Chairman's Letter

Dear Shareholder,

After a bumpy ride, international markets bounced back in September and October, delivering solid returns for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2010. Emerging markets again surpassed developed European and Pacific markets, although results were less extraordinary than those of a year ago.

The three Vanguard international index funds in this report posted positive results for the fiscal year. The Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund took the lead, climbing about 25% for the period and outperforming the broad U.S. stock market, which returned about 19%. The Pacific Stock Index Fund was next in line, with a return of about 11%, while the European Stock Index Fund brought up the rear, returning about 9%.

All three funds succeeded in closely tracking their respective benchmark indexes. However, because of temporary differences arising from fair-value pricing policies, the funds' returns appear to have diverged from those of their benchmarks, which are not adjusted for fair value. The concept and its rationale are explained on page 8.

On another matter, in October Vanguard broadened the availability of our Admiral Shares. We reduced the Admiral minimums for most of our index funds to $10,000 from $100,000, as part of our ongoing efforts to lower the cost of investing for our clients. We also announced plans to introduce Institutional Plus Shares for the International Stock Index Funds. These lower-cost shares would require a minimum investment of $100 million.

Note: If you own one or more of the funds in a taxable account, you may wish to review the details of the funds' after-tax returns on page 79. Also, each fund's Statement of Net Assets has been abbreviated to include its 50 largest holdings and any other holdings that represent 1% or more of fund assets. The shorter list helps us reduce printing and postage costs. A complete list of your fund's securities is available on our website at vanguard.com.

Stock market performance was better than it felt

Global stock prices rallied at the start of the period, but struggled through the spring and summer, weighed down by Europe's sovereign debt crisis and the slow pace of economic recovery in the United States. In the fiscal year's final months, the mood turned. Stock prices climbed on continued strength in corporate earnings. In the United States, stocks also seemed to get a boost from the Federal Reserve Board's hints that it would try to stimulate the economy with a second round of U.S. Treasury bond purchases. (In early November, the Fed announced that it would buy as much as $600 billion in Treasuries.)

For the 12 months, the broad U.S. stock market returned about 19%, a performance that was better than it felt in a year of ups and downs. Small-capitalization stocks did even better. International stocks returned about 13% on the strength of a powerful rally in emerging markets and solid single-digit gains in developed markets in Europe and the Pacific region.

Despite shrinking yields, bonds attracted investor dollars

Although fixed income yields have fallen to generational lows, investors continued to bid up bond prices. The broad U.S. bond market produced a 12-month return of about 8% as the yield of the 10-year U.S. Treasury note fell from 3.39% at the start of the period to 2.61% at the close. Tax-exempt municipal bonds also rallied.

Bond prices and yields move in opposite directions, of course, so abundant returns built on rising prices could mean leaner pickings in the years ahead.

The yields of money market securities hovered near 0%, consistent with the Federal Reserve Board's target for short-term rates.

Emerging markets outperform again

For the second year in a row, emerging markets recorded the largest gains for the 12-month period, besting stocks in Europe, the Pacific region, and the United States. The Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund returned about 25% for the period, benefiting from a general rally in the emerging markets countries.

The fund expense ratios shown are from the prospectus dated February 26, 2010, and represent estimated costs for the current fiscal year. For the fiscal year ended October 31, 2010, the funds' expense ratios were: for the European Stock Index Fund, 0.26% for Investor Shares, 0.14% for Admiral Shares, 0.14% for Signal Shares, 0.10% for Institutional Shares, and 0.14% for ETF Shares; for the Pacific Stock Index Fund, 0.26% for Investor Shares, 0.14% for Admiral Shares, 0.14% for Signal Shares, 0.10% for Institutional Shares, and 0.14% for ETF Shares; and for the Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund, 0.35% for Investor Shares, 0.22% for Admiral Shares, 0.22% for Signal Shares, 0.15% for Institutional Shares, and 0.22% for ETF Shares.

Peer groups: For the European Stock Index Fund, European Region Funds; for the Pacific Stock Index Fund, Japan/Pacific Region Funds; for the Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund, Emerging Markets Funds.

Brazil was the index's biggest contributor for the period, accounting for more than 3 percentage points of the total return. Meanwhile, five other countries, South Korea, India, South Africa, China, and Taiwan, each contributed more than 2 percentage points to returns. The Czech Republic and Egypt were the only countries in the index that posted negative results for the period.

The rally included all areas of the market, and each of the ten industry sectors gained. Financials, which accounted for about 25% of the index's capitalization, on average during the period, contributed most significantly to returns. Commercial banks alone made up more than 5 percentage points of the index's total return. Materials, consumer discretionary, and consumer staples were also important contributors to performance.

A solid year for Pacific Rim countries

The countries in the Pacific region failed to keep pace with the United States and emerging markets countries for the 12 months ended October 31. However, the region still posted a strong showing for the period, and the Pacific Stock Index Fund gained about 11%.

Australia, which represented an average of about 24% of the index's value during the fiscal year, contributed most significantly to returns. The country's strong economic growth made up almost 4 percentage points of the index's total return. Meanwhile, Japan, which accounted for more than 60% of assets, on average, during the period, added just over 2 percentage points to the index's returns. The region's remaining countries—Hong Kong, Singapore, and New Zealand—also saw economic growth during the year.

All ten market sectors posted positive returns in the Pacific region. Industrials, materials, and financials were the largest contributors to performance. Stocks in these sectors benefited from continued growth in China.

European region overcomes debt crisis

European markets generated solid results for the 12 months, returning about 9%. This is impressive, considering that the beginning of the period was marred by fears about the sovereign debt crisis in several European countries, most notably Greece.

The United Kingdom, Europe's largest market, gained almost 13% for the 12-month period. Economic growth

Investment insight

A note on fair-value pricing

The reported return of a fund that tracks an index sometimes may diverge from the index's return a bit more than would be expected. This may be the result of a fair-value pricing adjustment.

These adjustments, which are required by the Securities and Exchange Commission, address pricing discrepancies that may arise because of time-zone differences among global stock markets. Foreign stocks may trade on exchanges that close many hours before a fund's closing share price is calculated in the United States, generally at 4 p.m., Eastern time. In the hours between the foreign close and the U.S. close, the value of these foreign securities may change—because of company-specific announcements or market-wide developments, for example. Such price changes are not immediately reflected in international index values.

Fair-value pricing takes such changes into account in calculating the fund's daily net asset value, thus ensuring that the NAV doesn't include "stale" prices. The result can be a temporary divergence between the return of the fund and that of its benchmark index—a difference that usually corrects itself when the foreign markets reopen.

was stronger than expected in the third calendar quarter, and the country added almost 4 percentage points to the index's total returns. Germany and Switzerland were also key contributors to the index's performance. A handful of countries posted negative results for the period, but Greece was the most significant detractor. The country's stock market value dropped almost 50% over concerns that the government would default on its debts.

The index posted gains in nine out of ten industry sectors for the fiscal period. The most significant contributors were stocks in the consumer-oriented, materials, and industrials sectors. Financials, the largest sector in the index—accounting for an average of 22% of assets—was the only sector to post negative results. The sector was hit hard, again mostly because of concerns over the debt crisis.

Funds' long-term performance aligns with respective benchmarks

For the ten years ended October 31, the Vanguard International Stock Index Funds met their shared objective of closely tracking their respective benchmarks. The funds also outperformed the average annual returns of their respective peer groups.

At first glance, ten-year returns for the Pacific Stock Index Fund and the European Stock Index Fund may not appear all that impressive. However, it's important to keep in mind that these returns reflect a decade in which global stock markets endured more than their fair share of ups and downs. Over the ten-year period, all three of the funds significantly outperformed the broad U.S. stock market, which returned an average of 1.02% per year.

The funds' solid long-term performance is a tribute to the index-management skills of the funds' advisor, Vanguard Quantitative Equity Group. The funds' extremely low costs also help you keep a larger proportion of the funds' returns.

International investing can help provide diversification

The ups and downs of the global stock markets have become all too familiar these days. The variation in performance from region to region highlights the value of a diversified portfolio. Markets around the globe may be affected by similar events, but their response to those shifts often differs. Our research suggests that, over time, those differences can become more pronounced. As the impact of a global shock such as the recent financial crisis recedes, stock markets once again take their cues from developments in local economies, enhancing the risk-return properties of a globally diversified portfolio.

For these reasons, Vanguard encourages you to create a plan that includes a mix of stocks, bonds, and short-term investments appropriate for your goals and risk tolerance—and to stick with that plan, regardless of market conditions.

A well-balanced portfolio can help provide some cushion during the market's downward swings, while allowing you to participate in its long-term potential for growth. Vanguard's low-cost International Stock Index Funds offer broad exposure to international markets and can help diversify such an investment plan.

Thank you for entrusting your assets to Vanguard.

Sincerely,

For the second and fourth fiscal quarters, the complete listing of the fund's holdings is available electronically on vanguard.com and on the Securities and Exchange Commission's website (sec.gov), or you can have it mailed to you without charge by calling 800-662-7447. Forms N-Q may also be reviewed and copied at the SEC's Public Reference Room (see the back cover of this report for further information).

Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard European Stock Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers five classes of shares: Investor Shares, Admiral Shares, Signal Shares, Institutional Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Admiral Shares, Signal Shares, and Institutional Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on the NYSE Arca, Inc.; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. mutual funds. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value. Temporary cash investments acquired over 60 days to maturity are valued using the latest bid prices or using valuations based on a matrix system (which considers such factors as security prices, yields, maturities, and ratings), both as furnished by independent pricing services. Other temporary cash investments are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.

2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).

3. Futures and Forward Currency Contracts: The fund uses index futures contracts to a limited extent, with the objectives of maintaining full exposure to the stock market, enhancing returns, maintaining liquidity, and minimizing transaction costs. The fund may purchase futures contracts to immediately invest incoming cash in the market, or sell futures in response to cash outflows, thereby simulating a fully invested position in the underlying index while maintaining a cash balance for liquidity. The fund may seek to enhance returns by using futures contracts instead of the underlying securities when futures are believed to be priced more attractively than the underlying securities. The primary risks associated with the use of futures contracts are imperfect correlation between changes in market values of stocks held by the fund and the prices of futures contracts, and the possibility of an illiquid market.

The fund also enters into forward currency contracts to provide the appropriate currency exposure related to any open futures contracts. The fund's risks in using these contracts include movement in the values of the foreign currencies relative to the U.S. dollar and the ability of the counterparties to fulfill their obligations under the contracts. Counterparty risk is mitigated by entering into forward currency contracts only with highly rated counterparties, by a master netting arrangement between the fund and the counterparty, and by the posting of collateral by the counterparty. The forward currency contracts contain provisions whereby a counterparty may terminate open contracts if the fund's net assets decline below a certain level, triggering a payment by the fund if the fund is in a net liability position at the time of the termination. The payment amount would be reduced by any collateral the fund has posted. Any securities posted as collateral for open contracts are noted in the Statement of Net Assets.

Futures contracts are valued at their quoted daily settlement prices. Forward currency contracts are valued at their quoted daily prices obtained from an independent third party, adjusted for currency risk based on the expiration date of each contract. The aggregate principal amounts of the contracts are not recorded in the Statement of Net Assets. Fluctuations in the value of the contracts are recorded in the Statement of Net Assets as an asset (liability) and in the Statement of Operations as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) until the contracts are closed, when they are recorded as realized gains (losses) on futures or forward currency contracts.

