ASX Release

Senior Management Change at IronClad

The Directors of IronClad Mining Limited (ASX:IFE) wish to announce that Mr Patrick Clifford has resigned his position as General Manager – Projects, due to personal reasons.

The directors have accepted Mr Clifford's resignation with regret since, in only two years, he has been instrumental in taking the Wilcherry Hill iron ore project from a successful exploration project through to its current, near production, status.

In so doing Mr Clifford assembled a first class project management team based in Adelaide and quickly established IronClad as a major player in the emerging junior / mid tier iron ore industry. The directors wish to thank him for his invaluable contribution to the project and the Company and wish him well in any future endeavours.

Mr Alister Hertel, the current Operations manager, has agreed to take over Mr Clifford's role and will act as overall Project Manager, reporting to the Executive Chairman until a suitable replacement for Mr Clifford can be found.

Executive Chairman
