Company Announcement 20th September, 2013

REGISTRY SYSTEM SALE

Prophecy group company Promadis, has won a competitive tender to provide a Registry solution for the Solomon Islands.

Promadis BDM for Civil Registries is a very successful software application which is currently used by South Australia, Northern Territory, Australian Capital Territory and Nauru to manage the registration of Births, Deaths and Marriages. The need for accurate, reliable and efficient keeping of vital records in the Registry is essential both in fulfilling legislative obligations as well as minimising budgets associated with running the services. New social and government considerations, including national security, have increased the demand for delivering services via a system such as BDM which is both flexible and powerful to suit constantly changing needs.

Promadis won the day for the Solomon Islands with its centralised, secure, fast, reliable, efficient, feature rich and cost-effective software solution which is poised to modernise record keeping for the nation. Implementation of the BDM solution is set to start in October, with a go live in early 2014. This implementation is being sponsored and managed by UNICEF, as a pivotal element of their important Child Protection Program, Solomon Islands.

The Promadis solution has a very good track record of looking after the state registry needs in Australia and is set to expand further into the international scene with a deal of interest now being shown from off-shore.