4. Swap Contracts: The fund has entered into equity swap contracts to earn the total return on selected stocks in the fund's target index when investing through a swap provides a return advantage over buying the individual stocks. Under the terms of each swap, the fund receives the total return (either receiving the increase or paying the decrease) on a reference stock, applied to a notional amount that is the value of a designated number of shares of the stock at the beginning of the swap. The counterparty pays the fund a fixed rate less a specified interest rate spread that is based on short-term interest rates, applied to the notional amount. At the same time, the fund invests an amount approximating the notional amount of the swap in high-quality temporary cash investments.

The notional amounts of swap contracts are not recorded in the Statement of Net Assets. Swaps are valued daily and the change in value is recorded as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) until termination of the swap, at which time realized gain (loss) is recorded. The primary risks associated with the swaps are that a counterparty will default on its obligation to pay net amounts due to the fund, or that the fund will incur fees in the event it terminates a swap prior to the scheduled termination date. The fund's maximum risk of loss from counterparty credit risk is the amount of unrealized appreciation on the swap contract. This risk is mitigated by entering into swaps only with highly rated counterparties, by a master netting arrangement between the fund and the counterparty, and by the posting of collateral by the counterparty. The swap contracts contain provisions whereby a counterparty may terminate open contracts if the fund's net assets decline below a certain level, triggering a payment by the fund if the fund is in a net liability position at the time of the termination. The payment amount would be reduced by any collateral the fund has posted. Any securities posted as collateral for open contracts are noted in the Statement of Net Assets.

The fund has no open swap contracts at October 31, 2010.

5. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2007–2010), and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.

6. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.
7. Security Lending: The fund may lend its securities to qualified institutional borrowers to earn additional income. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, and records a liability for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Security lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on investing cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.
8. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold. Fees assessed on redemptions of capital shares are credited to paid-in capital.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund under methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to provide up to 0.40% of its net assets in capital contributions to Vanguard. At October 31, 2010, the fund had contributed capital of $2,325,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.03% of the fund's net assets and 0.93% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the fund's investments as of October 31, 2010, based on the inputs used to value them:

	Level 1 ($000)	Level 2 ($000)	Level 3 ($000)

At October 31, 2010, the aggregate settlement value of open futures contracts and the related unrealized appreciation (depreciation) were:

			($000)
		Number of Long (Short) Contracts	Aggregate Settlement Value Long (Short)	Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)
Futures Contracts	Expiration
Dow Jones EURO STOXX 50 Index	December 2010	704	27,779	433
FTSE 100 Index	December 2010	217	19,640	400

Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on open FTSE 100 Index futures contracts is required to be treated as realized gain (loss) for tax purposes.

At October 31, 2010, the fund had open forward currency contracts to receive and deliver currencies as follows. Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on open forward currency contracts is treated as realized gain (loss) for tax purposes.

Counterparty	Contract Settlement Date	Contract Amount (000)		Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)
		Receive	Deliver	($000)
UBS AG	12/22/10	EUR	19,607	USD	27,289
UBS AG	12/22/10	GBP	11,860	USD	19,004

EUR—Euro.

GBP—British pound.

USD—U.S. dollar.

At October 31, 2010, the counterparty had deposited in segregated accounts securities with a value sufficient to cover substantially all amounts due to the fund in connection with open forward currency contracts.

The fund had net unrealized foreign currency gains of $1,120,000 resulting from the translation of other assets and liabilities at October 31, 2010.

E. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes; these differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized net foreign currency losses of $1,315,000, which decreased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Certain of the fund's investments are in securities considered to be "passive foreign investment companies," for which any unrealized appreciation and/or realized gains are required to be included in distributable net income for tax purposes. Unrealized appreciation of $3,089,000 on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2009, has been distributed and is reflected in the balance of undistributed net investment income. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized gains on the sale of passive foreign investment companies of $584,000, which have been included in current and prior periods' taxable income; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Unrealized appreciation on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2010, was $2,530,000.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized $52,812,000 of net capital gains resulting from in-kind redemptions—in which shareholders exchanged fund shares for securities held by the fund rather than for cash. Because such gains are not taxable to the fund, and are not distributed to shareholders, they have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

For tax purposes, at October 31, 2010, the fund had $310,080,000 of ordinary income available for distribution. The fund had available capital loss carryforwards totaling $2,163,720,000 to offset future net capital gains of $13,739,000 through October 31, 2011, $357,042,000 through October 31, 2016, $1,510,054,000 through October 31, 2017, and $282,885,000 through October 31, 2018.

At October 31, 2010, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $11,354,141,000. Net unrealized depreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $2,676,095,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $495,348,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $3,171,443,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

F. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund purchased $3,520,374,000 of investment securities and sold $6,798,214,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments.

Statement of Net Assets—Investments Summary

As of October 31, 2010

This Statement summarizes the fund's holdings by asset type. Details are reported for each of the fund's 50 largest individual holdings and for investments that, in total for any issuer, represent more than 1% of the fund's net assets. The total value of smaller holdings is reported as a single amount within each category.

The fund reports a complete list of its holdings in regulatory filings four times in each fiscal year, at the quarter-ends. For the second and fourth fiscal quarters, the complete listing of the fund's holdings is available electronically on vanguard.com and on the Securities and Exchange Commission's website (sec.gov), or you can have it mailed to you without charge by calling 800-662-7447. For the first and third fiscal quarters, the fund files the lists with the SEC on Form N-Q. Shareholders can look up the fund's Forms N-Q on the SEC's website. Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard Pacific Stock Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers five classes of shares: Investor Shares, Admiral Shares, Signal Shares, Institutional Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Admiral Shares, Signal Shares, and Institutional Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on the NYSE Arca, Inc.; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. mutual funds. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value. Temporary cash investments acquired over 60 days to maturity are valued using the latest bid prices or using valuations based on a matrix system (which considers such factors as security prices, yields, maturities, and ratings), both as furnished by independent pricing services. Other temporary cash investments are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.

2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).

3. Futures and Forward Currency Contracts: The fund uses index futures contracts to a limited extent, with the objectives of maintaining full exposure to the stock market, enhancing returns, maintaining liquidity, and minimizing transaction costs. The fund may purchase futures contracts to immediately invest incoming cash in the market, or sell futures in response to cash outflows, thereby simulating a fully invested position in the underlying index while maintaining a cash balance for liquidity. The fund may seek to enhance returns by using futures contracts instead of the underlying securities when futures are believed to be priced more attractively than the underlying securities. The primary risks associated with the use of futures contracts are imperfect correlation between changes in market values of stocks held by the fund and the prices of futures contracts, and the possibility of an illiquid market.

The fund also enters into forward currency contracts to provide the appropriate currency exposure related to any open futures contracts. The fund's risks in using these contracts include movement in the values of the foreign currencies relative to the U.S. dollar and the ability of the counterparties to fulfill their obligations under the contracts. Counterparty risk is mitigated by entering into forward currency contracts only with highly rated counterparties, by a master netting arrangement between the fund and the counterparty, and by the posting of collateral by the counterparty. The forward currency contracts contain provisions whereby a counterparty may terminate open contracts if the fund's net assets decline below a certain level, triggering a payment by the fund if the fund is in a net liability position at the time of the termination. The payment amount would be reduced by any collateral the fund has posted. Any securities posted as collateral for open contracts are noted in the Statement of Net Assets.

Futures contracts are valued at their quoted daily settlement prices. Forward currency contracts are valued at their quoted daily prices obtained from an independent third party, adjusted for currency risk based on the expiration date of each contract. The aggregate principal amounts of the contracts are not recorded in the Statement of Net Assets. Fluctuations in the value of the contracts are recorded in the Statement of Net Assets as an asset (liability) and in the Statement of Operations as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) until the contracts are closed, when they are recorded as realized gains (losses) on futures or forward currency contracts.

4. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2007–2010), and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.

5. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

6. Security Lending: The fund may lend its securities to qualified institutional borrowers to earn additional income. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, and records a liability for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Security lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on investing cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.

7. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold. Fees assessed on redemptions of capital shares are credited to paid-in capital.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund under methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to provide up to 0.40% of its net assets in capital contributions to Vanguard. At October 31, 2010, the fund had contributed capital of $1,253,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.03% of the fund's net assets and 0.50% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the fund's investments as of October 31, 2010, based on the inputs used to value them:

Investments	Level 1 ($000)	Level 2 ($000)	Level 3 ($000)
Common Stocks	4,604	4,438,914	—
Temporary Cash Investments	44,965	8,999	—
Futures Contracts—Liabilities ¹	(524)	—	—
Forward Currency Contracts—Assets	—	886	—
Total	49,045	4,448,799	—

1 Represents variation margin on the last day of the reporting period.

D. At October 31, 2010, the fair values of derivatives were reflected in the Statement of Net Assets as follows:

Statement of Net Assets Caption	Equity Contracts ($000)	Foreign Exchange Contracts ($000)	Total ($000)
Other Assets	—	886	886
Liabilities	(524)	—	(524)

Realized net gain (loss) and the change in unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on derivatives for the year ended October 31, 2010, were:

	Equity Contracts ($000)	Foreign Exchange Contracts ($000)	Total ($000)
Realized Net Gain (Loss) on Derivatives
Futures Contracts	(6,181)	—	(6,181)
Forward Currency Contracts	—	2,394	2,394
Realized Net Gain (Loss) on Derivatives	(6,181)	2,394	(3,787)

Futures Contracts	(960)	—	(960)
Forward Currency Contracts	—	810	810
Change in Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation) on Derivatives	(960)	810	(150)

At October 31, 2010, the aggregate settlement value of open futures contracts and the related unrealized appreciation (depreciation) were:

	Expiration	Number of Long (Short) Contracts	Aggregate Settlement Value Long (Short)	Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation) ($000)
Futures Contracts
Topix Index	December 2010	348	34,822	(1,102)
S&P ASX 200 Index	December 2010	154	17,536	(117)

At October 31, 2010, the fund had open forward currency contracts to receive and deliver currencies as follows. Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on open forward currency contracts is treated as realized gain (loss) for tax purposes.

Counterparty	Contract Settlement Date	Contract Amount (000)			Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation) ($000)
		Receive	Deliver
UBS AG	12/15/10	JPY 462,540	USD 5,748		229
UBS AG	12/22/10	AUD 18,003	USD 17,635		657

AUD—Australian dollar.

JPY—Japanese yen.

USD—U.S. dollar.

At October 31, 2010, the counterparty had deposited in segregated accounts securities with a value sufficient to cover substantially all amounts due to the fund in connection with open forward currency contracts.

The fund had net unrealized foreign currency gains of $1,508,000 resulting from the translation of other assets and liabilities at October 31, 2010.

E. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes; these differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized net foreign currency gains of $4,452,000, which increased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Certain of the fund's investments are in securities considered to be "passive foreign investment companies," for which any unrealized appreciation and/or realized gains are required to be included in distributable net income for tax purposes. Unrealized appreciation of $3,675,000 on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2009, has been distributed and is reflected in the balance of undistributed net investment income. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized gains on the sale of passive foreign investment companies of $2,981,000, which have been included in current and prior periods' taxable income; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Unrealized appreciation on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2010, was $3,098,000.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized $104,566,000 of net capital gains resulting from in-kind redemptions—in which shareholders exchanged fund shares for securities held by the fund rather than for cash. Because such gains are not taxable to the fund, and are not distributed to shareholders, they have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

For tax purposes, at October 31, 2010, the fund had $141,815,000 of ordinary income available for distribution. The fund had available capital loss carryforwards totaling $1,099,252,000 to offset future net capital gains of $4,471,000 through October 31, 2011, $4,674,000 through October 31, 2013, $453,022,000 through October 31, 2016, $607,343,000 through October 31, 2017, and $29,742,000 through October 31, 2018. Capital loss carryforwards of $68,660,000 expired on October 31, 2010; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

At October 31, 2010, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $5,826,841,000. Net unrealized depreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $1,329,359,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $237,367,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $1,566,726,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

F. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund purchased $1,184,952,000 of investment securities and sold $2,871,527,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments.

Statement of Net Assets—Investments Summary

As of October 31, 2010

This Statement summarizes the fund's holdings by asset type. Details are reported for each of the fund's 50 largest individual holdings and for investments that, in total for any issuer, represent more than 1% of the fund's net assets. The total value of smaller holdings is reported as a single amount within each category.

The fund reports a complete list of its holdings in regulatory filings four times in each fiscal year, at the quarter-ends. For the second and fourth fiscal quarters, the complete listing of the fund's holdings is available electronically on vanguard.com and on the Securities and Exchange Commission's website (sec.gov), or you can have it mailed to you without charge by calling 800-662-7447. For the first and third fiscal quarters, the fund files the lists with the SEC on Form N-Q. Shareholders can look up the fund's Forms N-Q on the SEC's website. Forms N-Q may also be reviewed and copied at the SEC's Public Reference Room (see the back cover of this report for further information).

Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers five classes of shares: Investor Shares, Admiral Shares, Signal Shares, Institutional Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Admiral Shares, Signal Shares, and Institutional Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on the NYSE Arca, Inc.; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. mutual funds. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value. Temporary cash investments acquired over 60 days to maturity are valued using the latest bid prices or using valuations based on a matrix system (which considers such factors as security prices, yields, maturities, and ratings), both as furnished by independent pricing services. Other temporary cash investments are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.

2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).

3. Futures Contracts: The fund uses index futures contracts to a limited extent, with the objectives of maintaining full exposure to the stock market, enhancing returns, maintaining liquidity, and minimizing transaction costs. The fund may purchase futures contracts to immediately invest incoming cash in the market, or sell futures in response to cash outflows, thereby simulating a fully invested position in the underlying index while maintaining a cash balance for liquidity. The fund may seek to enhance returns by using futures contracts instead of the underlying securities when futures are believed to be priced more attractively than the underlying securities. The primary risks associated with the use of futures contracts are imperfect correlation between changes in market values of stocks held by the fund and the prices of futures contracts, and the possibility of an illiquid market.

Futures contracts are valued at their quoted daily settlement prices. The aggregate principal amounts of the contracts are not recorded in the Statement of Net Assets. Fluctuations in the value of the contracts are recorded in the Statement of Net Assets as an asset (liability) and in the Statement of Operations as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) until the contracts are closed, when they are recorded as realized futures gains (losses).

4. Swap Contracts: The fund has entered into equity swap contracts to earn the total return on selected stocks in the fund's target index when investing through a swap provides a return advantage over buying the individual stocks. Under the terms of each swap, the fund receives the total return (either receiving the increase or paying the decrease) on a reference stock, applied to a notional amount that is the value of a designated number of shares of the stock at the beginning of the swap. The counterparty pays the fund a fixed rate less a specified interest rate spread that is based on short-term interest rates, applied to the notional amount. At the same time, the fund invests an amount approximating the notional amount of the swap in high-quality temporary cash investments.

The notional amounts of swap contracts are not recorded in the Statement of Net Assets. Swaps are valued daily and the change in value is recorded as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) until termination of the swap, at which time realized gain (loss) is recorded. The primary risks associated with the swaps are that a counterparty will default on its obligation to pay net amounts due to the fund, or that the fund will incur fees in the event it terminates a swap prior to the scheduled termination date. The fund's maximum risk of loss from counterparty credit risk is the amount of unrealized appreciation on the swap contract. This risk is mitigated by entering into swaps only with highly rated counterparties, by a master netting arrangement between the fund and the counterparty, and by the posting of collateral by the counterparty. The swap contracts contain provisions whereby a counterparty may terminate open contracts if the fund's net assets decline below a certain level, triggering a payment by the fund if the fund is in a net liability position at the time of the termination. The payment amount would be reduced by any collateral the fund has posted. Any securities posted as collateral for open contracts are noted in the Statement of Net Assets.

The fund has no open swap contracts at October 31, 2010.

5. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2007–2010), and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.

6. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

7. Security Lending: The fund may lend its securities to qualified institutional borrowers to earn additional income. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, and records a liability for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Security lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on investing cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.

8. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold. Fees assessed on capital share transactions are credited to paid-in capital.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund under methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to provide up to 0.40% of its net assets in capital contributions to Vanguard. At October 31, 2010, the fund had contributed capital of $9,466,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.02% of the fund's net assets and 3.79% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the fund's investments as of October 31, 2010, based on the inputs used to value them:

Investments	Level 1 ($000)	Level 2 ($000)	Level 3 ($000)
Common Stocks—North and South America	13,170,967	—	—
Common Stocks—Other	2,116,606	39,798,462	—
Temporary Cash Investments	667,071	5,197	—
Futures Contracts—Liabilities ¹	(135)	—	—
Total	15,954,509	39,803,659	—

1 Represents variation margin on the last day of the reporting period.

D. At October 31, 2010, the aggregate settlement value of open futures contracts and the related unrealized appreciation (depreciation) were:

Futures Contracts	Expiration	Number of Long (Short) Contracts	Aggregate Settlement Value Long (Short)	Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)	($000)
MSCI Taiwan Index	November 2010	2,700	79,353	101

E. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes; these differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized net foreign currency losses of $42,895,000, which decreased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income.

Certain of the fund's investments are in securities considered to be "passive foreign investment companies," for which any unrealized appreciation and/or realized gains are required to be included in distributable net income for tax purposes. Unrealized appreciation of $17,309,000 on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2009, has been distributed and is reflected in the balance of undistributed net investment income. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized gains on the sale of passive foreign investment companies of $1,782,0000, which have been included in current and prior periods' taxable income; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Since October 31, 2009, the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings have appreciated in value, increasing the amount of taxable income available for distribution as of October 31, 2010, by $111,764,000. Unrealized appreciation on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2010, was $129,073,000.

The fund's realized losses for the year ended October 31, 2010, include $2,000 of capital gain tax paid on sales of Peruvian securities. This tax is treated as a decrease to taxable income; accordingly, this amount has been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized $949,063,000 of net capital gains resulting from in-kind redemptions—in which shareholders exchanged fund shares for securities held by the fund rather than for cash. Because such gains are not taxable to the fund, and are not distributed to shareholders, they have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

For tax purposes, at October 31, 2010, the fund had $824,940,000 of ordinary income available for distribution. The fund had available capital loss carryforwards totaling $2,447,495,000 to offset future net capital gains of $15,143,000 through October 31, 2012, $167,331,000 through October 31, 2014, $460,853,000 through October 31, 2016, $1,591,794,000 through October 31, 2017, and $212,374,000 through October 31, 2018.

At October 31, 2010, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $44,237,626,000. Net unrealized appreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $11,520,677,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $13,042,472,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $1,521,795,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

F. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund purchased $25,709,777,000 of investment securities and sold $6,487,233,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments.

G. Capital share transactions for each class of shares were:

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Trustees of Vanguard International Equity Index Funds and the Shareholders of Vanguard European Stock Index Fund, Vanguard Pacific Stock Index Fund and Vanguard Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund:

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of net assets—investment summaries, and the related statements of operations and of changes in net assets and the financial highlights present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Vanguard European Stock Index Fund, Vanguard Pacific Stock Index Fund and Vanguard Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund (constituting three separate portfolios of Vanguard International Equity Index Funds, hereafter referred to as the “Funds”) at October 31, 2010, the results of each of their operations for the year then ended, the changes in each of their net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the periods then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These financial statements and financial highlights (hereafter referred to as “financial statements”) are the responsibility of the Funds’ management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits of these financial statements in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits, which included confirmation of securities at October 31, 2010 by correspondence with the custodian and brokers and by agreement to the underlying ownership records of Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Your Fund's After-Tax Returns

This table presents returns for your fund both before and after taxes. The after-tax returns are shown in two ways: (1) assuming that an investor owned the fund during the entire period and paid taxes on the fund's distributions, and (2) assuming that an investor paid taxes on the fund's distributions and sold all shares at the end of each period.

Calculations are based on the highest individual federal income tax and capital gains tax rates in effect at the times of the distributions and the hypothetical sales. State and local taxes were not considered. After-tax returns reflect any qualified dividend income, using actual prior-year figures and estimates for 2010. (In the example, returns after the sale of fund shares may be higher than those assuming no sale. This occurs when the sale would have produced a capital loss. The calculation assumes that the investor received a tax deduction for the loss.)

The table shows returns for Investor Shares only; returns for other share classes will differ. Please note that your actual after-tax returns will depend on your tax situation and may differ from those shown. Also note that if you own the fund in a tax-deferred account, such as an individual retirement account or a 401(k) plan, this information does not apply to you. Such accounts are not subject to current taxes.

Finally, keep in mind that a fund's performance—whether before or after taxes—does not guarantee future results.

About Your Fund's Expenses

As a shareholder of the fund, you incur ongoing costs, which include costs for portfolio management, administrative services, and shareholder reports (like this one), among others. Operating expenses, which are deducted from a fund's gross income, directly reduce the investment return of the fund.

A fund's expenses are expressed as a percentage of its average net assets. This figure is known as the expense ratio. The following examples are intended to help you understand the ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in your fund and to compare these costs with those of other mutual funds. The examples are based on an investment of $1,000 made at the beginning of the period shown and held for the entire period.

The accompanying table illustrates your fund's costs in two ways:

- Based on actual fund return. This section helps you to estimate the actual expenses that you paid over the period. The "Ending Account Value" shown is derived from the fund's actual return, and the third column shows the dollar amount that would have been paid by an investor who started with $1,000 in the fund. You may use the information here, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period.

To do so, simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $$1,000 = 8.6$), then multiply the result by the number given for your fund under the heading "Expenses Paid During Period."

- Based on hypothetical 5% yearly return. This section is intended to help you compare your fund's costs with those of other mutual funds. It assumes that the fund had a yearly return of 5% before expenses, but that the expense ratio is unchanged. In this case—because the return used is not the fund's actual return—the results do not apply to your investment. The example is useful in making comparisons because the Securities and Exchange Commission requires all mutual funds to calculate expenses based on a 5% return. You can assess your fund's costs by comparing this hypothetical example with the hypothetical examples that appear in shareholder reports of other funds.

