

ASX Release

9th June 2011

Newly updated and redesigned QMC website.

QMC has updated and redesigned its website which contains a wide range of information on QMC's various projects, the direction the company is taking and its expanded capabilities.

The expanded website will keep shareholders and interested parties updated on what is happening at QMC as it moves into the next and exciting phase of the company's growth in accelerating the development of its copper and gold assets, in particular the White Range project.

Mr Howard Renshaw, the Managing Director, said " With the recently enhanced management team we are well placed through drilling to focus our resources on upgrading and increasing the company's JORC Resources in conjunction with reviewing and updating the feasibility study of the White Range project over the next 6 months."
