Eneabba expands its tenement acreage

Australian energy company Eneabba Gas Limited (ASX: ENB) (“EGL” or “the Company”) has been granted additional tenement acreage in the Perth Basin by the Department of Mines and Petroleum (“DMP”) with the Grant of Exploration Licence E 70 / 3654.

This additional acreage increases the total area of Eneabba Mining Pty Ltd (“EMPL”) tenements to 1,175 square kilometres. This tenement will also, once confirmed by DMP, become part of the Combined Reporting Group C 240 / 2007, known as the Sargon tenements.

The attached map shows E 70 / 3654 (shaded yellow), being on the north western end of the acreage. The extension is important along with tenement E 70 / 3314, to maximise the future potential of coal resources that have already been delineated in tenement E 70 / 2758, which has been the subject of a JORC Resources study in that area.

EMPL is desirous to move quickly, once a final analysis of the latest exploration results has been undertaken, to ensure that EMPL can lodge an application for a Mining Lease in the area and to begin operations.