Note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight and help you compare ongoing costs only and do not reflect transaction costs incurred by the fund for buying and selling securities. Further, the expenses do not include the transaction fees or the account service fee described in the prospectus. If such fees were applied to your account, your costs would be higher. Your fund does not carry a "sales load."

The calculations assume no shares were bought or sold during the period. Your actual costs may have been higher or lower, depending on the amount of your investment and the timing of any purchases or redemptions.

You can find more information about the fund's expenses, including annual expense ratios, in the Financial Statements section of this report. For additional information on operating expenses and other shareholder costs, please refer to your fund's current prospectus.

The dollar amounts shown as "Expenses Paid" are equal to the annualized expense ratio multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by the number of days in the most recent six-month period, then divided by the number of days in the most recent 12-month period.

Glossary

Beta. A measure of the magnitude of a fund's past share-price fluctuations in relation to the ups and downs of a given market index. The index is assigned a beta of 1.00. Compared with a given index, a fund with a beta of 1.20 typically would have seen its share price rise or fall by 12% when the index rose or fell by 10%. For this report, beta is based on returns over the past 36 months for both the fund and the index. Note that a fund's beta should be reviewed in conjunction with its R-squared (see definition). The lower the R-squared, the less correlation there is between the fund and the index, and the less reliable beta is as an indicator of volatility.

Dividend Yield. Dividend income earned by stocks, expressed as a percentage of the aggregate market value (or of net asset value, for a fund). The yield is determined by dividing the amount of the annual dividends by the aggregate value (or net asset value) at the end of the period. For a fund, the dividend yield is based solely on stock holdings and does not include any income produced by other investments.

Equity Exposure. A measure that reflects a fund's investments in stocks and stock futures. Any holdings in short-term reserves are excluded.

Expense Ratio. The percentage of a fund's average net assets used to pay its annual administrative and advisory expenses. These expenses directly reduce returns to investors.

Inception Date. The date on which the assets of a fund (or one of its share classes) are first invested in accordance with the fund's investment objective. For funds with a subscription period, the inception date is the day after that period ends. Investment performance is measured from the inception date.

Median Market Cap. An indicator of the size of companies in which a fund invests; the midpoint of market capitalization (market price x shares outstanding) of a fund's stocks, weighted by the proportion of the fund's assets invested in each stock. Stocks representing half of the fund's assets have market capitalizations above the median, and the rest are below it.

Price/Book Ratio. The share price of a stock divided by its net worth, or book value, per share. For a fund, the weighted average price/book ratio of the stocks it holds.

Price/Earnings Ratio. The ratio of a stock's current price to its per-share earnings over the past year. For a fund, the weighted average P/E of the stocks it holds. P/E is an indicator of market expectations about corporate prospects; the higher the P/E, the greater the expectations for a company's future growth.

R-Squared. A measure of how much of a fund's past returns can be explained by the returns from the market in general, as measured by a given index. If a fund's total returns were precisely synchronized with an index's returns, its R-squared would be 1.00. If the fund's returns bore no relationship to the index's returns, its R-squared would be 0. For this report, R-squared is based on returns over the past 36 months for both the fund and the index.

Return on Equity. The annual average rate of return generated by a company during the past five years for each dollar of shareholder's equity (net income divided by shareholder's equity). For a fund, the weighted average return on equity for the companies whose stocks it holds.

Short-Term Reserves. The percentage of a fund invested in highly liquid, short-term securities that can be readily converted to cash.

Turnover Rate. An indication of the fund's trading activity. Funds with high turnover rates incur higher transaction costs and may be more likely to distribute capital gains (which may be taxable to investors). The turnover rate excludes in-kind transactions, which have minimal impact on costs.

The People Who Govern Your Fund

The trustees of your mutual fund are there to see that the fund is operated and managed in your best interests since, as a shareholder, you are a part owner of the fund. Your fund's trustees also serve on the board of directors of The Vanguard Group, Inc., which is owned by the Vanguard funds and provides services to them on an at-cost basis.

A majority of Vanguard's board members are independent, meaning that they have no affiliation with Vanguard or the funds they oversee, apart from the sizable personal investments they have made as private individuals. The independent board members have distinguished backgrounds in business, academia, and public service. Each of the trustees and executive officers oversees 178 Vanguard funds.

The following table provides information for each trustee and executive officer of the fund. More information about the trustees is in the Statement of Additional Information, which can be obtained, without charge, by contacting Vanguard at 800-662-7447, or online at vanguard.com.

Chairman's Letter

Dear Shareholder,

Despite some intermittent setbacks earlier in the period, a rally in September and October helped global markets finish the 2010 fiscal year with a double-digit gain that, while less than the previous year's rebound, was still respectable. Emerging markets again had the best results, while North American equities—the largest slice of the fund—contributed about half of the total return worldwide.

Vanguard Total World Stock Index Fund, which holds almost 2,800 large- and mid-capitalization stocks of companies located around the world, returned about 15%, in line with the average return of global peer funds. The fund met its objective of capturing the return of its target, the FTSE All-World Index, in the period. Although their reported returns diverged slightly at the fiscal year-end on October 31, this was a result of temporary price differences arising from fair-value pricing policies, which are required by the Securities and Exchange Commission. (The note on page 6 provides more information on fair-value pricing.)

If you own the fund in a taxable account, you may wish to review the information about after-tax returns presented later in this report.

Stock market performance was better than it felt

Global stock prices rallied at the start of the period, but struggled through the spring and summer, weighed down by

Europe's sovereign-debt crisis and the slow pace of economic recovery in the United States. In the fiscal year's final months, the mood turned. Stock prices climbed on continued strength in corporate earnings. In the United States, stocks also seemed to get a boost from the Federal Reserve Board's hints that it would try to stimulate the economy with a second round of U.S. Treasury bond purchases. (In early November, the Fed announced that it would buy as much as $600 billion in Treasuries over the next several months.)

For the 12 months, the broad U.S. stock market returned about 19%, a performance that was better than it felt in a year of ups and downs. Small-capitalization stocks did even better.

International stocks returned about 13% on the strength of a powerful rally in emerging markets and solid single-digit gains in developed markets in Europe and the Pacific region. Large currency swings played a role in international returns for U.S.-dollar-based investors.

Despite shrinking yields, bonds attracted investors' cash

Although fixed income yields have fallen to generational lows, investors continued to bid up bond prices. The broad U.S. bond market produced a 12-month return of about 8% as the yield of the 10-year U.S. Treasury note fell from 3.39% at the start of the period to 2.61% at the close. Tax-exempt municipal bonds also rallied. Bond prices and yields move in opposite directions, of course, so abundant returns built on rising prices could mean leaner pickings in the years ahead.

The yields of money market securities hovered near 0%, consistent with the Federal Reserve Board's target for short-term rates. While the Fed has kept target interest rates low to stimulate the U.S. economy, rates have risen elsewhere. For example, in October, China's central bank raised interest rates for the first time in three years, and rates were lifted several times in Australia and India. All three economies have been growing faster than the U.S. economy.

Almost all markets advanced, led by developing countries

By virtue of the sheer size of its market, the United States was the biggest single-country contributor to the results of Vanguard Total World Stock Index Fund (whose holdings, like those of its target benchmark, are market-capitalization weighted). The fund's U.S. equities, which represented about 40% of its assets, returned more than 16% and contributed more than 6 percentage points to the overall return. Canadian stocks returned even more, about 21%, benefiting from rising prices for Canada's vast natural resources.

Expense Ratios

Your Fund Compared With Its Peer Group

	Investor Shares	Institutional Shares	ETF Shares	Peer Group Average
Total World Stock Index Fund	0.50%	0.25%	0.30%	1.49%

The fund expense ratios shown are from the prospectus dated February 26, 2010, and represent estimated costs for the current fiscal year. For the fiscal year ended October 31, 2010, the fund's expense ratios were 0.45% for Investor Shares, 0.23% for Institutional Shares, and 0.25% for ETF Shares. The peer-group expense ratio is derived from data provided by Lipper Inc. and captures information through year-end 2009.

Peer group: Global Funds.

With a gain of almost 24%, emerging markets eclipsed the developed-country returns from North America, Europe, and the Pacific Rim. In part, this outperformance reflected the reality that developing nations are often a step or two removed from the disruptions—such as Europe’s current fiscal woes—that affect investors’ perceptions of major industrialized countries. And even though emerging markets represented a relatively small share of the fund’s market value, they made the second-highest contribution to its total return. Some of the best results came from smaller markets in Latin America, while India (+37%), Brazil (+14%), and China (+12%) added more to the fund’s overall gain.

Developed markets in Europe and the Pacific Rim traveled divergent paths to reach similar returns of about 9% (measured in U.S. dollars). During the period, investors began to regain confidence in Europe after governments took several steps—including unpopular cuts in public-sector payrolls and services—to help regain fiscal stability. Scandinavian economies, more insulated from the market turmoil, had some of the region’s best returns. Still, the United Kingdom, Europe’s largest market, gained more than 12%. Its economic growth was stronger than expected in the third calendar quarter, and in late October the recently elected government announced dramatic spending cuts. In contrast, peripheral countries that had become the center of the debt-default storm finished the year in the red: Greece was the outlier, losing more than half of its market value.

For U.S.-based investors, currency effects masked some European markets’ strength. During the height of Europe’s fiscal uncertainty, the U.S. dollar appreciated significantly against the euro and the British pound. Although these currencies recovered somewhat later in the year, their relative weakness trimmed European returns when translated into U.S. dollars.

Compared with market performance in Europe, Pacific Rim returns differed in two respects: Results weakened in the second half, and currency translation worked to the advantage of U.S.-based investors as the Australian dollar and Japanese yen reached highs not seen for many years. Singapore and Hong Kong, which are relatively smaller markets, outperformed both Australia (+13%) and Japan (+5%). In September, after several years of maintaining a hands-off currency policy, the Bank of Japan intervened to try to rein in the rising yen, which was making Japan’s exports less competitive in the global marketplace and threatening its still-fragile economy.

Sectors sensitive to the economy delivered winning performances

All ten industry sectors posted gains for the year, with some of the highest returns coming from the consumer discretionary, industrial, and materials sectors. The fortunes of companies in these sectors tend to be more exposed to the ups and downs of the business cycle, and given its generally upward trend, they fared well. Together, these three sectors contributed almost half of the fund’s total return.

A note on fair-value pricing

The reported return of a fund that tracks an index sometimes may diverge from the index's return a bit more than would be expected. This may be the result of a fair-value pricing adjustment.

These adjustments, which are required by the Securities and Exchange Commission, address pricing discrepancies that may arise because of time-zone differences among global stock markets. Foreign stocks may trade on exchanges that close many hours before a fund's closing share price is calculated in the United States, generally at 4 p.m., Eastern time. In the hours between the foreign close and the U.S. close, the value of these foreign securities may change—because of company-specific announcements or market-wide developments, for example. Such price changes are not immediately reflected in international index values.

Fair-value pricing takes such changes into account in calculating the fund's daily net asset value, thus ensuring that the NAV doesn't include "stale" prices. The result can be a temporary divergence between the return of the fund and that of its benchmark index—a difference that usually corrects itself when the foreign markets reopen.

Financial stocks, the largest sector weighting, were among the weaker performers, held back by concerns about European banks.

