

COMPANY ANNOUNCEMENT

14 June, 2013

Appointment of new Group Executive, Manufacturing

Elbert Prado has been appointed to the position of Group Executive, Manufacturing, with Nufarm Limited and will commence with the company on July 1. Elbert replaces long standing Nufarm executive, David Pullan, who will retire at the end of July.

Elbert is a Colombian national and US citizen with extensive international experience in senior operations roles within the chemical industry. Elbert has spent most of his career with Rohm and Haas, with stints in Colombia, Brazil and Mexico before assuming responsibility for all Latin American operations, based in Miami. He then moved to London, assuming a European Regional Director role.

In 2007, Elbert was promoted to the position of Global Manufacturing and Supply Chain Director for the Rohm and Haas process chemicals and biocides business, with responsibility for 11 manufacturing sites in Europe, Asia and the Americas and global supply chain. Most recently, Elbert has been employed in a senior operations role with the UK based trading group, ED&F Man Holdings.

A chemical engineer, Elbert brings to Nufarm comprehensive experience and a very strong skills set in crop protection manufacturing and related areas. He served as Senior Safety Executive for the Rohm and Haas organisation and has had broad exposure and interaction with commercial aspects of the business.

Nufarm Managing Director, Doug Rathbone, acknowledged David Pullan's contribution to the business and welcomed Elbert's appointment, saying he will be a tremendous asset for the company.
