AUSTRALIAN INNOVATION PATENT NO. 2019100163

AUTOMATED BUILDING CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT SYSTEM – GRANTED

The Board of SEnterpriSys Limited are pleased to announce that the automated building construction management system (“Software”) currently under development by the company has been granted an Australian Innovation Patent [Patent No. 2019100163] (“Patent”).

The Patent was granted on 13 March 2019. The Board became aware of the Patent on 17 March 2019.

The Patent is for a term of eight (8) years.

The Board believes the granting of the Patent highlights the uniqueness and “cutting edge” capabilities of the Software as well as providing a meaningful time-frame within which to finalise development and establish a market presence for the Software.

The software is Contractor Integrated TakeOff, Estimating, CRM, Project Management, WIP, Bookkeeping, Document Sharing, Orders, Automating rules-based work, Scheduling key business processes by making decisions on when to automatically instruct staff, subcontractors and/or suppliers to take subsequent steps, Enforcing business rules, Assuring methods & processes are followed, Keeping Customers informed of job progress, Requesting and Approving Payments.

The Board is presently finalising its Software marketing plan. The plan is focused on establishing a sizeable user-base for the Software in the shortest time-frame possible. The various initiatives in the marketing plan will be actioned during the course of the next six months.

The Board will prepare a shareholder presentation for the Annual General Meeting that will highlight key elements of the marketing plan and the various marketing initiatives.