Spread your nest egg across multiple baskets

Since late 2007, stocks have taken investors on a roller-coaster ride with painful losses and soaring gains, especially in emerging markets. Much of the time, it appeared that news traveled quickly around the globe, leading markets to rise and fall together—as was the case during the Greek sovereign debt crisis. But when global financial crises subside, we can expect that the economic and financial performance of various countries will differ. We may be seeing some signs of divergence: For example, while U.S. economic growth has been tepid, Britain's economy has grown faster, and China's has achieved double-digit growth rates.

Vanguard research has shown that, over longer periods, a portfolio that includes both U.S. and non-U.S. stocks would have experienced lower average volatility than an all-U.S. portfolio. While this long-term benefit may not be as visible to you as other portfolio measures, it is no less real.

There is no magic number for how much of your equity portfolio to invest outside the United States. As with other portfolio decisions you make, your allocation to international stocks should be based on your investment goals, time horizon, and tolerance for risk.

Vanguard Total World Stock Index Fund provides a convenient approach to this decision, as it invests in large- and mid-cap companies around the world in proportions consistent with their market-capitalization weightings. As part of a well-balanced portfolio that also includes bonds and money market funds, the fund can be an efficient, low-cost core holding.

Thank you for entrusting your assets to Vanguard.

Sincerely,

Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard Total World Stock Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers three classes of shares: Investor Shares, Institutional Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Institutional Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on the NYSE Arca, Inc.; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. mutual funds. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value.

2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).

3. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2008–2010), and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.

4. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

5. Security Lending: The fund may lend its securities to qualified institutional borrowers to earn additional income. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, and records a liability for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Security lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on investing cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.

6. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold. Fees assessed on capital share transactions are credited to paid-in capital.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund under methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to provide up to 0.40% of its net assets in capital contributions to Vanguard. At October 31, 2010, the fund had contributed capital of $176,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.02% of the fund's net assets and 0.07% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the fund's investments as of October 31, 2010, based on the inputs used to value them:

Investments	Level 1 ($000)	Level 2 ($000)	Level 3 ($000)
Common Stocks—U.S.	417,178	—	—
Common Stocks—International	86,436	529,524	4
Temporary Cash Investments	4,390	—	—
Total	508,004	529,524	4

The following table summarizes changes in investments valued based on Level 3 inputs during the year ended October 31, 2010:

Amount Valued Based on Level 3 Inputs	Investments in Common Stocks— International ($000)
Balance as of October 31, 2009	5
Change in Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)	(1)
Balance as of October 31, 2010	4

D. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes; these differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized net foreign currency losses of $65,000, which decreased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Certain of the fund's investments are in securities considered to be "passive foreign investment companies," for which any unrealized appreciation and/or realized gains are required to be included in distributable net income for tax purposes. Unrealized appreciation of $508,000 on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2009, has been distributed and is reflected in the balance of undistributed net investment income. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized gains on the sale of passive foreign investment companies of $107,000, which have been included in current and prior periods' taxable income; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Since October 31, 2009, the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings have appreciated in value, increasing the amount of the taxable income available for distribution as of October 31, 2010, by $606,000. Unrealized appreciation on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2010, was $1,114,000.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized $30,574,000 of net capital gains resulting from in-kind redemptions—in which shareholders exchanged fund shares for securities held by the fund rather than for cash. Because such gains are not taxable to the fund, and are not distributed to shareholders, they have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

For tax purposes, at October 31, 2010, the fund had $17,610,000 of ordinary income available for distribution. The fund had available capital loss carryforwards totaling $9,435,000 to offset future net capital gains of $572,000 through October 31, 2016, $7,777,000 through October 31, 2017, and $1,086,000 through October 31, 2018.

At October 31, 2010, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $902,902,000. Net unrealized appreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $134,630,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $163,541,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $28,911,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

E. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund purchased $432,279,000 of investment securities and sold $139,714,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments.

F. Capital share transactions for each class of shares were:

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Trustees of Vanguard International Equity Index Funds and the Shareholders of Vanguard Total World Stock Index Fund:

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of net assets and the related statements of operations and of changes in net assets and the financial highlights present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Vanguard Total World Stock Index Fund (constituting a separate portfolio of Vanguard International Equity Index Funds, hereafter referred to as the "Fund") at October 31, 2010, the results of its operations for the year then ended, the changes in its net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the periods indicated in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These financial statements and financial highlights (hereafter referred to as "financial statements") are the responsibility of the Fund's management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits of these financial statements in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits, which included confirmation of securities at October 31, 2010 by correspondence with the custodian and by agreement to the underlying ownership records of Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Special 2010 tax information (unaudited) for Vanguard Total World Stock Index Fund

This information for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2010, is included pursuant to provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

The fund distributed $10,092,000 of qualified dividend income to shareholders during the fiscal year.

For corporate shareholders, 36.7% of investment income (dividend income plus short-term gains, if any) qualifies for the dividends-received deduction.

The fund will pass through foreign source income of $15,545,000 and foreign taxes paid of $2,110,000 to shareholders. The pass-through of foreign taxes paid will affect only shareholders on the fund's dividend record date in December 2010. Shareholders will receive more detailed information along with their Form 1099-DIV in January 2011.

Your Fund's After-Tax Returns

This table presents returns for your fund both before and after taxes. The after-tax returns are shown in two ways: (1) assuming that an investor owned the fund during the entire period and paid taxes on the fund's distributions, and (2) assuming that an investor paid taxes on the fund's distributions and sold all shares at the end of each period.

Calculations are based on the highest individual federal income tax and capital gains tax rates in effect at the times of the distributions and the hypothetical sales. State and local taxes were not considered. After-tax returns reflect any qualified dividend income, using actual prior-year figures and estimates for 2010. (In the example, returns after the sale of fund shares may be higher than those assuming no sale. This occurs when the sale would have produced a capital loss. The calculation assumes that the investor received a tax deduction for the loss.)

The table shows returns for Investor Shares only; returns for other share classes will differ. Please note that your actual after-tax returns will depend on your tax situation and may differ from those shown. Also note that if you own the fund in a tax-deferred account, such as an individual retirement account or a 401(k) plan, this information does not apply to you. Such accounts are not subject to current taxes.

Finally, keep in mind that a fund's performance—whether before or after taxes—does not guarantee future results.

Average Annual Total Returns: Total World Stock Index Fund Investor Shares

Periods Ended October 31, 2010

	One Year	Since Inception (6/26/2008)
Returns Before Taxes	14.44%	-1.77%
Returns After Taxes on Distributions	14.22	-1.88
Returns After Taxes on Distributions and Sale of Fund Shares	9.69	-1.50

Returns are adjusted to reflect the 0.25% fee on purchases but not the 2% fee on redemptions of shares held for less than two months.

About Your Fund's Expenses

As a shareholder of the fund, you incur ongoing costs, which include costs for portfolio management, administrative services, and shareholder reports (like this one), among others. Operating expenses, which are deducted from a fund's gross income, directly reduce the investment return of the fund.

A fund's expenses are expressed as a percentage of its average net assets. This figure is known as the expense ratio. The following examples are intended to help you understand the ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in your fund and to compare these costs with those of other mutual funds. The examples are based on an investment of $1,000 made at the beginning of the period shown and held for the entire period.

The accompanying table illustrates your fund's costs in two ways:

- Based on actual fund return. This section helps you to estimate the actual expenses that you paid over the period. The "Ending Account Value" shown is derived from the fund's actual return, and the third column shows the dollar amount that would have been paid by an investor who started with $1,000 in the fund. You may use the information here, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period.

To do so, simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $$1,000 = 8.6$), then multiply the result by the number given for your fund under the heading "Expenses Paid During Period."

- Based on hypothetical 5% yearly return. This section is intended to help you compare your fund's costs with those of other mutual funds. It assumes that the fund had a yearly return of 5% before expenses, but that the expense ratio is unchanged. In this case—because the return used is not the fund's actual return—the results do not apply to your investment. The example is useful in making comparisons because the Securities and Exchange Commission requires all mutual funds to calculate expenses based on a 5% return. You can assess your fund's costs by comparing this hypothetical example with the hypothetical examples that appear in shareholder reports of other funds.

Note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight and help you compare ongoing costs only and do not reflect transaction costs incurred by the fund for buying and selling securities. Further, the expenses do not include the transaction fees or the account service fee described in the prospectus. If such fees were applied to your account, your costs would be higher. Your fund does not carry a "sales load."

The calculations assume no shares were bought or sold during the period. Your actual costs may have been higher or lower, depending on the amount of your investment and the timing of any purchases or redemptions.

You can find more information about the fund's expenses, including annual expense ratios, in the Financial Statements section of this report. For additional information on operating expenses and other shareholder costs, please refer to your fund's current prospectus.

Institutional Shares	1,000.00	1,024.05	1.17
ETF Shares	1,000.00	1,024.05	1.17

The calculations are based on expenses incurred in the most recent six-month period. The fund's annualized six-month expense ratios for that period are 0.42% for Investor Shares, 0.23% for Institutional Shares, and 0.23% for ETF Shares. The dollar amounts shown as "Expenses Paid" are equal to the annualized expense ratio multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by the number of days in the most recent six-month period, then divided by the number of days in the most recent 12-month period.

Glossary

Dividend Yield. Dividend income earned by stocks, expressed as a percentage of the aggregate market value (or of net asset value, for a fund). The yield is determined by dividing the amount of the annual dividends by the aggregate value (or net asset value) at the end of the period. For a fund, the dividend yield is based solely on stock holdings and does not include any income produced by other investments.

Earnings Growth Rate. The average annual rate of growth in earnings over the past five years for the stocks now in a fund.

Equity Exposure. A measure that reflects a fund's investments in stocks and stock futures. Any holdings in short-term reserves are excluded.

Expense Ratio. The percentage of a fund's average net assets used to pay its annual administrative and advisory expenses. These expenses directly reduce returns to investors.

Inception Date. The date on which the assets of a fund (or one of its share classes) are first invested in accordance with the fund's investment objective. For funds with a subscription period, the inception date is the day after that period ends. Investment performance is measured from the inception date.

Median Market Cap. An indicator of the size of companies in which a fund invests; the midpoint of market capitalization (market price x shares outstanding) of a fund's stocks, weighted by the proportion of the fund's assets invested in each stock. Stocks representing half of the fund's assets have market capitalizations above the median, and the rest are below it.

Price/Book Ratio. The share price of a stock divided by its net worth, or book value, per share. For a fund, the weighted average price/book ratio of the stocks it holds.

Price/Earnings Ratio. The ratio of a stock's current price to its per-share earnings over the past year. For a fund, the weighted average P/E of the stocks it holds. P/E is an indicator of market expectations about corporate prospects; the higher the P/E, the greater the expectations for a company's future growth.

Return on Equity. The annual average rate of return generated by a company during the past five years for each dollar of shareholder's equity (net income divided by shareholder's equity). For a fund, the weighted average return on equity for the companies whose stocks it holds.

Short-Term Reserves. The percentage of a fund invested in highly liquid, short-term securities that can be readily converted to cash.

Turnover Rate. An indication of the fund's trading activity. Funds with high turnover rates incur higher transaction costs and may be more likely to distribute capital gains (which may be taxable to investors). The turnover rate excludes in-kind transactions, which have minimal impact on costs.

