CPT GLOBAL COMPLETES AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT INFORMATION MANAGEMENT OFFICE (AGIMO) ANALYSIS.

Australian based specialist ICT Consultants CPT Global has completed an analysis for the Australian Government Information Management Office (AGIMO). The analysis and report was focussed upon future Australian Government data centre requirements and the development of a demand forecasting model.

AGIMO leads the Federal Whole of Government ICT Data Centre strategy within the Department of Finance and Deregulation, and has been designated to develop a whole-of-government approach for Australian Government data centre requirements for the next 10 to 15 years.

CPT has leveraged its local and international expertise, its independent data centre Cost Reduction model, together with its Performance and Capacity Management practices to develop a data centre demand forecasting model.

"We are delighted to have assisted the Federal Government with this strategic engagement. We have leveraged our local and international experience in Capacity Management and Data Centre cost reductions to model the Australian Government's demand for data centres" said CPT Managing Director Mr Gerry Tuddenham. "We've provided significant data centre cost savings for many of our global clients, and as a long time advocate of Sustainable Cost Management, CPT looks forward to providing similar benefits to the Australian Government."

The team of senior consultants was led by Mr Peter Wright, Executive Director and Head of CPT's Management Consulting Services.

All of CPT's Technical Consulting services are aimed at optimising ICT costs. Through expert performance tuning and capacity management, CPT can identify opportunities for immediate and sustainable cost optimisation in both mainframe and midrange environments as well as contributing to Green IT goals as a by-product.

CPT Global Limited has offices in Melbourne, Sydney, Canberra, London, Munich and New York.
