ARTICLE IN THE ADVERTISER

Alliance Resources Ltd (ASX:AGS) advises that an article in The Advertiser published in Adelaide today reporting that legal matters currently on foot are close to resolution, is incorrect.

Alliance has written to the Editor of The Advertiser to clarify the situation.

A copy of that letter is attached.

Dear Sir

FOUR MILE URANIUM PROJECT

I wish to clarify certain issues canvassed in the article published today, 'Red tape unravelled on deal for Four Mile'.

The article referred to Minister Koutsantonis anticipating the imminent resolution of legal matters between Alliance Craton Explorer Pty Ltd (Alliance) and Quasar Resources Pty Ltd (Quasar) and Heathgate Resources Pty Ltd (Heathgate). On behalf of Alliance Resources, I wish to emphasise that the legal matters currently on foot between Alliance and Quasar/Heathgate are yet to be addressed by the Courts and are therefore not close to resolution.

Furthermore, as I did not speak with Mr Russell on or off the record prior to the article being published (or since) the comments attributed directly to me in relation to the Four Mile Project should not be construed as an endorsement by Alliance Resources Limited of the views attributed to Minister Koutsantonis.

Yours sincerely,

Steve Johnston
Managing Director