The People Who Govern Your Fund

The trustees of your mutual fund are there to see that the fund is operated and managed in your best interests since, as a shareholder, you are a part owner of the fund. Your fund's trustees also serve on the board of directors of The Vanguard Group, Inc., which is owned by the Vanguard funds and provides services to them on an at-cost basis.

A majority of Vanguard's board members are independent, meaning that they have no affiliation with Vanguard or the funds they oversee, apart from the sizable personal investments they have made as private individuals. The independent board members have distinguished backgrounds in business, academia, and public service. Each of the trustees and executive officers oversees 178 Vanguard funds.

The following table provides information for each trustee and executive officer of the fund. More information about the trustees is in the Statement of Additional Information, which can be obtained, without charge, by contacting Vanguard at 800-662-7447, or online at vanguard.com.

Chairman's Letter

Dear Shareholder,

Despite intermittent setbacks earlier in the period, strong returns in September and October generally helped stock markets outside the United States post double-digit gains for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2010.

Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund—which provides broad exposure to non-U.S. large- and medium-sized companies—returned about 14%, ahead of the average return of international peer funds but behind the broad U.S. stock market's return of about 19%. Its small-company complement, Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund, returned about 24%, more than 2 percentage points ahead of the average return of its international small-cap peers. We expect the fund to distribute a small capital gain at the end of 2010.

Both funds accomplished their objective of capturing the returns of their respective target indexes. However, because of temporary price differences arising from fair-value pricing policies required by the Securities and Exchange Commission (please see the text box on page 6), the funds' reported returns diverged from their benchmarks' results.

Please note that in October we announced plans to offer Institutional Plus Shares of Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund; these shares, which require a minimum initial investment of $100 million, are expected to be available in December.

Also, each fund's Statement of Net Assets has been abbreviated to include its 50 largest holdings and any other holdings of issuers that represent 1% or more of fund assets. The shorter list helps us reduce printing and postage costs. A complete list of your fund's securities is available on our website at vanguard.com.

Stock market performance was better than it felt

Global stock prices rallied at the start of the period, but struggled through the spring and summer, weighed down by Europe's sovereign debt crisis and the slow pace of economic recovery in the United States. In the fiscal year's final months, the mood turned. Stock prices climbed on continued strength in corporate earnings. In the United States, stocks also seemed to get a boost from the Federal Reserve Board's hints that it would try to stimulate the economy with a second round of U.S. Treasury bond purchases. (In early November, the Fed announced that it would buy as much as $600 billion in Treasuries over the next several months.)

For the 12 months, the broad U.S. stock market returned about 19%, a performance that was better than it felt in a year of ups and downs. Small-capitalization stocks did even better. International stocks returned about 13% on the strength of a powerful rally in emerging markets and solid single-digit gains in developed markets in Europe and the Pacific region. Large currency swings played a role in international returns for U.S.-based investors.

Despite shrinking yields, bonds attracted investors

Although fixed income yields have fallen to generational lows, investors continued to bid up bond prices. The broad U.S. bond market produced a 12-month return of about 8% as the yield of the 10-year U.S. Treasury note fell from 3.39% at the start of the period to 2.61% at the close. Tax-exempt municipal bonds also rallied. Bond prices and yields move in opposite directions, of course, so abundant returns built on rising prices could mean leaner pickings in the years ahead.

The yields of money market securities hovered near 0%, consistent with the Federal Reserve Board's target for short-term rates. While the Fed has kept target interest rates low to stimulate the economy, rates have risen elsewhere. For example, in October, China's central bank raised interest rates for the first time in three years, while rates were lifted several times in Australia and India. All three economies have been growing faster than the U.S. economy.

Emerging markets bested most developed countries again
Taking a bird's-eye view, emerging markets again broadly outperformed developed markets for the period, although returns came back down to earth from their dramatic rebound a year ago. Emerging markets were among the best performers in both funds, returning about 35% for Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund and about 24% for its large- and mid-cap counterpart. In part, this reflects the reality that developing nations are often a step removed from the disruptions—such as Europe's fiscal woes—that affect investors' perceptions of major industrialized countries. Developed markets in Europe and the Pacific Rim lagged, but Canadian small-cap stocks had an exceptional return of more than 40%, more than double the returns of that country's large- and mid-cap stocks.

In Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund, emerging markets contributed the most to total return even though they represented only about one-quarter of the fund's total market value. Some of the best results came from smaller markets in Latin America, while powerhouses India (+36%), Brazil (+15%), and China (+13%) made strong contributions. Even as its government applied the brakes to try to manage inflation, China reached a milestone:

Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

A note on fair-value pricing

The reported return of a fund that tracks an index sometimes may diverge from the index's return a bit more than would be expected. This may be the result of a fair-value pricing adjustment.

These adjustments, which are required by the Securities and Exchange Commission, address pricing discrepancies that may arise because of time-zone differences among global stock markets. Foreign stocks may trade on exchanges that close many hours before a fund's closing share price is calculated in the United States, generally at 4 p.m., Eastern time. In the hours between the foreign close and the U.S. close, the value of these foreign securities may change—because of company-specific announcements or market-wide developments, for example. Such price changes are not immediately reflected in international index values.

Fair-value pricing takes such changes into account in calculating the fund's daily net asset value, thus ensuring that the NAV doesn't include "stale" prices. The result can be a temporary divergence between the return of the fund and that of its benchmark index—a difference that usually corrects itself when the foreign markets reopen.

Reported gross domestic product for the second calendar quarter showed that the country had surpassed Japan to become the world's second-largest economy.

During the period, investors began to regain confidence in Europe—which represented about 45% of the large- and mid-cap fund's market value—after several steps (including unpopular cuts in public sector payrolls and services) were taken to help regain fiscal stability. Scandinavian economies, more insulated from the market turmoil, had some of the best returns. Still, the United Kingdom, Europe's largest market, gained approximately 13%. U.K. economic growth was stronger than expected in the third calendar quarter, and in October the recently elected government announced dramatic spending cuts. In contrast, peripheral countries that had become the center of the debt-default storm finished the year in the red; Greece was the outlier, losing more than half of its market value.

For U.S.-based investors, currency effects masked the strength of some European markets. During the height of Europe's fiscal uncertainty, the U.S. dollar appreciated significantly against the euro and the British pound. Although these currencies recovered somewhat later in the year, their relative weakness trimmed European returns when translated into U.S. dollars.

Pacific Rim returns differed from Europe's in two respects: Results weakened in the second half, and currency translation worked to the advantage of U.S. investors as the Australian dollar and Japanese yen reached highs not seen for many years. Singapore and Hong Kong eclipsed the dollar-based returns of the region's largest markets, Australia (+13%) and Japan (+4%).

Many of the same market and regional dynamics were reflected in Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund. However, this fund earned significantly higher returns in emerging markets as well as in the developed world except the Pacific Rim. Small-cap stocks in Brazil and China, for example, advanced more than 58% and 29%, respectively—well ahead of their larger brethren. Also, Canada represented a larger slice (about 15%, on average) of the small-cap fund; many of the fund's ten largest holdings are Canadian energy and mining companies with far-flung operations in remote corners of the world. Propelled by rising commodity prices and strong demand, especially from resource-hungry China, the stock prices of some of these companies more than doubled.

Sectors sensitive to the economy delivered winning performances

In both funds, the materials, consumer discretionary, and industrial sectors had some of the highest returns for the fiscal year. The fortunes of companies in these sectors tend to be more exposed to the ups and downs of the business cycle, and amid a generally upward trend they fared well. Together, these three sectors contributed about half of the total return of Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund and almost 60% of the return of the small-cap fund. Financials were among the weaker performers, but all sectors posted gains.

Spread your nest egg across multiple baskets

Since late 2007, stocks have taken investors on a roller-coaster ride with painful losses and soaring gains, especially in emerging markets. Much of the time, it appeared that "news" traveled quickly around the globe, leading markets to rise and fall together—as was the case during the Greek sovereign debt crisis. But when global financial crises subside, we can expect the economic and financial performance of various countries to differ. We may be seeing some signs of divergence. For example, while U.S. economic growth has been tepid, Britain's economy has grown faster, and China has achieved double-digit growth rates.

Vanguard research has shown that, over longer time periods, a portfolio that included both U.S. and non-U.S. stocks would have experienced lower average volatility than an all-U.S. portfolio. While this long-term risk-reduction benefit may not be as visible to you as other measures, it is no less real. A word of caution, however, about the allure of emerging markets: Don't assume that strong economic growth will lead to exceptional stock returns.

Of course, when it comes to deciding how much of your equity portfolio to invest outside the United States, there is no magic formula. As with other portfolio decisions you make, your allocation to international stocks should be based on your investment goals, time horizon, and tolerance for risk. Vanguard research suggests that a typical U.S. investor would benefit from allocating about 20%–40% of an equity portfolio to non-U.S. stocks.

As part of a well-balanced portfolio that includes U.S. stock, bond, and money market funds, Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund and Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund can provide an efficient, low-cost way for you to gain exposure to growth opportunities outside the United States.

As always, thank you for entrusting your assets to Vanguard.

Sincerely,

The country classifications for the fund in this table and those in the Statement of Net Assets (SNA) differ slightly. The SNA is based on the MSCI classifications used in our financial reporting system, while the table reflects the FTSE classifications used in the index. The discrepancies largely reflect differences in the way FTSE and MSCI classify Hong Kong-listed stocks. There is no material difference between the fund's economic exposures and those of the benchmark.

Performance Summary

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data cited. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, visit our website at vanguard.com/performance.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost. The returns shown do not reflect taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or on the sale of fund shares.

Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers three classes of shares: Investor Shares, Institutional Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Institutional Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on the NYSE Arca, Inc.; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. mutual funds. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value. Temporary cash investments acquired over 60 days to maturity are valued using the latest bid prices or using valuations based on a matrix system (which considers such factors as security prices, yields, maturities, and ratings), both as furnished by independent pricing services. Other temporary cash investments are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.
2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).
3. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2007–2010), and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.
4. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

5. Security Lending: The fund may lend its securities to qualified institutional borrowers to earn additional income. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, and records a liability for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Security lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on investing cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.

6. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold. Fees assessed on redemptions of capital shares are credited to paid-in capital.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund under methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to provide up to 0.40% of its net assets in capital contributions to Vanguard. At October 31, 2010, the fund had contributed capital of $2,041,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.02% of the fund's net assets and 0.82% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the fund's investments as of October 31, 2010, based on the inputs used to value them:

Investments	Level 1 ($000)	Level 2 ($000)	Level 3 ($000)
Common Stocks—North and South America	1,445,983	—	—
Common Stocks—Other	182,158	10,277,981	95
Temporary Cash Investments	196,752	6,499	—
Total	1,824,893	10,284,480	95

The following table summarizes changes in investments valued based on Level 3 inputs during the year ended October 31, 2010:

Amount Valued Based on Level 3 Inputs	Investments in Common Stocks—Other ($000)
Balance as of October 31, 2009	98
Net Realized Gain (Loss)	(4)
Change in Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)	1
Balance as of October 31, 2010	95

D. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes; these differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized net foreign currency losses of $1,541,000, which decreased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income.

