANZ NOHC's dividend reinvestment plan or bonus option plan, as in force from time to time, in accordance with (and subject to) the rules of those plans. Shareholders who are subject to the laws of a country or place other than Australia may not be eligible to participate, because of legal requirements that apply in that country or place or in Australia. Until the Board otherwise determines, participation in ANZ NOHC's dividend reinvestment plan and bonus option plan is not available directly or indirectly to any entity or person (including any legal or beneficial owner of Ordinary Shares) who is (or who is acting on behalf of or for the account or benefit of an entity or person who is) in or resident in the United States (including its territories or possessions) or Canada.

Rights of shareholders on a winding-up of ANZ NOHC

If ANZ NOHC is wound up and its property is more than sufficient to pay all debts, share capital of ANZ NOHC and expenses of the winding-up, the excess must be divided among Shareholders in proportion to the capital paid up on the Ordinary Shares at the commencement of the winding-up (subject to the rights of holders of shares carrying preferred rights on winding-up). A partly paid Ordinary Share is counted as a fraction of a fully paid Ordinary Share equal to the proportion which the amount paid on it bears to the total issue price of the Ordinary Share.

However, with the sanction of a special resolution, the liquidator may divide among Shareholders the assets of ANZ NOHC in kind and decide how the division is to be carried out or vest assets in trustees of any trusts for the benefit of Shareholders as the liquidator thinks appropriate.

Transfer of ordinary shares

Ordinary Shares may be transferred by any means permitted by the Corporations Act or by law. The Board may decline to register a transfer where permitted to do so under the ASX Listing Rules or the settlement operating rules of the ASX ("ASX Settlement Operating Rules"), or where registration of the transfer is forbidden by the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules or ASX Settlement Operating Rules. In addition, subject to the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules and ASX Settlement Operating Rules, the Board may decline to register a transfer if registration would create a new holding of less than a marketable parcel under the ASX Listing Rules.

Issues of further shares

Subject to the Constitution, Corporations Act and ASX Listing Rules, the Board may issue or grant options in respect of Ordinary Shares on such terms as the Board decides. The Board may also issue preference shares, including redeemable preference shares, or convertible notes with preferred, deferred or special rights or restrictions in relation to dividends, voting, return of capital and participation in surplus on a winding-up of ANZ NOHC.

Variation of the Constitution

The Constitution can only be modified by a special resolution in accordance with the Corporations Act. Under the Corporations Act, for a resolution to be passed as a special resolution it must be passed by at least 75 per cent. of the votes cast by members entitled to vote on the resolution.

Variation of rights

ANZ NOHC may only modify or vary the rights attaching to any class of shares with the prior approval, by a special resolution, of the holders of shares in that class at a meeting of those holders, or with the written consent of the holders of at least 75 per cent. of the issued shares of that class.

Subject to the terms of issue, the rights attached to a class of shares are not treated as varied by the issue of further shares which rank equally with that existing class for participation in profits and assets of ANZ NOHC.
