Update on bushfires in Bega region

Bega Cheese Limited (ASX:BGA) is continuing to monitor the current bushfires in and around the Bega Valley. Bega Cheese operates two sites at Bega in NSW including a milk receival and bulk cheese production facility and a cheese cutting and processing facility. Fortunately, these fires have not directly impacted the sites which remain fully operational however have impacted a number of our employees and dairy farm suppliers in the region. We are working closely with our employees, dairy farm suppliers and freight providers to ensure milk can be delivered and processed whilst taking every precaution to ensure the safety of everyone involved.

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to our employees, dairy farm suppliers, freight providers, the Bega Valley Shire Council, Rural Fire Service and other services involved in working with us through this challenging period.

Further updates will be provided as required.