Certain of the fund's investments are in securities considered to be "passive foreign investment companies," for which any unrealized appreciation and/or realized gains are required to be included in distributable net income for tax purposes. Unrealized appreciation of $8,625,000 on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2009, has been distributed and is reflected in the balance of undistributed net investment income. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized gains on the sale of passive foreign investment companies of $609,000, which have been included in current and prior periods' taxable income; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to undistributed net investment income. Since October 31, 2009, the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings have appreciated in value, increasing the amount of taxable income available for distribution as of October 31, 2010, by $11,072,000. Unrealized appreciation on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2010, was $19,697,000.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized $8,688,000 of net capital gains resulting from in-kind redemptions—in which shareholders exchanged fund shares for securities held by the fund rather than for cash. Because such gains are not taxable to the fund, and are not distributed to shareholders, they have been reclassified from accumulated net realized losses to paid-in capital.

For tax purposes, at October 31, 2010, the fund had $224,961,000 of ordinary income available for distribution. The fund had available capital loss carryforwards totaling $201,976,000 to offset future net capital gains of $1,431,000 through October 31, 2015, $29,919,000 through October 31, 2016, $138,066,000 through October 31, 2017, and $32,560,000 through October 31, 2018.

At October 31, 2010, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $11,097,470,000. Net unrealized appreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $1,011,998,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $1,645,686,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $633,688,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

E. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund purchased $4,678,745,000 of investment securities and sold $522,099,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments.

The country classifications for the fund in this table and those in the Statement of Net Assets (SNA) differ slightly. The SNA is based on the MSCI classifications used in our financial reporting system, while the table reflects the FTSE classifications used in the index. The discrepancies largely reflect differences in the way FTSE and MSCI classify Hong Kong-listed stocks. There is no material difference between the fund's economic exposures and those of the benchmark.

Performance Summary

Notes to Financial Statements

Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end investment company, or mutual fund. The fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of U.S. corporations. The fund offers three classes of shares: Investor Shares, Institutional Shares, and ETF Shares. Investor Shares are available to any investor who meets the fund's minimum purchase requirements. Institutional Shares are designed for investors who meet certain administrative, service, and account-size criteria. ETF Shares are listed for trading on the NYSE Arca, Inc.; they can be purchased and sold through a broker.

A. The following significant accounting policies conform to generally accepted accounting principles for U.S. mutual funds. The fund consistently follows such policies in preparing its financial statements.

1. Security Valuation: Securities are valued as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange (generally 4 p.m., Eastern time) on the valuation date. Equity securities are valued at the latest quoted sales prices or official closing prices taken from the primary market in which each security trades; such securities not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or whose values have been affected by events occurring before the fund's pricing time but after the close of the securities' primary markets, are valued at their fair values calculated according to procedures adopted by the board of trustees. These procedures include obtaining quotations from an independent pricing service, monitoring news to identify significant market- or security-specific events, and evaluating changes in the values of foreign market proxies (for example, ADRs, futures contracts, or exchange-traded funds), between the time the foreign markets close and the fund's pricing time. When fair-value pricing is employed, the prices of securities used by a fund to calculate its net asset value may differ from quoted or published prices for the same securities. Investments in Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund are valued at that fund's net asset value.

2. Foreign Currency: Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars using exchange rates obtained from an independent third party as of the fund's pricing time on the valuation date. Realized gains (losses) and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on investment securities include the effects of changes in exchange rates since the securities were purchased, combined with the effects of changes in security prices. Fluctuations in the value of other assets and liabilities resulting from changes in exchange rates are recorded as unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) until the assets or liabilities are settled in cash, at which time they are recorded as realized foreign currency gains (losses).

3. Federal Income Taxes: The fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. Management has analyzed the fund's tax positions taken for all open federal income tax years (October 31, 2009–2010), and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the fund's financial statements.

4. Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

5. Security Lending: The fund may lend its securities to qualified institutional borrowers to earn additional income. Security loans are required to be secured at all times by collateral at least equal to the market value of securities loaned. The fund invests cash collateral received in Vanguard Market

Liquidity Fund, and records a liability for the return of the collateral, during the period the securities are on loan. Security lending income represents fees charged to borrowers plus income earned on investing cash collateral, less expenses associated with the loan.

6. Other: Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income includes income distributions received from Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund and is accrued daily. Security transactions are accounted for on the date securities are bought or sold. Costs used to determine realized gains (losses) on the sale of investment securities are those of the specific securities sold. Fees assessed on capital share transactions are credited to paid-in capital.

Each class of shares has equal rights as to assets and earnings, except that each class separately bears certain class-specific expenses related to maintenance of shareholder accounts (included in Management and Administrative expenses) and shareholder reporting. Marketing and distribution expenses are allocated to each class of shares based on a method approved by the board of trustees. Income, other non-class-specific expenses, and gains and losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

B. The Vanguard Group furnishes at cost investment advisory, corporate management, administrative, marketing, and distribution services. The costs of such services are allocated to the fund under methods approved by the board of trustees. The fund has committed to provide up to 0.40% of its net assets in capital contributions to Vanguard. At October 31, 2010, the fund had contributed capital of $125,000 to Vanguard (included in Other Assets), representing 0.02% of the fund's net assets and 0.05% of Vanguard's capitalization. The fund's trustees and officers are also directors and officers of Vanguard.

C. Various inputs may be used to determine the value of the fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The inputs or methodologies used to value securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3—Significant unobservable inputs (including the fund's own assumptions used to determine the fair value of investments).

The following table summarizes the fund's investments as of October 31, 2010, based on the inputs used to value them:

Investments	Level 1 ($000)	Level 2 ($000)	Level 3 ($000)
Common Stocks—North and South America	151,254	—	—
Common Stocks—Other	—	640,375	26
Temporary Cash Investments	36,386	—	—
Total	187,640	640,375	26

The following table summarizes changes in investments valued based on Level 3 inputs during the year ended October 31, 2010:

Amount Valued Based on Level 3 Inputs	Investments in Common Stocks—Other ($000)

Transfers in and/or out of Level 3	28

D. Distributions are determined on a tax basis and may differ from net investment income and realized capital gains for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain, or loss are recognized in different periods for financial statement and tax purposes; these differences will reverse at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized net foreign currency losses of $170,000, which decreased distributable net income for tax purposes; accordingly, such losses have been reclassified from accumulated net realized gains to undistributed net investment income.

Certain of the fund's investments are in securities considered to be "passive foreign investment companies," for which any unrealized appreciation and/or realized gains are required to be included in distributable net income for tax purposes. Unrealized appreciation of $2,154,000 on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2009, has been distributed and is reflected in the balance of undistributed net investment income. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund realized gains on the sale of passive foreign investment companies of $575,000, which have been included in current and prior periods' taxable income; accordingly, such gains have been reclassified from accumulated net realized gains to undistributed net investment income. Since October 31, 2009, the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings have appreciated in value, increasing the amount of taxable income available for distribution as of October 31, 2010, by $7,049,000. Unrealized appreciation on the fund's passive foreign investment company holdings at October 31, 2010, was $9,203,000.

The fund's realized gains for the year ended October 31, 2010, include $59,000 of capital gain tax paid on sales of Indian securities. This tax is treated as a decrease in taxable income; accordingly, this amount has been reclassified from accumulated net realized gains to undistributed net investment income.

The fund used a tax accounting practice to treat a portion of the price of capital shares redeemed during the year as distributions from net investment income and realized capital gains. Accordingly, the fund has reclassified $211,000 from undistributed net investment income, and $75,000 from accumulated net realized gains, to paid-in capital.

For tax purposes, at October 31, 2010, the fund had $21,371,000 of ordinary income and $3,901,000 of long-term capital gains available for distribution.

At October 31, 2010, the cost of investment securities for tax purposes was $697,524,000. Net unrealized appreciation of investment securities for tax purposes was $130,517,000, consisting of unrealized gains of $150,025,000 on securities that had risen in value since their purchase and $19,508,000 in unrealized losses on securities that had fallen in value since their purchase.

E. During the year ended October 31, 2010, the fund purchased $436,639,000 of investment securities and sold $105,742,000 of investment securities, other than temporary cash investments.

F. Capital share transactions for each class of shares were:

These financial statements and financial highlights (hereafter referred to as “financial statements”) are the responsibility of the Funds’ management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits of these financial statements in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits, which included confirmation of securities at October 31, 2010 by correspondence with the custodian and broker and by agreement to the underlying ownership records of Vanguard Market Liquidity Fund, provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Your Fund's After-Tax Returns

This table presents returns for your fund both before and after taxes. The after-tax returns are shown in two ways: (1) assuming that an investor owned the fund during the entire period and paid taxes on the fund's distributions, and (2) assuming that an investor paid taxes on the fund's distributions and sold all shares at the end of each period.

Calculations are based on the highest individual federal income tax and capital gains tax rates in effect at the times of the distributions and the hypothetical sales. State and local taxes were not considered. After-tax returns reflect any qualified dividend income, using actual prior-year figures and estimates for 2010. (In the example, returns after the sale of fund shares may be higher than those assuming no sale. This occurs when the sale would have produced a capital loss. The calculation assumes that the investor received a tax deduction for the loss.)

The table shows returns for Investor Shares only; returns for other share classes will differ. Please note that your actual after-tax returns will depend on your tax situation and may differ from those shown. Also note that if you own the fund in a tax-deferred account, such as an individual retirement account or a 401(k) plan, this information does not apply to you. Such accounts are not subject to current taxes.

Finally, keep in mind that a fund's performance—whether before or after taxes—does not guarantee future results.

About Your Fund's Expenses

As a shareholder of the fund, you incur ongoing costs, which include costs for portfolio management, administrative services, and shareholder reports (like this one), among others. Operating expenses, which are deducted from a fund's gross income, directly reduce the investment return of the fund.

A fund's expenses are expressed as a percentage of its average net assets. This figure is known as the expense ratio. The following examples are intended to help you understand the ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in your fund and to compare these costs with those of other mutual funds. The examples are based on an investment of $1,000 made at the beginning of the period shown and held for the entire period.

The accompanying table illustrates your fund's costs in two ways:

- Based on actual fund return. This section helps you to estimate the actual expenses that you paid over the period. The "Ending Account Value" shown is derived from the fund's actual return, and the third column shows the dollar amount that would have been paid by an investor who started with $1,000 in the fund. You may use the information here, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period.

To do so, simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $$1,000 = 8.6$), then multiply the result by the number given for your fund under the heading "Expenses Paid During Period."

- Based on hypothetical 5% yearly return. This section is intended to help you compare your fund's costs with those of other mutual funds. It assumes that the fund had a yearly return of 5% before expenses, but that the expense ratio is unchanged. In this case—because the return used is not the fund's actual return—the results do not apply to your investment. The example is useful in making comparisons because the Securities and Exchange Commission requires all mutual funds to calculate expenses based on a 5% return. You can assess your fund's costs by comparing this hypothetical example with the hypothetical examples that appear in shareholder reports of other funds.

Note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight and help you compare ongoing costs only and do not reflect transaction costs incurred by the fund for buying and selling securities. Further, the expenses do not include the transaction fees or the account service fee described in the prospectus. If such fees were applied to your account, your costs would be higher. Your fund does not carry a "sales load."

