

ASX Announcement

Symbio Holdings Limited (ASX: SYM)

2 September 2022

Company Officeholder Changes

Symbio Holdings Limited (ASX: SYM) advises that Nawal Silfani has resigned as Company Secretary with effect from today.

Symbio Chair Anne Ward commented "Nawal has made an invaluable contribution to Symbio and, on behalf of the Board, I would like to thank Nawal for her commitment to enhancing corporate governance practices at Symbio".

Anna Sandham of Company Matters has been appointed interim Company Secretary with effect from 2 September 2022.

Ms Sandham will be the person responsible for communications with the ASX under Listing Rule 12.6.

This announcement has been authorised for release by the Board.

ENDS

Investor contact:

Miki Kando
Phone: +61 422 832 852
Email: investor@symbio.global

About Symbio

Symbio (ASX: SYM) is a software company changing the way the world communicates.

Symbio's technology replaces old-fashioned telecom networks with software, making it faster and easier to deliver modern cloud-based communication services, unlocking endless new applications for calling, messaging and phone numbers.

Symbio is the backbone for the global cloud communication industry. Over 500 service providers – from telecom start-ups to the world's biggest software companies – rely on Symbio for the connectivity, quality and expertise they need to solve complex communication challenges.

Headquartered in Sydney, Symbio powers billions of calls and messages each year, owns networks in three countries and employs over 450 staff worldwide.

For more information about Symbio visit www.symbio.global