The calculations assume no shares were bought or sold during the period. Your actual costs may have been higher or lower, depending on the amount of your investment and the timing of any purchases or redemptions.

You can find more information about the fund's expenses, including annual expense ratios, in the Financial Statements section of this report. For additional information on operating expenses and other shareholder costs, please refer to your fund's current prospectus.

The calculations are based on expenses incurred in the most recent six-month period. The funds' annualized six-month expense ratios for that period are: for the FTSE All-World ex-US Index Fund, 0.35% for Investor Shares, 0.15% for Institutional Shares, and 0.22% for ETF Shares; and for the FTSE All-World ex-US Small-Cap Index Fund, 0.50% for Investor Shares, 0.25% for Institutional Shares, and 0.29% for ETF Shares. The dollar amounts shown as "Expenses Paid" are equal to the annualized expense ratio multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by the number of days in the most recent six-month period, then divided by the number of days in the most recent 12-month period.

Glossary

Beta. A measure of the magnitude of a fund's past share-price fluctuations in relation to the ups and downs of a given market index. The index is assigned a beta of 1.00. Compared with a given index, a fund with a beta of 1.20 typically would have seen its share price rise or fall by 12% when the index rose or fell by 10%. For this report, beta is based on returns over the past 36 months for both the fund and the index. Note that a fund's beta should be reviewed in conjunction with its R-squared (see definition). The lower the R-squared, the less correlation there is between the fund and the index, and the less reliable beta is as an indicator of volatility.

Dividend Yield. Dividend income earned by stocks, expressed as a percentage of the aggregate market value (or of net asset value, for a fund). The yield is determined by dividing the amount of the annual dividends by the aggregate value (or net asset value) at the end of the period. For a fund, the dividend yield is based solely on stock holdings and does not include any income produced by other investments.

Earnings Growth Rate. The average annual rate of growth in earnings over the past five years for the stocks now in a fund.

Equity Exposure. A measure that reflects a fund's investments in stocks and stock futures. Any holdings in short-term reserves are excluded.

Expense Ratio. The percentage of a fund's average net assets used to pay its annual administrative and advisory expenses. These expenses directly reduce returns to investors.

Inception Date. The date on which the assets of a fund (or one of its share classes) are first invested in accordance with the fund's investment objective. For funds with a subscription period, the inception date is the day after that period ends. Investment performance is measured from the inception date.

Median Market Cap. An indicator of the size of companies in which a fund invests; the midpoint of market capitalization (market price x shares outstanding) of a fund's stocks, weighted by the proportion of the fund's assets invested in each stock. Stocks representing half of the fund's assets have market capitalizations above the median, and the rest are below it.

Price/Book Ratio. The share price of a stock divided by its net worth, or book value, per share. For a fund, the weighted average price/book ratio of the stocks it holds.

Price/Earnings Ratio. The ratio of a stock's current price to its per-share earnings over the past year. For a fund, the weighted average P/E of the stocks it holds. P/E is an indicator of market expectations about corporate prospects; the higher the P/E, the greater the expectations for a company's future growth.

R-Squared. A measure of how much of a fund's past returns can be explained by the returns from the market in general, as measured by a given index. If a fund's total returns were precisely synchronized with an index's returns, its R-squared would be 1.00. If the fund's returns bore no relationship to the index's returns, its R-squared would be 0. For this report, R-squared is based on returns over the past 36 months for both the fund and the index.

Return on Equity. The annual average rate of return generated by a company during the past five years for each dollar of shareholder's equity (net income divided by shareholder's equity). For a fund, the weighted average return on equity for the companies whose stocks it holds.

Short-Term Reserves. The percentage of a fund invested in highly liquid, short-term securities that can be readily converted to cash.

Turnover Rate. An indication of the fund's trading activity. Funds with high turnover rates incur higher transaction costs and may be more likely to distribute capital gains (which may be taxable to investors). The turnover rate excludes in-kind transactions, which have minimal impact on costs.

The People Who Govern Your Fund

The trustees of your mutual fund are there to see that the fund is operated and managed in your best interests since, as a shareholder, you are a part owner of the fund. Your fund's trustees also serve on the board of directors of The Vanguard Group, Inc., which is owned by the Vanguard funds and provides services to them on an at-cost basis.

A majority of Vanguard's board members are independent, meaning that they have no affiliation with Vanguard or the funds they oversee, apart from the sizable personal investments they have made as private individuals. The independent board members have distinguished backgrounds in business, academia, and public service. Each of the trustees and executive officers oversees 178 Vanguard funds.

The following table provides information for each trustee and executive officer of the fund. More information about the trustees is in the Statement of Additional Information, which can be obtained, without charge, by contacting Vanguard at 800-662-7447, or online at vanguard.com.

THE VANGUARD FUNDS'
CODE OF ETHICS FOR SENIOR EXECUTIVE AND FINANCIAL OFFICERS

I. Introduction

The Board of Trustees of each registered investment company that is managed, sponsored, and distributed by The Vanguard Group, Inc. ("VGI") (each a "Vanguard Fund" and collectively the "Vanguard Funds") has adopted this code of ethics (the "Code") as required by Section 406 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The Code applies to the individuals in positions listed on Exhibit A (the "Covered Officers"). All Covered Officers, along with employees of The Vanguard Group, Inc., are subject to separate and distinct obligations from this Code under a Code of Ethics adopted pursuant to Rule 17j-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("17j-1 Code of Ethics"), policies to prevent the misuse of non-public information, and other internal compliance guidelines and policies that may be in effect from time to time.

This Code is designed to promote:

Honest and ethical conduct, including the ethical handling of conflicts of interest;

Full, fair, accurate, timely, and understandable disclosure in reports and documents that a Vanguard Fund files with, or submits to, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, or in other public communications made by the Vanguard Funds or VGI;

Compliance with applicable laws, governmental rules, and regulations;

Prompt internal reporting to those identified in the Code of violations of the Code; and Accountability for adherence to the Code.

II. Actual or Apparent Conflicts of Interest

A. Covered Officers should conduct all activities in accordance with the following principles:

1. Shareholders' interests come first. In the course of fulfilling their duties and responsibilities to Vanguard Fund shareholders, Covered Officers must at all times place the interests of Vanguard Fund shareholders first. In particular, Covered Officers must avoid serving their own personal interests ahead of the interests of Vanguard Fund shareholders.
2. Conflicts of interest must be avoided. Covered Officers must avoid any situation involving an actual or potential conflict of interest or possible impropriety with respect to their duties and responsibilities to Vanguard Fund shareholders.
3. Compromising situations must be avoided. Covered Officers must not take advantage of their position of trust and responsibility. Covered Officers must avoid any situation that might compromise or call into question their exercise of full independent judgment in the best interests of Vanguard Fund shareholders.

All activities of Covered Officers should be guided by and adhere to these fiduciary standards regardless of whether the activity is specifically described in this Code.

B. Restricted Activities

1. Prohibition on secondary employment. Covered Officers are prohibited from accepting or serving in any form of secondary employment. Secondary employment that does not create a potential conflict of interest may be approved by the General Counsel of VGI.
2. Prohibition on service as director or public official. Unless approved by the General Counsel of VGI, Covered Officers are prohibited from serving on the board of directors of any publicly traded company or in an official capacity for any federal, state, or local government (or governmental agency or instrumentality).

3. Prohibition on misuse of Vanguard time or property. Covered Officers are prohibited from making use of time, equipment, services, personnel or property of any Vanguard entity for any purposes other than the performance of their duties and responsibilities in connection with the Vanguard Funds or other Vanguard-related entities.

III. Disclosure and Compliance

- A. Each Covered Officer should be familiar with the disclosure requirements generally applicable to the Vanguard Funds.
- B. Each Covered Officer should not knowingly misrepresent, or cause others to misrepresent, facts about the Vanguard Funds to others, including to the Vanguard Funds' directors and auditors, or to government regulators and self-regulatory organizations.
- C. Each Covered Officer should, to the extent appropriate within the Covered Officer's area of responsibility, consult with other officers and employees of VGI and advisers to a Vanguard Fund with the goal of promoting full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure in the reports and documents the fund files with, or submits to, the SEC and in other public communications made by a Vanguard Fund.
- D. It is the responsibility of each Covered Officer to promote compliance with the standards and restrictions imposed by applicable laws, rules, regulations, and the 17j-1 Code of Ethics.

IV. Reporting and Accountability

- A. Each Covered Officer must:
 1. Upon adoption or amendment of the Code (or thereafter as applicable, upon becoming a Covered Officer), affirm in writing that he or she has received, read, and understands the Code;
 2. Affirm at least annually in writing that he or she has complied with the requirements of the Code;
 3. Not retaliate against any other Covered Officer or any employee of VGI for reports of potential violations of the Code that are made in good faith; and
 4. Notify the General Counsel of VGI promptly if the Covered Officer knows of any violations of this Code.
- B. The Vanguard Funds will use the following procedures in investigating and enforcing this Code:
 1. The General Counsel of VGI is responsible for applying this Code to specific situations and has the authority to interpret this Code in any particular situation. The General Counsel will report on an as-needed basis to the Board of Trustees regarding activities subject to the Code.
 2. The General Counsel will take all appropriate action to investigate any potential violations of the Code that are reported to him.
 3. If, after investigation, the General Counsel believes that no material violation of the Code has occurred, the General Counsel is not required to take any further action.
 4. Any matter that the General Counsel believes is a material violation of the Code will be reported to the Board of Trustees of the Vanguard Funds.

5. If the Board of Trustees of the Vanguard Funds concurs that a material violation of the Code has occurred, the Board will consider appropriate action. Appropriate action may include reassignment, suspension, or dismissal of the applicable Covered Officer(s), or any other sanctions the Board deems appropriate. Appropriate action may also include review of, and appropriate modifications to, applicable policies and procedures.
6. Any changes to or waiver of this Code will, to the extent required, be disclosed as provided by SEC rules.

V. Other Policies and Procedures

This Code shall be the sole code of conduct adopted by the Vanguard Funds for purposes of Section 406 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the rules and forms applicable to registered investment companies thereunder. Insofar as other policies or procedures of the Vanguard Funds, VGI, or other service providers govern or purport to govern the behavior or activities of the Covered Officers, they are superseded by this Code to the extent that they overlap or conflict with the provisions of this Code.

VGI's and the Vanguard Funds' 17j-1 Code of Ethics, policies to prevent the misuse of non-public information, and other internal compliance guidelines and policies that may be in effect from time to time are separate requirements applying to the Covered Officers and others, and are not part of this Code.

VI. Amendments

This Code may not be materially amended except by the approval of a majority vote of the independent trustees of the Vanguard Funds' Board of Trustees. Non-material, technical, and administrative revisions of the Code do not have to be approved by the Board of Trustees. Amendments must be in writing and communicated promptly to the Covered Officers, who shall affirm receipt of the amended Code in accordance with Section IV. A. 1.

VII. Confidentiality

All reports and records prepared or maintained pursuant to this Code shall be considered confidential and shall be maintained and protected accordingly. Except as otherwise required by law or this Code, such matters shall not be disclosed to anyone other than the Vanguard Funds' Board of Trustees and VGI's General Counsel.
